Kindig National DHIA President

BY PAT PURCELL

SEATTLE, WA — The National Dairy Herd Improvement Association elected a Conestoga, Pennsylvania, dairy farmer as the president of their board of directors at the National DHIA Annual Meeting and Trade Show held in Seattle this week.

J. Robert Kindig, who just completed his term as the national vice president, began serving DHIA at the local level as a director in 1975 and two years later became Lancaster County's DHIA president.

By 1977 he was serving as a state director — a post he continues to fill today. Kindig became Pennsylvania's DHIA president in 1985 and served for three years.

J. Robert Kindig

He was elected to serve on the national board in 1985 during his first year as state president. He is now completing his second two-year term on the national DHIA board.

Serving the DHIA takes a lot of time, said Kindig in a recent telephone interview, but it is time well spent.

"I have always been very interested in the program because it does dairy farmers a tremendous amount of good and offers a lot of options which people can put to use," said Kindig.

"Over the years I feel I have earned the respect of my fellow dairyman and I've always been fortunate to have some very good help on our farm. We have always

Tobacco Referendum Announced

LANCASTER — The Secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Clayton Yeutter, has proclaimed national marketing quotas for the 1989, 1990, and 1991 crops of Maryland type 32 and Pennsylvania type 41 tobaccos. A referendum will therefore be held by mail ballot during the period March 27 through March 30, 1989, to determine whether quotas will be in effect.

Tobacco producers will be mailed an allotment notice on or about March 24. In a separate mailing, growers will be provided a ballot to vote in either or both types of tobacco.

Farmers, in order to be eligible, must have grown that type of tobacco in 1988 to vote. If any one is eligible to vote in more than one type, he or she must use separate envelopes for the respective types. Ballots may be considered as spoiled ballots if not kept separate. Interested persons must be 18 years of age and must have a direct interest in the crop such as producer, sharecropper, or landowner who recieves a proportionate share of the tobacco proceeds.

This referendum will be conducted by the Lancaster County ASCS Office at the Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster. The office wil be open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. during the referendum period to allow those who did not receive a ballot by mail an opportunity to vote.

The Pennsylvania Guernsey Association's new queen is Angelique McDonald of Weyant. The daughter of Galen and Sonja McDonald, she received her crown March 17 a the association's annual awards banquet in State College.

National Cattlemen's President Urges Unity

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

ALTOONA (Blair) — "The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association can make a difference," Robert D. Josserand told attendees at the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Conference last week. The president of the National Cattlemen's Association, Josserand listed three issues as being of primary importance to the Cattlemen's Association. "They are the environmental issue, food safety assurance, and meeting the animal welfare issue head on and reacting accordingly.

"Most beef operations in Pennsylvania are small, but they have high standards. The voice of the Pennsylvania cattleman is important in Washington." Josserand added that, "We need a strong Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association because we need the vote of the Pennsylvania congressional

Forage & Grassland Council Holds Educational Hay Sale

BY MARIANNE WALKER
Centre County Correspondent

BELLEVILLE (Mifflin) — On March 20, the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council held an event with the primary purpose of educating. The council hoped to teach both buyers and sellers of hay the importance of knowing the product; and what could be more crucial than the nutritive value of that product? With this as its goal, the council provided testing for protein, TDN, acid detergent fiber, and neutral detergent fiber for hay offered at its Demonstration Hay Sale held at Plum Bottom Farm, Belleville.

Despite a snow storm on the day of the sale, ten loads of hay from Centre, Franklin, Juniata, and Mifflin counties were offered at the auction. With the selling scheduled to begin at 1 p.m., the sellers were required to have their hay at the site by noon so that testing might be performed.

To illustrate the diversity of the hay that was sold here are the nutritive values of three loads tested by the council:

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — The mood was festive and friendly when the Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders gathered recently for their Annual Awards Banquet at the Sheraton Penn State, State College. Welcoming remarks were made by William Cannon, president of the association, and Janice Garber, the 1989 National Guernsey Queen.

Production awards were given in a variety of categories, beginning with high herd for milk, the recipients being Richard O. and Victoria M. Smith whose 61 cows produced an average of 15,957 M 729 F and 545 P.

President Bush Visits Lancaster, Signs 4-H Project Book

LANCASTER — President George Bush came to Lancaster County to deliver an anti-drug message. Thanks to Zoann Parker, he left with the knowledge that 4-H teaches leadership skills and that it's not an organization just for farm youth.

Bush spent two-and-a-half hours at Conestoga Valley High School addressing a gymnasium packed with students, faculty, and parents. After speaking of his concern on the pervasiveness of drugs and its glorification by the entertainment industry, he took a limousine trip to meet with Amish and Mennonite leaders.

Jersey Calf Sale Topped At $1,200

BY RANDY WELLS
Indiana Co. Correspondent

INDIANA — Twelve calves, ranging in age from less than one month to more than one year old, brought a total of $7,165 Saturday morning, March 18, at the Pennsylvania State Jersey Calf Sale in Indiana, as part of the Jersey Cattle Club's 1989 annual convention.

The highest priced calf, 14-month-old Rolaine Magic Maude, was sold by Raymond and Lori Sollenberger of Everett, Bedford County, to Lydic Enterprises, Inc., of Marion Center, Indiana County, for $1,120.

The second-highest bid came

Acres Corn Update: Corn futures prices added 1 to 2-3/4 cents to yesterday's losses as long liquidation continued in the absence of an export bonus bid from the Soviet Union. Further pressure in the front months was tied to heavier than expected deliveries this morning along with weaker cash basis levels and continued weakness in wheat. Deferred pressure was linked to forecasts for improved moisture for the key growing areas by this weekend. December closed out the day 2-3/4 cents lower at $2 72-1/2 while May lost 1 cent at $2.79-1/4.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures closed sharply higher gaining 4 cents on the May 1990 option to 8 cents on the nearby May. Buying late in the session was linked to spillover from the attainment of a 7-week high in May soymeal. Further strength in the nearbys was generated by continued news of "Brazilian harvest delays. New crop prices were weak relative to the old crop on news of increased rain probability this week over portions of the belt. May traded in a 12 point range, with at low at $7.80-1/2, and a settlement of $7.92, up 8 cents. The November option was confined to a 9 cent range and closed 5 cents higher at $7.58-1/2 after trading to a high of $7.59 near the close.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures continued to weaken today and ended the session from 2-1/4 to 7 cents lower. Forecasts for increased probability of rainfall over parts of Kansas this weekend triggered long liquidation along with news that China had purchased 400,000 metric tonnes of wheat through the export bonus program. This was another case of "buy the rumor, sell the fact" trading. May was weaker relative the other options on selling linked to ideas that it had become overbought along with speculative long liquidation. July traded to a high of $4 11 and ended the session 4-3/4 cents lower at $4 07

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle futures settled today from 27 to 65 points lower while feeders lost from 10 to 25 points. After setting another new contract high on the April at $78.90, gains once again evaporated on profit-taking linked to the sentiment that the top had been reached. Further selling was tied to sluggish fed cattle sales with packers slowing building inventories. Some short April positions were rolled to the June along with professional liquidation of August/April spreads. Pressure in the feeders was exerted by another drop in the cash index along with spillover from the neighboring live cattle pit.

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures prices settled mixed today, gaining up to 8 points and posting a 22 point loss on the June option Pressure on the opening was linked to weaker cash hog prices along with higher than expected receipts A late short covering rally erased early losses as ideas surfaced that an improvement in cash prices was in store Bellies ended today's session sharply 67 points lower on the front option and 45 points higher on the February. Pressure in the spot option was linked to yesterday's weekly storage report which indicated larger than expected in movement of bellies into out-of-town warehouses.

National Egg Market

March 23, 1989

The market one was generally weak with prices declining sharply in some areas and expected to follow similar patterns in other areas. Cartoned egg demand was irregular as anticipated holiday buying pattern were slow in developing in some areas, while in others retail promotions were attracting additional interest. Loose egg trading was also noted at sharply lower relationships than usual in some areas. Supplies and offerings were usually readily available. Breakers were cautious and trading was light for the fully adequate offerings. Several plants were not operating on Good Friday.

New York Eggs

March 22, 1989

Prices were unchanged. Trade sentiment was cautiously steady. Retail movement of cartoned eggs was fair to good. Additional features were noted at 50 cents off any 2 dozen eggs and free eggs with the purchase of name brand meat products. Floor stocks were about adequate and most additional purchases were at steady to discounted terms, primarily from other regions.

Delmarva Broiler-Fryer

March 23, 1989

Movement of ready-to-cook whole fryers was no better than fair today. Supplies were fully adequate for trade needs. In the parts complex supplies of breast items were barely adequate for current interest, other items were irregular and ranged from close balance to fully adequate. Less than truckloat asking prices were unchanged at 57-61 cents. Live supplies were adequate. Average weights ranged desirable to heavy. Slaughter schedules were moderate. Trade sentiment was steady.

Alfalfa's Triple Crown.

Emerald. Maxim. Funk's G-2852. These hardy alfalfas from Hoffman will place you in the winner's circle with improved yields, exceptional stand longevity, and broad-based disease protection.

Emerald's the yield leader from start-to-finish. It has consistently bested Hoffman trials, while producing 5½ percent better than average yields in New York and Pennsylvania state trials.

Maxim's a sure bet for exceptional stand longevity. And its two-year production average of 9.6 tons/acre will give you front-running yields.

Funk's G-2852 tops the field with some of the best disease resistance available. Backed by years of research, this newcomer has shown annual yield advantages of ½ ton/acre.

When you're looking for a winning alfalfa yield, call your local Hoffman seed representative. Or call Hoffman Seeds direct for more information about Alfalfa's Triple Crown.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

MAR. 27-APR. 2, 1989

Spring ahead!

Singer, Sarah Vaughan, born Mar. 27, 1924 in Newark, N.J. . . Mar. 28 anniversary of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant accident . . All Fool's Day, Apr. 1, is also the birthday of actress Debbie Reynolds and baseball player Rusty Staub . . . Average length of days for the week 12 hours 37 minutes . . . Time to listen for the peepers . . . Daylight Saving Time begins April 2, 2 A M ; add one hour . . . You look for the horse you ride on.

Ask the Old Farmer: What in the world is a "pod auger?" I've never heard of it. O.L., Neb.
It's a bit or auger without a worm; instead it has a straight groove. Pod Auger was also a nickname for Abraham Lincoln.

Home Hints: Give roses a boost with a spring mixture of sand and bone meal

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Colder; then rain. Clear and hot to start the April Fool's month. Temperatures are a little below normal for a bit as April begins.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Clear and warm; heavy rain and mild; clear and very warm to start April. This is no Fool's joke; you can believe us!

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Cloudy and cool; showers and warm; clear and warm to start April; then a storm is coming to end the week with cooler temperatures.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Clear and warm; showers are heavy in the south; rain is very heavy in the west; and temperatures turn seasonable to end.

OPINION

The Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for out iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgement: and who shall declare his generation? for he was cut off out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the sgrong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor:

Animals eat one another without qualm. Civilized men consume one another by due process of law. This most certainly depicts Commissions set up by government. Commissions which cannot be voted out of office.

Man can survive pollution, Environmentalists can relax about that. The question is, whether he can survive regulations.

To my knowledge, our Game Commission has never bowed to those whom suffer financial abuse year after year, and as long as farmers raise more nutritious crops on their farms deer will not feed in the forest. They're not that stupid.

The summer of 88 I personally witnessed a herd of deer destroy a five acre field of corn to the extent that by picking time about every hundred yards a cob would pop from the picker. Perhaps this was popping corn rather than picking.

As I see it there are two avenues of defense, since there are provisions in the Game Law that a farmer with sufficient damage may kill deer. However you are not free to decide whether you have sufficient cause. Commission personnel, those over whom no one seemingly has any control decide for you.

This method might best be described as lead poisoning.

The other is quite illegal and not recommended, but by far the least time consuming, since Tippy, also known as man's best friend, seems sincerely to enjoy his chore of chasing White Tails from off your cropland.

To Join 4-H

All across the county 4-H clubs are reorganizing. Each club meets between six and eight weeks, teaching a skill such as cooking, crafts, leadership, sewing, woodworking and much more. Four-H clubs are run by adult volunteers who have a skill they wish to leach. Any youth between the ages of 8 and 19 is eligible to join the largest "out-of-school" program in the nation. For more information on the club closest to you, contact Zoann Parker, 4-H Agent, at 394-6851.

To Care For Your Pastures

Are your pastures a source of good quality forage, and do they promote good heard health, or are they a source of parasites, poisons and diseases? How productive your pastures are depends largely on how well you manage them. Here are a few hints.

Lime and fertilize in accordance with soil test results. Control weeds by frequent clipping and by the use of herbicides. Remove toxic plants or fence animals away from them. Introduce more-productive and more-nutritious species of grasses and legumes into the stand, and aerate compacted soils.

Divide the pastures into four or more paddocks so you can practice rotational grazing. If acreage is limited save it for the animals that need it the most and, if necessary, limit their access time. Be prepared to offer animals additional feeds when pasture growth declines. When pastures are lush, harvest the excess growth as hay. Keep parasite loads low by deworming animals three weeks after the start of the pasture season, again three weeks later and a third time, after they come off pasture. Drain or fence animals out of wet areas to help prevent foot problems.

To Change Feeds Gradually

This spring many farmers will find it necessary to make changes in their feeding program for a number of reasons: stored feeds may be in short supply and there may be a need to purchase other feeds to include in the ration; it's also the time of year when farmers start turning cattle out to pasture.

Whatever the reason, it is important to make these changes gradually, and to make other appropriate adjustments in the feeding program in order to keep the ration properly balanced. Start now to plan your feeding program accordingly. Unless these precautions are taken, cows may go off-feed, production may drop and a variety of metabolic problems such as twisted stomachs, low milk production, ketosis, milk fever, depressed fat tests, poor reproductive performance, etc, may result.

To Plan Where To Plant

Rhododendrons And Azaleas

It's not too early to think about locations for rhododendrons and azaleas in spring landscaping plans.

Both rhododendrons and azaleas will grow in full sun, but semi-shade is desirable. Too much sun makes the plants spindly and open, and usually they develop fewer flowers. Plants on northern exposures, or otherwise protected from too much winter sun (especially early morning sun) can usually stand more cold than those on southern exposures.

Northern exposures provide more constant temperature conditions. Also, on northern explosures, plants enter the dormant period earlier in the fall and remain dormant later in the spring. Protection from winter winds also helps.

Always locate rhododendrons and azaleas on soil which is well drained. This is very important.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THINGS ABOVE!

March 26, 1989

Background Scripture: Luke 2:1-7; Colossians 1:15-29; 3:1-4.
Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 15:12-26.

I suppose I have preached or heard Easter sermons on just about every possible Easter text but Colossians 3:1— "If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is..." I'm sorry it has taken me so long to discover it, for it covers an aspect of the Easter message that is often missed.

Often, the Easter faith is regarded as a set of propositions — that Christ was victorious over the grave, that his Messiahship was thus validated by God, that God turned defeat into victory, overcoming the worst that men can do with the best that he can do, and that through Christ's resurrection we have eternal life. That is a representative, although not exhaustive, list of Easter faith specifics.

EASTER'S CHALLENGE

The Easter faith does come to us with some vital propositions, but there's more to it than that. Easter is concerned, not only with what we believe, but what we do. The Easter faith is a challenge as well as a set of propositions. Otherwise, after the celebration of Easter Sunday is over, the Easter faith is all too soon forgotten. I am reminded of that doggerel that says:

They're praising God on Sunday,
But they'll be all right on Monday—
It's just a little habit they've acquired.

All too often, that's what happens at Easter: full of Easter praise on Sunday, we're back to being "all right on Monday"— meaning: back to living as if the resurrection had not happened. In other words, Easter is supposed to change the way we live. It matters little to celebrate the raising of Christ from the grave if we do not live resurrected lives.

SET YOUR MINDS

Once again, Paul says to us: "If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is... Set your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on earth" (3: 1,2). If then, we accept the proposition that Christ has been resurrected, then we must also accept the challenge to put our minds "on things that are above." Easter Sunday should never be followed with a Monday that is like all the Mondays that preceded it. If we proclaim Christ as resurrected, then we need to make sure our minds do not dwell an anything that is sub-resurrection. One cannot take the resurrection seriously and continue to entertain prejudices, thoughts of revenge or getting even, bitterness, envy or you name it.

Nor can we continue in a frame of mind that creates and sustains barriers between ourselves and others. Paul says that Christ's purpose was to "reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, making peace by the blood of his cross" (1:20).

Happy Easter! Let us set our minds on all things that are above.

IN SCANDINAVIA, THE ZETOR 7700 SERIES' CAST IRON MUSCLE IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN ITS $14,050* PRICE.

With 65 PTO HP and a cast iron chassis, Zetor's 7700 Series tractors give you solid, well-balanced muscle for your money

And more.

Zetor's flat operator's deck is designed to suit you, not the transmission. You can mount and dismount from either side. And spend hours in a seat that's been ergonomically-designed to give you the support you need to stay in the field longer.

Beneath you, the sophisticated engineering that has earned Zetor its 40-year reputation for durability, easy maintenance and economy in Norway, Sweden, Denmark and over 75 other countries around the world.

No matter which Zetor 7700 Series tractor you need, you can own it for about half what you'd spend on its lightweight competitors. Even if you choose the turbo-charged model 7745 with 4-wheel drive, a cab and a front 3-point hitch that floats over hill and dale.

The first thing you'll like about a Zetor may be the price, but in the long run you'll find that's the least important of its features.

See for yourself. Visit your nearest Zetor dealer soon.

Not just another pretty price.

Alfalfa Hydroseeding Program

Now entering our seventh season, here are some remarks we have most commonly heard over the years

1) Hydroseeding is a time saving procedure
2) Forry's method of hydroseeding is far ahead of the field
3) Their 3-10-30 fluid fertilizer gives me my total plant food need for the first year
4) I have quicker starts hydroseeding than my old conventional way
5) I like the one-call operation

"Back in 1972 I made two decisions that made my life a lot better. First, I married Nancy McGinnis. That same year she convinced me to put Fabral™ siding and roofing panels on our buildings. Even after all these years, Nancy and Fabral are still as good looking and as durable as ever!"

If you're looking for siding and roofing that will last, then you want Fabral. Behind its good looks is a carefully engineered system that gives remarkable durability and design flexibility.

Negley and Knoll Honored By Atlantic

by Bonnie Brechbill
Franklin Correspondent

KAUFFMAN STATION (Franklin) — Two Franklin County farm couples were honored March 10 by the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative for fifty years of membership.

Receiving the awards were Gail and Clarence Negley, Jr. of Mercersburg and Edna and Charles W. Knoll of Chambersburg.

V. Myers Metcalfe, local director of District #26, presented the awards at the cooperative's annual dinner meeting at the Kauffman Ruritan Building.

In 1939, when the Negleys and the Knolls joined the cooperative, it had 8,471 members. Farmers received $2.57 per hundredweight for their milk.

Several 25-year membership awards were also presented. Receiving those were Mable and Raymond Bricker of Chambersburg; Fred and Lois Meyers and Leon and Deana Meyers of Chambersburg; Antrim Springs Farms, Harold, Roger and Rodney Crider of Chambersburg; Martin, Elva and Myron Burkholder of Pleasant Hall; Wayne and Carolyn Martin of Shippensburg; and Michael I. and V. Myers Metcalfe of Mercersburg.

When these members joined in 1964, the cooperative had 4,056 members and milk was at $4.86 per hundredweight.

A representative from MAMMA, Susan Vogts, played the new dairy commercials that will debut on the radio this spring.

Main speaker for the evening was Robert McSparran of Peach Bottom, Lancaster County, who has been president of Atlantic for the past eight years.

"The strength of MAMMA and the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative are entirely dependent on members being interested in their business," he told the 317 persons in attendance. He urged members to remain loyal to their cooperative.

He also reported that the milk processing plant at Holly is "processing more milk, the quality is better than ever, and morale is good." He expects Holly to have $8-$10 million in sales this year.

Richard and Helen Hoffeditz of Mercersburg received a Quality Award from Atlantic Dairy Cooperative for producing high quality milk for 12 consecutive months. Also receiving a Quality Award, but not present for the picture were Raymond and Leah Rodes of Waynesboro.

Support Increase To Have Impact Beyond Milk Prices

BY KARL BERGER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The 50-cent increase in the federal government's support price that will go into effect April 1 for three months should halt, at least temporarily, declining farm milk prices for Mid-Atlantic dairymen, according to industry analysts.

Moreover, the increase, mandated by the drought relief legislation Congress passed last fall, may also encourage dairymen to produce milk containing less butterfat if pending legislation is signed into law by President George Bush as expected. That same legislation also may spare the industry from the full brunt of future budget cutting measures in Washington.

The government support price, currently at $10.60 a hundredweight for milk containing 3.67 percent butterfat, will rise to $11.10 for April, May and June. It will drop back to $10.60 July 1. Establishing a bottom limit on falling milk prices will be its immediate effect on dairy farmers' fortunes.

"It's primary impact in the industry is going to be to hold farm milk prices at a higher level than they would be absent the increase," said Jim Mulhern, a lobbyist for the National Milk Producers Federation.

Mulhern predicted the Minnesota-Wisconsin milk price, a measure of the prices paid for milk by manufacturing plants in the upper Midwest, will level off at $10.80 (for milk containing 3.5 percent fat) this spring. The price, which peaked at $12.27 in December, was $11.26 in February and is expected to decline further this month.

Jim Fraher, an economist for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, also forecasts a M-W price that averages $10.82 from April through June. However, other analysts forsee a M-W price as low as $10.50 during spring flush and as low as $10.33 in July, when the support price returns to $10.60 for 3.67-percent milk. The forecasters agree the M-W will rise, as usual, this fall.

The numbers are important because the U.S. Department of Agriculture uses the M-W to set prices in its nationwide federal order system. The February price, for instance, translates into a February Class II price of $11.30 and an April Class I price of $14.29 in the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Order.

If Congress has its way, the increase also will have an impact on component pricing. Under the pending legislation passed in the last couple weeks, Congress requires the Secretary of Agriculture to favor non-fat dry milk prices in USDA's calculation of new purchase prices for cheese, butter and non-fat milk powder for the support program.

More specifically, the legislation would require USDA's new powder price to reflect 75 percent of the April 1 increase in purchase prices for butter and powder. Conversely, the legislation also calls for butter to bear 75 percent of the July 1 decrease in the purchase prices of these related products, although in this situtation the bill gives the secretary more flexibility. The legislation would not affect the manner in which cheese prices are calculated.

If this formula is followed, the government's non-fat dry milk price, which now stands at $.7275 a pound, would be $.7575 in July, according to Mulhern. The butter price, now at $1.32 a pound, would be $1.265 in July, he said. Since butter and powder are derived from the same milk, such action would tend to make the protein or solids-not-fat component more valuable in relation to the butterfat.

Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin, one of the sponsors of the legislation, said, "The bill is important because it sends a signal to our dairy industry that the milk price support system will provide less of a reward for butterfat."

The bill also reflects the brisk world trade in non-fat dry milk and stagnant sales of butter at current domestic price levels, Mulhern said. In fact, the added, USDA, which had favored the butter component in previous support price adjustments in the 1980s, probably would have taken similar action on its own to reduce the costs of the support program.

A study by the Congressional Budget Office indicates that adjusting purchase prices as proposed would cut $10 million form support program costs in fiscal 1989 and $25 million in fiscal 1990 in comparison to an even adjustment of butter and powder prices. The savings would result from buying surplus butter at lower prices and from buying less of it as the product's reduced price stimulates greater sales, according to the CBO study.

The sponsors of the legislation hope this savings can be counted as part of the dairy program's contribution to any budget-cutting measures that might be implemented during the next fiscal year, including possible reductions under the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings mechanism.

Delaware Ag Breakfast

NEWARK, DE. — A firsthand picture of the First State's apple industry will be offered by longtime Delaware apple grower Herbert Richardson at this month's Friends of Agriculture buffet breakfast. Sponsored jointly by Delaware Cooperative Extension and state agricultural leaders, the monthly meeting is scheduled for Friday, March 31, at 7:30 a.m. at the Sheraton in Dover.

For many years, Richardson ran his own apple orchard, H.C. Richardson and Sons, near Magnolia, Del. Although he now leases his orchard, he always returns to help during the harvest and shipping season. He will be discussing the role the apple industry has played in Delaware's economy over the years and the opportunities for apples as a new or alternative crop for producers today.

Reservations for the $6 breakfast should be made by March 27. Send a check payable to Friends of Agriculture to David Woodward, 127A Townsend Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19717.

The February breakfast meeting was cancelled because of snow. Those who mailed their checks in payment for the breakfast may receive credit for the next breakfast they attend by calling David Woodward's office, 451-2505, to make the arrangements.

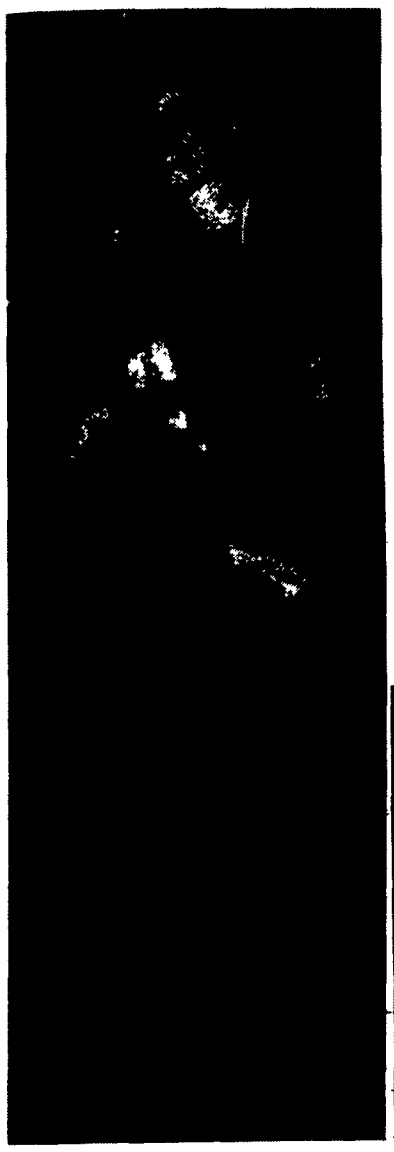
delegates in Washington."

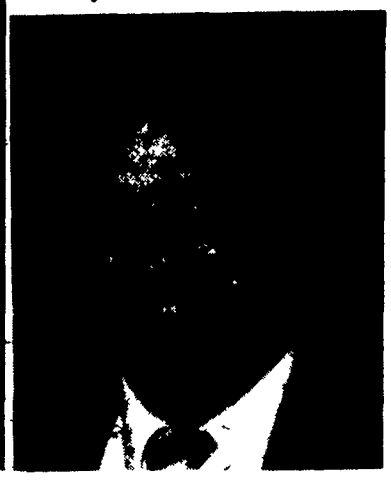
Josserand likened his position as the national president to the days when his father sent him out to dig post holes. "I always took a buddy along," he recalled. "It was more fun, the work went faster, and we got the job done when everyone worked together. I feel we can do the same by working together in the Cattlemen's Association."



Kelly Mankamyer of Somerset is the newly elected Cattlemen's Queen.

Josserand is from Hereford, Texas, where he operates a commercial cattle feed operation. He has feed yards in Texas, Colorado, and Arizona. He is also president of the Cattleman's Beef Board. His new position will cause him to spend at least 300 days out of the year traveling.

Josserand feels that agriculture and particularly the beef industry is the most positive it has ever been. He feels the new administration is quite sincere about agriculture. Josserand has spoken with President George Bush and is quite certain that the president will be doing all he can to help the beef industry.



Eugene Barefoot received the Industry Service award.

William E. Shoemaker of Buffalo Mills received the Seed Stock Producer award.

The state conference began on Friday morning with workshops on such subjects as the health of bred cows, marketing cull cows, the single-calf heifer system, and carcass evaluation and value of heiferettes being discussed at workshops.

Ray & Mary Grimes of Gettysburg received the Pennsylvania Commercial Cattlemen's Award during the Saturday evening banquet. Also honored were William E. Shoemaker of Buffalo Mills, and Eugene Barefoot of Osterburg. Shoemaker received the Pennsylvania Seed Stock Producer Award while Barefoot received the Industry Service Award.

Kelly Mankamyer of Somerset was elected as the 1989 Cattleman's Queen. Serving with Kelly in promoting the beef and veal industry will be Trevor Davis, Barry Sams, Scott Sharer, Michele Hosterman, and Jaylene Yoder.

The Cattleman's Association has approximately 700 members in Pennsylvania and Marie Painter, secretary of the organization, received the "Top Hand" award for bringing in the most new members during the past year.

British Isles Farm Tour Planned

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — Tired of elbowing crowds at beaches and boardwalks? Fed up with mosquitos in the mountains?

How about something different in a vacation this summer? Something like touring a farm? In this case, make it a British farm or maybe one in Scotland.

The Farm Tour of the British Isles, sponsored by Rural Route Tours International, departs July 13, 1989, with a first destination of London, England. Hosts for the two weeks of agriculture stops, educational visits and sightseeing are retired York County extension agent John Smith and his wife, Paige.

Highlights of the British Isles Farm Tour include visits with working family farms, a dairy farm in Cheshire, the "Wisconsin of England," and Scottish herds of Highland cattle and deer.

You'll tour Windsor Castle, favorite residence of England's queen, stop by Caernarfon Castle in Wales, one of the greatest medieval fortresses in Europe, and dine in the historic splendor of a 700-year-old castle.

Lovely scenery is just outside the window of the touring bus, from the rugged grandeur of the Welsh mountains to the craggy shores of the Scottish coast. A train ride through the Loch area skirts Loch Lomond, the largest freshwater lake in Great Britain. The journey continues on to the famed shores of Loch Ness, home of the famed - if elusive - water monster, "Nessie."

Sightseeing stops take in the highlights of London, prehistoric Stonehenge, Stratford-upon-Avon, where Shakespeare was born, the Roman baths at Bath, a Wedgwood pottery factory, and Washington Old Hall, the ancestral home of George Washington.

Reservations for the Farm Tour of the British Isles are on a first-come, first served basis, with a deadline of May 12. For more information and a complete itinerary, contact John T. Smith, 1708 Westwood Road, York, PA, 17403, or call 717-854-0971.

Fruit Pruning

HONESDALE (Wayne) — A fruit pruning demonstration meeting will be held Saturday, April 1, from 1:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m. at Bertrams Fruit Farm, between Honesdale and Bethany on Rt. 670. The information will be presented at four locations in the orchard and participants will rotate from one location to another. Topics to be presented will be insect and disease control, planting a tree and training the one year old tree, pruning a five-year-old tree and finally a mature tree. A demonstration on pruning blueberries will be given at the conclusion of the meeting for those who wish to remain.

Instructors for the demonstration meeting will be Charles Bertram and county agricultural agents, Donald Overdorff and John Creighton.

The instruction will be designed for small growers and home gardeners.

ADC Holds District Annual Meeting

MT. JOY—The regional fieldman for the local district of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative told farmers here at the annual meeting that to continue to ship milk they need to comply with the new regulations to store livestock medications. "If you store other livestock medications in the dairy enviornment you will lose 12 points. And you must have a score of at least 90 to continue to sell milk", Martin said.

Daniel Martin, director, reported that the quality program offered by Atlantic could add 10 or 20 cents to the milk check. He said that 29 percent of the producers qualified for the premium. That cost the cooperative $125,155.

Martin said milk production was up four percent over last year on a national basis. Locally it was up two percent and in the southern border and western states it was up five to six percent.

John Peters, Manheim, received the quality award because he received the quality award every month for the last year.

And 25 year member awards went to producers who had been Interstate members and continued into Atlantic. They are: Arthur Brandt, Hershey; Lester Hawthorne, Elizabethtown; Robert Sensenich, Lititz; Richard Leininger, Hershey; Hiram Aungst, Elizabethtown; and Donald Hershey, Manheim.

Glenn Shirk, Lancaster Co. agent, said that change happens but farmers should make the most of change. Shirk listed such changes as new technology, milk prices and environmental issues. He said that farmers get a lot of bad press that is not deserved. "You are doing a better job than the popular press leads the public to think," Shirk said. "The challenge is to tell the true message to the press and to the public. Talk in a rational way with those who would deal with emotional issues.

Jan Stanton, executive director, Dairy Council, Inc. reported on new promotional programs.

Lancaster County Dairy Princes Julie Greider reported that she has encouraged teenagers to develop a drinking habit--a milk drinking habit. She said she has lined up all the Lancaster County Weis Markets for instore milk promotions and writes a weekly dairy column.

David Martin gave the delegates report to the annual meeting and Earl N. Landis served as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. and Mr. John Peters, Manheim, receives the quality production award from Daniel Martin, ADC director.

Twenty-five year members are (left) Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brandt and (right) Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hershey. Director Daniel Martin presented the awards.

PFA Recommends Crop Insurance

CAMP HILL (Cumberland) — The Pennsylvania Farmers' Association (PFA) offered several recommendations to improve farmer usage of crop insurance during a hearing in Harrisburg by the Commission for the Improvement of the Federal Crop Insurance Program.

Spokesman David Lewis, the Northeast Regional Sales Director for PFA's Insurance Service, told the commission that PFA believes, ". . .it is in the best interest of farmers and agriculture in general to manage risk through crop insurance rather than rely on Congress for help after the fact."

The commission is holding a series of public hearings nationwide before making its recommendations to Congress this summer. PFA is a voluntary farm organization representing 23,629 families in 54 county associations.

PFA said improvements are needed to make multiperil crop insurance more attractive for farmers to buy and agents to sell. For farmers, coverage options must be simplified so farmers could purchase coverage based on one of several dollar values per acre, perhaps similar to the system used for hail insurance, PFA suggested. Also, because crop operations in Pennsylvania usually involve more than one farm site, PFA recommended changes in the treatment of production units. For example, PFA recommended that farmers operating more than one farm under a single ASCS serial number be allowed to insure crops on each farm separately.

PFA also recommended that farms with the same operator but different ASCS serial numbers within a section be allowed to insure each serial number separately rather than having all serial numbers within the section averaged. PFA also suggested that the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) accept ASCS proven yields for their actual production history.

The procedures for sale of crop insurance also need to be simplified and made consistent with insurance industry standards, PFA said, if insurance agents are to become enthusiastic and aggressive in selling the product. "Because the current system is complicated, cumbersome, and time-consuming to learn and administer, some agents avoid selling it even when there is a need," Lewis told the commission, "Forms, manuals and support services need simplification."

PFA said another problem which discourages sales by agents is the more than customary amount of time it takes an agent to sell and service a crop insurance policy. PFA recommended that this process be streamlined and that FCIC refrain from changing the insurance after the deadline for policy cancellation unless it's to broaden coverage.

PFA offered its recommendations, Lewis concluded, because it believes, ". . .that it is important for more farmers to use crop insurance as a risk management tool."

Our 12 inch gooseneck improves your Harvestore®.

Lancaster Level-Flo's replacement gooseneck lets you fill your silo faster and easier. It has a 33% larger capacity than original Harvestore® goosenecks and its high-profile shape improves flow. You can actually blow in 3 tons of haylage a minute without plugging the Level-Flo 12" gooseneck. Yet it attaches easily to standard 9" fill-pipe.

Our gooseneck's completely enclosed design keeps silage off the roof of your silo. Not only does this eliminate waste, it extends the life of the silo roof.

With an outer shell of galvanized steel, the Level-Flo 12" gooseneck stays bright and shiny for years. And it contains an inner liner of extremely wear-resistant stainless steel.

- Designed with final section straight and vertical to put silage in the center of your silo.
- And it's almost 50% less expensive than a Harvestore® replacement gooseneck.

Rabbit In Appreciation

"I'm going to place my ad at Lancaster Farming."
That's what the message on this Easter bunny says. The ceramic rabbit and egg were a token of appreciation to our classified advertising department from Raymond Funck, Annville. Funck placed a wanted ad for Jack and Jenny donkeys and was so pleasantly surprised at the great response that he brought the rabbit and egg to the office.
"I never knew there were so many donkeys in this area", Funck said.
If you have anything you want to buy or sell, you'll want to place an ad in Lancaster Farming too.

Ben Dum Wins PSU Grant-In-Aid

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — The Penn State Dairymen's Club recently selected Benjamin E. Dum, Jr. as the third recipient of the Poage Grant-in-Aid. This award recognizes excellence in dairy cattle judging, and is named after Warren Poage, coach and long time friend of the Penn State Dairy Cattle Judging team.

Dum's qualifications for this prestigious award are quite admirable. Dum has been a leader in both the 4-H and FFA dairy cattle judging contests for many years. He has placed as one of the top ten individuals at the state competitions for the last four years. In 1988 he was the first place individual at the state competition and was a member of the first place team at the National competition held in Madison, Wisconsin. He will be traveling with the team to represent the United States at the International competition in Europe in 1989.

He is a master judge not only in 4-H, but in FFA as well. In 1985 and 1987 he won a gold medal in the Pennsylvania State FFA competition. While participating in the Big E Eastern National FFA Judging Contest he was recognized as the high individual and led his team to a first place finish.

Ben, a sophomore at University Park, is majoring in Dairy and Animal Science. His parents Ben and Donna Dum reside in Elliottsburg, PA. Ben is an active member of Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association and a member of Alpha Zeta Fraternity. He owns 25 registered Holstein and plans to return to the family farm upon graduation.

The Penn State Dairymen's Club is proud to announce Ben Dum Jr. as the 1988 Poage Grant-in-Aid winner. The Penn State Dairymen's Club is comprised of alumni and friends who support and assist the College of Agriculture's dairy programs. Anyone who is interested in joining the Penn State Dairymen's Club, is encouraged to call Dr. George Hargrove at (814) 863-4197.

Farming With A Disability

BY LOU ANN GOOD

LANCASTER — Farming requires a lot of stamina, and for those with permanent physical disabilties, the challenge is even greater.

"My biggest concern when I lay in the hospital," recalled a farmer who lost an arm and severely injured the other hand, "was how was I going to make a living? What can I do?"

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council addressed concerns that disabled farmers face at a seminar held on March 15 at Eden Resort Inn, Lancaster. Approximately 50 farmers and spouses, vocational rehabilitation counselors and personnel attended.

The National Safety Council estimates that 130,000 to 150,000 people suffer disabling injuries every year as a result of farm accidents.

Terry Willkomm, program director of Farm Family Rehabilitation Management who directs the rehabilitation program in Iowa, gave an overview of the on-the-farm rural rehabilitation service to Iowa farm families affected by physical disabilities. "This is the only on-the-farm rehabilitation program in the United States," she said.

She discussed new approaches to farming with physical disabilities. Slides demonstrated prosthetic adaptions for amputations and showed how the handicapped continue their farming responsibilities.

The group split up into workshops during the morning session. Several disabled farmers reported the hindrances they faced following their accidents. They and rehabilitation workers shared ideas, resources and techniques for coping and overcoming barriers.

Handicapped farmers prefer to be self-sufficent, but one of the biggest barriers is the uncertainty of how to become self-reliant. Since there are many different degrees of injuries, little has been compiled to demonstrate how those with similar injuries can cope.

"You learn how to do things in the hospital, but when you come home, you find out they don't apply," said one.

Handicapped farmers would like to see pictures of other farmers doing things. They reported that hospitals rarely showed them information concerning farming with a disability.

Reports indicate a breakdown in communication between therapy personnel who view their role as providing physical therapy and not occupational therapy. One of the drawbacks in helping farmers cope is that health care personnel don't know exactly how to help farmers.

The trauma of trying to cope with an uncertain future and the economic impact is stupendous. There is no disability pay for the independent farmer to tide him over. There is no workman's compensation for him. It is difficult obtaining long and short term social security or maintaining a stable income.

Those who have weathered years of disability, say the greatest therapy and rehabilitation is the attitude of the mind.

"While recuperating in the hospital, I made up my mind that I wasn't going to waste time complaining," said one. "I focus on my abilities and what can be done, not on my disability."

Discovering those abilities often depends upon the handicapped farmer figuring it out for himself. Often they need to adapt their equipment and machinery by themselves.

Costs for adaptive equipment are formidable. "Sure," a double amputee admitted, "there are vans available for people like me, but they cost $30,000."

A power wheelchair costs $8,000 to $9,000.

Technology is helping to decrease costs on some items. For example, tractor lifts in satellite or in actuators are now $149 compared with $6,000 to $8,000.

Willkomm said, "Many times prosthetics fit poorly and are unadaptable to the stress of farm chores. Through determination and creativity, victims have designed suitable prosthetics or modified equipment."

Even if adaptive items such as a prosthetic is purchased, parts often break. Parts are high priced and Conferees at the "Farming with a Physical Disability" seminar visited display booths that demonstrated adaptive tools, techniques and modifications for general farm tasks.

And since they employ Hesston's preformed flake concept, leaves are saved and uniformly distributed throughout the bale.

The low profile pickup sweeps windrows clean with less disturbance of the crop and the low profile of these models gives the operator excellent visibility.

The optional hydraulic powered bale thrower saves time and labor. You control direction and distance from the tractor seat so your wagon can be filled side-to-side and front-to-rear. Bales can also be dropped without detaching thrower.

These new models are brought to you by Hesston. See them at your dealer now!

unavailable in most eastern states.

A husband and wife team who participated in the seminar fix it themselves. The wife commented, "I'm the hands; he's the brain."

One leg amputee needed equipment to enable him to work in his garden. An all-terrain vehicle went too fast. He needed something that creeped along. He designed and made a vehicle using a garden tractor motor.

Willkomm showed participants a scrapbook she compiled with pictures of 300 to 400 modifications of farm facilities. Many of these have been developed by farm-accident victims themselves.

She said that the ideas are rarely copied, but the scrapbook spurs ideas that farmers adopt to meet their individual needs.

Home sites and work sites assessments should be required therapy, Willkomm reported. Physicians often fail to write prescriptions for vocational rehabilitation workers to visit home and work sites and assist in making modifications. If they do, vocational rehabilitation often pay for services needed to get the accident victim back to work.

When a family member is disabled, the whole family needs restructuring. Some reported that psychiatrists who come to counsel are only interested in talking about sexual adjustments.

Discrimination is another blockade to attaining a self-sufficent lifestyle. A participant told of frustrations in trying to get a farming loan from a bank and was told by the banker to go home and develop a hobby.

Secondary injuries can happen. Artifical limbs get caught in tall grasses and won't release. Amputees may fall off lifts while trying to gain access to tractor seat, loaders, ramps and other machinery.

Amputees and paralyzed farmers are encouraged to carry CB radios and cellular phones to keep in contact if they are working alone. Flashing lights or sirens can also attract attention if necessary.

Medication, head injuries and degenerative diseases affect response time. Look at what the patient has and keep these drawbacks in mind when designing equipment.

Willkomm stressed that peer support groups are needed. Some travel several hundred miles for a peer support network. If no organized group is available, continue friendships with peers who were in rehabilitation center.

Adapting to a disability is a process, an adjustment in learning, workshop leaders stressed.

Ray Walker, acting supervisor for Facilities and Grants Management of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, explained a four-year plan to improve rehabilitation and technical services for disabled farmers.

Through regional offices, rehabilitation professionals are working closer together to inform clients of available services.

Bedford County Presents Century Award

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

A century award was presented to Alan and Richard Hammond at the annual Extension meeting held on Thursday evening, February 23, at the Everett Church of the Brethren.

Alan, his wife, Susan, and their two children now live on the Hammond farm located at Bedford RD 1. The history of the farm, settled by ancestors of the Hammonds in 1796, was recently unraveled through research done by Alan, a teacher in the Allegany County schools.

Matthias Smith settled in Bedford County in 1795 with he purchased 414 acres from John Boyord and Isaac Snowden of Philadelphia.

Smith died in 1841 and is buried in the family graveyard on the Hammond farm. His son, Charles, inherited the farm and "mansion" house. Charles added land to the original holdings of Matthias and constructed a dam on Dunnings Creek, and a series of canals through the present day property for shipping grain east.

When Charles died, the land was divided among the five children with Emanuel receiving 130 acres of the original holdings including the mansion house, vast orchards and the family cemetery.

The mansion house was dismantled and the stone used for the foundation of the house and barn, which still stands on the Hammond farm.

In 1935, Emanuel's daughter, Lillian, and her husband, Grover Hammond, purchased the farm from the surviving heirs death in 1951.

Ownership of the farm then passed to the son and daughter, Richard and Joan in 1980.

Alan purchased his aunt's half interest in the farm in 1980.

Alan and Susan reside in the house constructed by Emanuel Smith. They have two children, Kelcy and Kalem.

The Hammonds raise beef cattle and hay.

Dairy Of Distinction Program Called Beneficial; Seeks 1989 Applications Now

(Deadline For Applications is April 15, 1989)

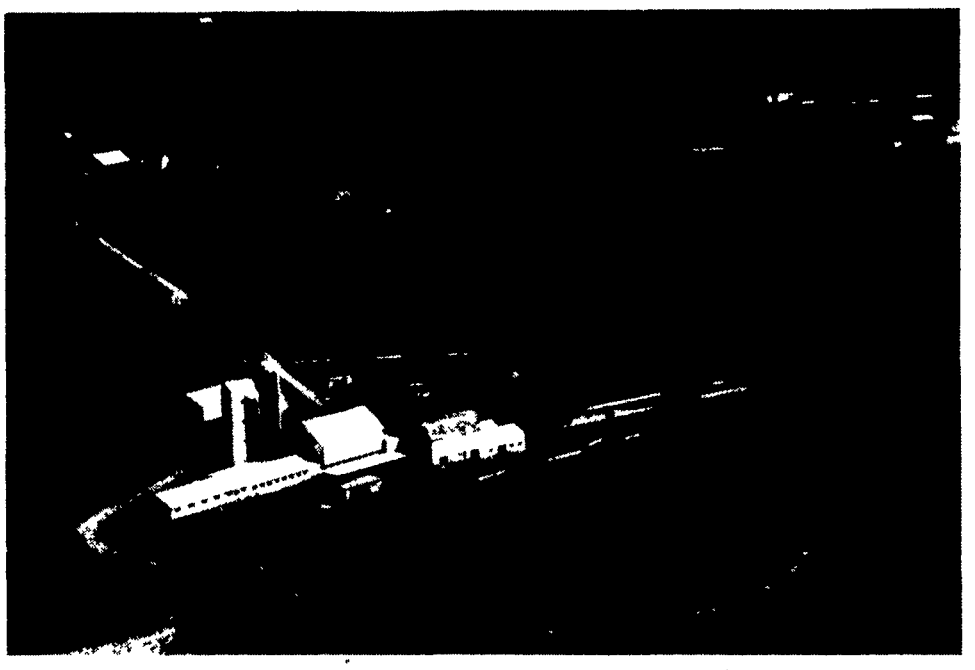
HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The Northeast Dairy of Distinction farm beautification program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

At the recent annual meeting of the Pennsylvania division here, State Secretary Paul Nichols reported an increase in publicity for dairymen created by the Dairy of Distinction program in 1988.

For example, James Brubaker of Mt. Joy, a Lancaster County winner, and State President Everett Newswanger appeared on a state-wide syndicated public TV program. Also a "Philadelphia Inquirer" reporter interviewed Newswanger and several Dairy of Distinction winners for a story. And the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture sent a list of winners to all their news contacts across the state.

In 1987, Pennsylvania received 329 applications and chose 99 winners. In 1988, there were 229 applications with 94 winners. Letters of quality went out to all milk handlers. Two negative responses were returned.

Again in 1988, Governor Robert Casey declared a Dairy of Distinction week by signing a proclamation that was presented by State Ag Secretary Boyd Wolff at the reception for all winners at Ag Progress Days in August. At that time, LANCASTER FARMING presented color photographs to each Dairy of Distinction winner, too.



Edgefield Farms, owned by the Kenneth Rutt family, Quarryville, Lancaster County was one of the 94 state-wide winners in 1988. New applications for the 1989 program are now being accepted.

"Since we now have worked on the program for three years, the benefits have started to multiply," Newswanger said. "Not only does the extra favorable publicity in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, it helps the farmer, too. Many winners use the distinction to promote their own operation or to seek and hire farm labor."

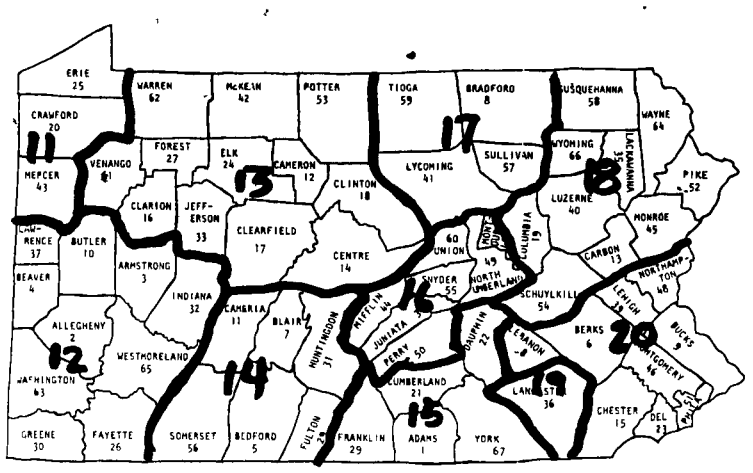
And now is the time when additional dairy farmers may apply for the Dairy of Distinction award. Also farms that had applied in previous years but did not win are eligible to reapply this year. The Dairy of Distinction farms are automatically entered for rejudging along with the new applications to insure each designated farm maintains the standard of excellence required by the program.

Pennsylvania has been divided into 10 districts. Each district has been designated according to its number of dairy cows. Up to 10 farm awards per district may be given each year. Deadline for entry is April 15.

Judging takes place in the month of May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. A local district team of judges visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In the Pennsylvania program, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler will be asked to be part of the judging process.

Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program by LANCASTER FARMING.

The Dairy of Distinction program is a cooperative, widespread industry effort. Sponsors include: milk promotion groups, cooperative extension, State Departments of Agriculture, the Grange, Farm Bureau, producer groups and agribusinesses. The program is run by volunteers at all levels of the organization.



Pennsylvania Districts

Pennsylvania is divided into ten districts. Approximately 10 Dairy of Distinction awards will be made each year in each district. There is no cost to the applicant.

Pennsylvania area chairpersons are:

District ll: George Wilcox; District 12: Wally Jackson; District 13: Jack Erway; District 14: David Myers; District 15: Sam Maclay; District 16: Bernice Gable; District 17: Kevin Barrett; District 18: Allen Roszel; District 19: Naomi Spahr and District 20: Russell Rooks.

As a winner, you will receive a certificate and a nice metal sign to put at the end of your farm lane. In addition, LANCASTER FARMING will present this year's winners in Pennsylvania with a color portrait print of their farm. If your farm is a winner, be sure you or your district committee takes a color photograph of your farm and sends the negative and proof to LANCASTER FARMING in time for the awards ceremony.

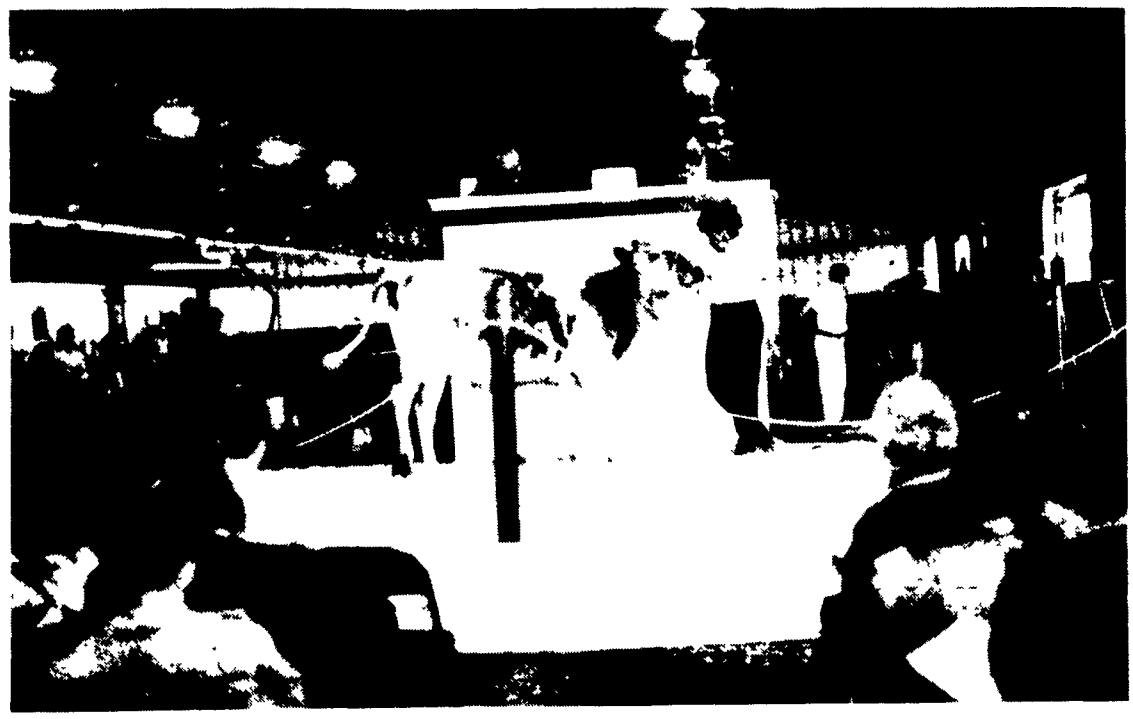
Justin McMurray was the recipient of the Outstanding Guernsey Boy Award. Justin has been showing Guernseys from the time that he was just three years old! He adds the Outstanding Guernsey Boy Award to many other honors he has already received.

The Pennsylvania Guernsey Association has given the George W. Snyder Award since 1938. This special hour is conferred upon an outstanding Guernsey Junior. This year's winner was Brandon Snider, who showed a Champion at the Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. The award was presented by the Columbia Northeastern Guernsey Breeders Association. Brandon also won the Sewickley Trophy for his performance as a Champion of Youth at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.



Topping the Pennsylvania Guernsey Association's annual meeting Bred Heifer Sale was Hollow View S Michelle, sold by Scott and Elsie Wolff of Quarryville to John DuPont of Liseter Farms of Newton Square. The heifer sold for $2,800.

Topping the 10th Blue Halter Calf Sale was Romelas Skytop Spot, a summer yearling consigned by Romella Farms of Strasburg. The purchaser was Joe Kerber of Herminie who paid $750 for the yearling.

PA's Guernsey Queen

The final event of the evening was the crowning of the Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen. Millie Widman, Chairwoman of the Queen Contest, identified the judges as Mrs. Thelma Garber, Ms. Jill Minor, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith. The current Bedford County Dairy Princess, Angelique McDonald, was chosen to represent her state as the 1989 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen. She is the daughter of Galen and Sonja McDonald of Weyant and the oldest of four children. Angelique is a senior at Chestnut Ridge High School, is Vice President of her Future Farmers of America Chapter, and the President of her local 4-H chapter. She "went to work" for the Guernsey Association by enthusiastically assisting with the Blue Halter Calf Sale the day following her crowning.

Hollow View S Michelle Tops Annual Guernsey Sale At $2,800

BY MARIANNE WALKER

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — The Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders' Association finalized its 58th Annual Meeting by holding the 10th Blue Halter Calf Sale and Annual Meeting Bred Heifer Calf Sale at the Penn State Ag Arena on March 18. Thirteen lots sold in the calf sale, with the average price being $569. The top calf went for a final bid of $750 to Joe Kerber of Herminie. A summer yearling, Romelas Skytop Spot, she was consigned by Romella Farms of Strasburg. Sired by Ripley Farms Banner Skytop, her dam is Romellas Alstar Spotty, a VG 81 pt. with 14,350 M in her third year with 700 F and 519 P.

Trotacre Fred Shamrock, a February calf offered by Trotacre Farm of Enon Valley went for a price of $700. He is sired by Spring Walk Admirals Fred whose sire is Welcome Choice Admiral. His dam is Spring Hollow Fayette Bell who produced 7,796 M in her first year with 335 F and 266 P.

A senior calf consignment of Crumdale Farm, Crumdale Fayette Wonder, sold for $650. He is sired by Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette, who is sired by Maurana Wis Telestar. His dam is Mayflowers Rons Willow, who had 12,040 M, 609 F, 444 P as a two-year-old.

Also selling for $650 was Summit Farms Dawns Dusk. Consigned by Orner Farms of Rockton, his sire is Willows Admiral Promise. His dam, Summit Farms Dougos Dawn, produced 13076 M with 596 F and 421 P as a three-year-old.

The third calf to go for $650 was a summer yearling offered by Peb L Brook Farm of Manitou Beach, MI. Sired by Myown Texas Ranger whose sire is Co Hill Farms TH Big Tex, this yearling's dam is Leaders Premier Cella.

Seven bred heifers were auctioned with the average selling price being $1,364. Topping the heifer sale was Hollow View S Michelle, who went for $2,800 to John E. Dupont of Liseter farms of Newton Square. Due in July, she was consigned by Scott and Elsie Wolff of Quarryville. With Telestar breeding on her sire's side, this well-bred heifer's dam, Hollow View Premier Miranda, had 14,130 M, 551 F, 497 P as a two-year-old and 18,950 M, 809 F, and 684 P as a three-year-old. The dam's daughter, Trotacre Andy Elsie, sold for $1,950 in the 1988 North American Showcase Sale at nine months of age. Hollow View S Michelle is bred to Clearbranch Jeans N P King.

A final bid of $1,500 was offered for a heifer of Fayette breeding consigned by Raymond and Louise Witmer of Willow Street. Penn Dell Fayette Bonita, due in April to Penn Del Fabian Notary, whose dam has a lifetime production of 121,160 M, 616 F and is a 90 Pt. excellent mammary, is sired by Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette.

The remaining five bred heifers all brought price tags of $1,050. A consignment of Keystone Guernseys of Halifax, Keystone Austin Katie, pasture bred to be due by April 25, is the daughter of Keystone Big T Kari-Twin. This dam's twin sister sold for $2,350 at the 1987 North American Showcase Sale. The heifer is sired by Land of Living RH Austin, and she is bred to Keystone Playboy Catlin.

Merwin Hertzler's Spring Meadow Farms Canary, sired by Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette and bred to Co Hill Farms WCA Neptune was the next heifer to be sold. Her dam is Shady Locust Dees Dode whose lifetime production is 113,699 M with 5,263 F.

Warbank Future Fredie, bred to calf in May to Clearbranch Jeans N P King, was offered next by Richard Brenneman of Wabank Farm in Quarryville. Her sire is Dan Ba Lee Choice Future, and her dam is Wabank Victory Freda whose sire is Bettswards Telestar Victory.

Also selling for a final bid of $1,050 was Penn Del Fayette Phillis, another consignment of Raymond and Louise Witmer. Due in April to Penn Del Fabian Notary, her sire is Dutch Mill Telestars Fayette, and her dam is Penn Del Playboys Phlox whose second year production was 14,560 M with 682 F and 479 P.

Wolff Enlists NEASDA Support For RCMA

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff said today he was pleased the Northeastern Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NEASDA) has accepted his recommendation to publicly support the Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency (RCMA).

"The northeastern U.S. has lost thousands of dairy farms in recent years, and I believe RCMA provides the kind of solution farmers need to stay in business," Wolff said. "RCMA's work is in the best interest of farmers and consumers, since consumers are the beneficiaries of a healthy dairy industry."

During the recent association meeting in Washington, D.C., Wolff suggested the delegates adopt a motion stating their support for RCMA efforts to sign contracts with dairy farmers. Wolff's motion was unanimously adopted by delegates to the NEASDA convention on March 6.

Wolff has been a long-time supporter and promoter of RCMA, which works for farmers to get "over-order-prices"

IS THIS A GOOD MONTH TO BUY A RED ROSE BUILDING?

A Red Rose building is an outstanding value anytime of year, but if you buy it early in the season, you'll get some important extra advantages.

It's no secret that construction activity usually eases during the winter, so there's more time for planning and working out the special details of your new building. Time well spent because it can help you get a better return on your investment.

It's also a smart time to buy because you can avoid price increases that often occur when the spring building season gets under way. So, if you're thinking about a new building, get an early start. We'll be happy to tell you more about the advantages of buying a Red Rose building now, while construction schedules are flexible and prices are low.

for six-month old Legend Milestone Faith Poppy, sold by Clyde and Lois McConaughey of Smicksburg, Indiana County, to Walter Brown of Connellsville, Fayette County, for $1,000.

The prices for the calves ranged from a high of $1,120 to a low of $400, with $597 being the average. The youngest calf, born earlier in March, brought $525.

The Jersey Cattle Club, now with about 150 members statewide, began assembling at Indiana's Best Western University Inn Friday afternoon and held meetings of the Junior Club Board of Directors and Junior Club Advisory Committee before the evening banquet. Club secretary Florence Robinson said about 75 members traveled to Indiana for the two-day meeting.

Friday evening's program also included a youth workshop, a meeting of the PJCC's Board of Directors, and the coronation of the 1989 Jersey Queen. Jennifer Chapman, daughter of Ron and Sharon Chapman of Waterford, was crowned the queen in a pageant featuring three contestants. The other contestants were Jennifer Hutchinson, daughter of Pauline Hutchinson of Towanda, and Janet Bissett, daughter of Bob and Diana Bissett of Hickory.

Jay Clark of Enon Valley, youth coordinator for the club, announced milk production winners for the Jacob M. Brunges Memorial Trophy, designed to encourage 4-H and FFA members to keep production records on their registered Jerseys. The records are converted to 305 2x mature equivalents, and the awards are ranked on pounds of 4 percent fat corrected milk produced.

This year's winners were:

1. Lisa Rankin, Burgettstown, Lulus Brass Lollie, 22,366 lbs.
2. Mike Moose, Mercer, Spring Run Bossman Flicka, 21,821 lbs.
3. Andrew Clark, Enon Valley, AM Volunteer Daisy, 21,493 lbs.
4. Pamela McConnell, Volant, Jem Top Brass Taffy Teresa, 20,878 lbs.
5. Edward Clark, Enon Valley, Ringbow Chip Buckeye, 20,628 lbs.
6. Emily Dietrich, Newburg, Emily's Brave Tinkerbelle, 20,584 lbs.
7. Matthew Clark, Enon Valley, AM Magic Mary, 20,401 lbs.
8. Melanie Dietrich, Newburg, Mickey's Midnight Magic, 19,452 lbs.
9. Corey McConn, Burgettstown, Rocky's Milady Della, 19,177 lbs.
10. Cathleen Norman, Liberty, Windy Acres Brass Lisa, 19,040 lbs.

Brenda Dice of Fredericksburg, was named the outstanding FFA Jersey youth and recipient of the Fetterhoff Trophy, awarded to an FFA member selected by the Pennsylvania Department of Education.

Saturday's calf sale was held at the John Frye farm, just outside Indiana, and was followed by a luncheon banquet and afternoon business meeting.

New officers elected at the Saturday meeting were John McConnell of Volant, President; Leon Sollenburger of Everett, first vice-president; Glenn Kenny of Enon Valley, second vice-president; and Angie Koontz of Mercer, secretary-treasurer.

Next year's convention is tentatively planned for Bradford County.

Pennsylvania Bred Bull Enters Select Sires

PLAIN CITY, OH — 7H3559 Burket-Falls Enhancer Alf-ET, a young sire bred by John Burket, East Freedom, PA, has been chosen to enter Select Sires' Program for Genetic Advancement (PGA) sire sampling system. Based on his outstanding pedigree, 7H3559 has been selected as one of 150 Holstein bulls from throughout the United States to enter the program in 1989.

7H3559 is a son of Enhancer from a Very Good (88) Valiant daughter. She has a 3-7 record of 25,329M and 981F. The next dam is an Excellent (93-4E-GMC) Elevation daughter, Burket-Falls Elevation Sohpia, that has a lifetime record of 181,490M and a 4.0% test.

Select Sires is a family of 12 farmer-owned and controlled A.I. cooperatives, serving the largest member of co-op members in the United States. 7H980 Walkway Chief Mark, themost extraordinary type and production sire of the decade, is an example of the superior genetics Select Sires offers. These results assist the federation in achieving its basic objective - to supply livestock breeders with the industry's top genetics.

NC+ HYBRIDS

Results

2747 102-105 Days 2345 GDU's
- Strong in all performance characteristics - especially in drought tolerance.
- High marks in stalk quality and ear retention make harvesting easy
- Medium height plants produce long, showy ears.
- Produces high test weight gain.

3440 104-106 Days 2375 GDU's
- Short plants produce a girthy, deep kerneled ear for high yield potential.
- Superior root system and ear retention.
- Best results when planted at moderate to high plant populations.
- A primary hybrid in its maturity and especially where Goss's wilt may be a problem.

4616 108-110 Days 2420 GDU's
- Superb yield for maturity.
- Wide adaption from coast to coast
- Attractive plant type - long slender ears.
- Above average grain quality.
- Good standability and roots.
- Good general disease tolerance.

5891 112-116 Days 2545 GDU's
- Superior agronomic ratings for root strength, stalk quality and ear retention.
- Top yields per acre under stress or ideal conditions when population and management are matched to growing conditions.
- Healthy plants have good tolerance to leaf and stalk diseases.
- High quality grain - suitable for food grade purposes.

5990 112-116 Days 2485 GDU's
- Exceptional plant health through-out the growing season with fast grain dry down in the fall.
- Excellent harvestability due to superior ratings in ear retention, stalk and root strength.
- Profitable, big yield potential at moderate to high plant populations.
- A food grade corn with exceptional grain quality.

7507 116-120 Days 2625 GDU's
- A "must plant" hybrid for SILAGE and HIGH MOISTURE producers in fuller season areas.
- Excellent grain/stover ratio makes this one of the best high tonnage silage and high moisture corns.
- Very tall, leafy plants with high ear placement.

Dairy Foods Research Center Opens

ITHACA, NY — A special ceremony recently celebrated the official opening of the Northeast Dairy Foods Research Center. The last of six dairy foods research centers to be opened by the National Dairy Board, it will include facilities at both Cornell University and the University of Vermont.

The Center will be conducting research in three main areas; studying foodborne pathogens and how they can be detected, eliminated or prevented; examining characteristics of dairy foods which can be used to develop new products such as new types of cheese; and developing brand new products using milk as a raw material to create foods that may not resemble any of the products known today.

Research at the Center will be directed by Dr. David Barbano at Cornell University, and Dr. Catherine Donnelly, at University of Vermont.

The Northeast Dairy Foods Research Center is supported by the National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, local dairy groups, and the universities. The National Dairy Board's contribution is $600,000 per year for five years - a total grant of $3,000,000.

Fred Cockram, Chairman of the NDB Product Research Committee said, "The dairy farmers are counting heavily on these Centers of Excellence in Dairy Research to provide the technological developments that will help us market and sell more milk and dairy products in the years to come."

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, composed of 36 dairy farmers, was established by the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 to develop and administer a coordinated program of promotion, research, and nutrition education to strengthen the dairy industry position in the marketplace. This effort is financed by America's dairy farmers.

Brink Named Kent County's Outstanding Dairyman

BY SUE CROW
Maryland Correspondent

KENNEDYVILLE, MD. — With points well above the other herds in the county, Robert and Eileen Brink captured the Outstanding Dairyman for the 1988 year. Their score was based on management goals set up by the county that each herd should strive for. Their production record, calving dates and breeding information all were taken into account in the scoring.

The Brinks were also the top herd in the county for milk production with 72 cows at 20,896M. 3.64% 761F 3.22% protein 672 pounds of protein. They also had the top herd for protein. McGuire Brothers topped the county in fat production on 97 cows at 20,660M 3.79% 782F.

The top two herds in the county for the highest percentage of low somatic cell count went to McGuire Brothers and Chandale Farm. McGuire Brothers had 94 percent at 77,000 and Chandale Farm had 93% at 89,000.

John Z. Stoltzfus had the greatest increase in pounds of butterfat and milk production over last year. His record stands at 68 cows with 20,268M 736F 640P. This is an increase of 4,664M 143F 155P over last year.

The following farms garnered honors for owing the top cow in the respective age and breed from milk production.

Delta Theta Sigma Scholarship Winners Recognized

BY MARIANNE WALKER
Centre Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — Two young men with dairy backgrounds were the recipients of the Third Annual Delta Theta Sigma Ag Scholarships, which were awarded on March 9. The winners of the $500 awards were Andrew Hipple of Trout Run, and Duane Stoltzfus of Morgantown.

Andrew Hipple's future plans include teaching high school agriculture. Andy is the second of four children of dairy farmers, Jack and Patricia Hipple. At Montoursville High School, he was active in FFA and National Honor Society. A freshman at Penn State majoring in agricultural education, he is the treasurer of the Collegiate Chapter of FFA and is involved in the Agricultural Student Council.

Duane Stoltzfus is the youngest of four sons of Harvey W. and Jane Stoltzfus, whose dairy farm is located in Morgantown, Pennsylvania. Duane is a freshman majoring in dairy and animal science. He is a graduate of Twin Valley High School, where he was active in FFA and 4-H. He is currently the vice president of the Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association. Stoltzfus plans to pursue a veterinary career.

The Delta Theta Sigman Scholarships are made possible through alumni fund raising. Any agriculture student who is in his or her first year at University Park is eligible to apply for the scholarship. The recipients are selected based upon leadership, academic performance, work experience in agriculture, financial need, and character. The scholarships were established by the fraternity to help promote agriculture. This year's Scholarship Committee included: David Hall, instructor of agricultural education; Philip Taylor, Centre County Extension agent; Dr. Paul Schellenberger, professor of animal science; Dr. Lamartine Hood, dean of the College of Agriculture; and Dr. Nathan Hartwig, professor of weed science.

BCS tillers make a lot of horse sense. Or mule sense.
They're available in nine basic sizes that range from 5 to 16 horsepower. Which means there's one for any size chore or person.
What's more, there's one for any job. You can convert a BCS tiller in minutes to a lawnmower, sickle bar cutter, garden sprayer, or snow-thrower.
Plus they eat no hay, drink no water, aren't a bit stubborn and require a very small stable.
So why don't you put one in your stable? Visit your BCS dealer for a demonstration.

Protect Your Groundwater From Toxicity

BY LISA RISSER

What do pesticides and gasoline have common? At first glance, not much. One kills pests in crops, the other makes engines work. Seemingly the only commonality is that both are used by farmers. But there is another similarity: both can be toxic, both can get into the groundwater.

Much attention has been focused on groundwater and the pollutants found there. The main concern lately in rural areas has been nitrates and how animal waste contributes to the levels in groundwater.

The Environmental Protection Agency and other environmental groups are interested in other toxic compounds as well. The EPA currently is conducting a national study on pesticides to determine what is getting into the groundwater, whether what is in the groundwater is toxic, and at what levels the substance would be toxic. The study is measuring levels on a parts per trillion basis. One part per trillion would be the concentration equivalent of an aspirin dissolved in one million gallons of water.

As a result of this study, certain pesticides or uses for a pesticide could be banned from use. Of course, it is possible that the substance has already been cancelled as what is in the groundwater may have been applied as long as 40 years ago. Since it began policing pesticide use in the early 1970s, the EPA has cancelled hundreds of products or one or more of their applications.

It is equally possible after the study that not many toxic substances may be found in the water. "Depending on the chemical and physical structures of the compound, some pesticides leach more readily than others," said Don Lott, Federal Insecticide, Fungicide & Rodenticide Act enforcement coordinator for EPA Region 3. "Through the degradation process, by the time a compound reaches the water it may not be toxic. It may be innocuous."

Not all compounds found in the groundwater, however, are a result of leaching. "Some contamination may have resulted from accidental introduction such as through the well head or sink holes," commented Dr. Gerard Florentine, pesticide use specialist with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Regardless of how the compound made it into the water, it is the amount found there that will determine its toxicity. "There's a book called 'The Dose Makes the Poison.' That says it all," said Michael W. Brubaker, agronomist and owner of Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service in Lititz. "If ingested in sufficient quantities, pesticides are toxic. One part per billion or trillion could be harmless."

Depending on what the EPA finds, manufacturers of certain pesticides may find their products under re-review. "If there's a data gap, in this case on ground water toxicity, they'll have to submit research on the compound's safeness," related Lott. The research would contain information such as the compound's impact on groundwater and the application rate at which it could be safely used.

The research required by a review or re-review is funded by the manufacturer. If the research will be more costly in terms of time and money than the profit the firm is making from the product, "the chemical company might pull the product themselves," Brubaker remarked. According to Lott failure to supply data is one of the main reasons that products have been cancelled.

Once a product has been banned, the EPA usually provides a time period in which inventories must be used. When the time limit is over, any remaining inventories must be disposed of at a hazardous waste site. Their containers must be disposed of also. The problem is, there aren't many hazardous waste disposal sites around. There isn't one in Region 3, which comprises Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, and Virginia. According to Lott, the nearest facility is located in North Carolina.

Some toxic compounds can be burned at a hazardous waste incinerator. Rollins Corp. in Wilmington, Del., is an EPA-approved faciility.

The York County Solid Waste Management Authority has been conducting a hazardous waste collection program for county residents for four years now. They provide most of the the funding for a hauler to come and collect any hazardous waste that is brought in during the time period. This program, which is publicized by the York County League of Women Voters, is open only to homeowners though. According to Mary Jane Rodkey, the person in-charge of the program at the Authority, the cost of disposing hazardous wastes from farms is cost prohibitive at this point.

The Lancaster County Solid Waste Authority currently is planning a hazardous waste disposal program for residents. "We will start one," said Garth Becker, environmental planner for the Authority. "We're looking into

What To Do With Wastes Nobody Wants

LANCASTER — The state and federal environmental regulatory bodies have been issuing rules and guidelines concerning disposal of certain wastes for quite some time.

Listed below are some common items that might be found on a farm that require special disposal.

'Antifreeze—Small amounts can be poured into public sewer systems; however, homeowners and farmers should check with their local sewage treatment facility before doing so. Antifreeze should not be put down private septic systems.

•Appliances—Most landfills will take large appliances, but at a cost that is often double what other materials may cost. They also can recycled at scrapyards. Call local yards to find those that salvage appliances.

•Electric motors—Motors with PCBs are considered a hazardous waste and must be disposed of accordingly. Other may be taken to landfills or possibly to a scrapyard.

•Medical waste (needles, bottles, etc.)—No one, including state government agencies, seems to know exactly how to treat this type of waste. One suggestion was to treat it like human medical waste is: send it to a DER-licensed incinerator and then a landfill. There are transporters of infectious, or medical, waste one such in Lancaster County is Enviro-Tech of Lancaster.

•Motor oil—Motor oil can be recycled. Many Sears Roebuck automotive departments will accept oil for recycling.

•Oil-based paints—Considered hazardous waste, oil-based paints, while in liquid form, must go to a hazardous waste disposal site. Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources recommend using up the paint somehow or painting crumpled newspaper and taking it to a landfill once the paint is dry.

•Tires—While landfills are reluctant to take tires, they will for a price. Tires can be recycled, however, most companies that do recycling don't have the time for collecting small amounts. DER does have the names of companies that recycle tires, provided at least a trailer load can be collected.

Protect Your Groundwater

how to do it right now, but we should have one in the next year or so."

At this point in time, the Lancaster County project would be available for farmers as well as homeowners provided farmers don't bring in huge quantities of a substance.

In the past, when the EPA banned a product, the manufacturer, retailer, dealer, and farmer would be entitled to indemnification. "Under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, & Rodenticide Act of '88 only the end user can be reimbursed," Lott said. Also on any product banned after the EPA's newest set of regulations are implemented manufacturers have to recall the product and pay for disposal.

The only on-going indemnification program at this time is for Dinoseb. Farmers wishing to take part in this program should write to Lott at EPA Region 3 Pesticide Section (3HW42), 841 Chestnut Building, Philadelphia, PA 19107.

Pesticides aren't the only problem farmers have with toxicty and groundwater. Gasoline can be a problem. How many farmers can say they have never dumped any gas in the ground? Many spill some when filling the tractor or pickup or empty out cans in which they've cleaned paint brushes.

Gas leaches slowly depending on the soil type. "Gas can be persistant and last for a very long time," explained Carlyle Gray, hydrogeologist and owner of Carlyle Gray & Associates in Lancaster. "Gas is not one single compound. It is a mixture of materials, some are toxic and soluble in water. These are poisonous. But most gasoline floats on the water table and becomes gaseous. These gases can come through a basement and are flammable."

Much of the gas that finds its way to the groundwater has come from a hole in a steel storage tank. Many farms have underground storage tanks. "The problem is that the tanks are buried and over time they rust through," said Gray. "The worst part is that a hole can rust through the size of a pinhole, and the farmer never knows it's leaking. He can fill and empty it for years and all along be leaking gas into the ground."

Gray recommends that farmers begin checking the level of gas in their tanks, particularly steel tanks, which normaly have a lifespan of only 10 to 15 years. "Use a calibrated stick, usually available where tanks are sold, and check the level one day and the next," advised Gray. Farmers should be sure to check on two consecutive days that they won't be taking any gas from the tank.

If the tank is losing gas, Gray recommends digging up the tank immediately and contacting a hydrogeologist to find out what to do. Patching the tank doesn't work. Many times, because gas remains in the soil for a long time before reaching the groundwater, the contaminated soil must be dug up and disposed elsewhere. Gray estimates that clean up can cost between $25,000 and $200,000.

Farmers are exempt from current federal regulation of gasoline storage tanks, but if they want to replace their steel tank anyway, Gray suggests getting a fiberglass tank or a steel tank with cathodic protection. The old tank must go to a hazardous waste disposal area.

As a result of studying the groundwater issue, EPA officials in Region 3 are announcing a pesticide and groundwater strategy, according to Lott. "The strategy would require the states to develop state management plan to address the concerns of groundwater contamination resulting from pesticide use in agricultural areas," he said.

For the past 50 years or so, chemicals have been a way of life for most American farmers. But that is changing as everyone becomes more aware of the dangers to their environment.

Minnesota Commissioner Of Agriculture To Visit Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Farmers Union will host an Evening For Friends of Agriculture on Tuesday, April 4. The event will be held at the Holiday Inn Center City Harrisburg and begin with a reception at 6:00 p.m. followed by dinner at 7:00 p.m.

Featured speaker for the banquet will be Jim Nichols, commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota. Nichols is an authority on international trade and a leading advocate for preserving family farms.

A family farmer since 1972, Nichols owns and operates a 520-acre grain and livestock operation in southwestern Minnesota. Elected to the Minnesota Senate twice, in 1976 and 1980, Nichols has a well-rounded knowledge of government and its role in agriculture. As commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota since 1983, he has been a strong voice for a progressive and vital agricultural policy.

Tickets, at a cost of $20, can be obtained by calling the Pennsylvania Farmers Union at 717/234-4311.

The Pennsylvania Farmers Union is dedicated to preserving the Family Farm.

Bush Comes To Lancaster County

County, Bush was given a leadership project book by Parker, the county Extension 4-H agent, that explains the 4-H program. He took it with him to Washington, D.C, and returned it, autographed, to Parker.

The 4-H leadership program operates on three levels, which are broken down according to age. The first level, for 8- to 10-year olds, "teaches children that they're okay," said Parker. "It teaches them how to look at other people and their likes and dislikes."

Specific projects include activities that teach communication skills and decision making.

The second level, for 11- to 14-year olds, teaches youth how to plan activities and events. Because children mature at different rates, the activities are geared according to the level of maturity. "When they're done with this level, they are ready to run an activity, meeting, or event by themselves," explained Parker.

The final level helps 4-H'ers teach what they've learned to younger members. They also work with community leaders and others in the social strata.

Parker was encouraged by the President's interest and her next effort is to get two dozen ready-to-hatch eggs in the White House. "I want them (the public) to know what we're doing on a large scale," she explained. "I want to show the President that we can prove that by giving kids responsibility for caring for an animal in class that they will change (and care less about drugs)."

Zoann Parker, Lancaster County 4-H agent, brought the 4-H program to President Bush's attention by giving him a leadership skills project book and an anti-drug button like the one she's holding.

President George Bush came to Conestoga Valley High School on Wednesday to deliver an anti-drug message. Accompanying him were Attorney General Richard Thornburgh, former Pennsylvania governer, center, and national "Drug Czar" William Bennet, right.

Farm Essentials.

Cows. Crops. And a Scavenger® spreader. The three essentials for higher productivity and a more successful farm operation.

Manure is money.
According to ag experts at the University of Missouri, the average dairy cow produces 70 pounds of manure every day—up to 13 tons a year. Worth about $5.00/ton, that equates to $65.00 per cow a year. If you own a 60-head herd that's almost $4,000 of free fertilizer. And in today's farm environment that adds up to big savings.

Scavenger—good to your crops, good to you.
To get the most from your manure you need a spreader to efficiently manage manure. A spreader that works with you. A spreader designed and built for today's farming. You need a Scavenger.

Scavenger loads quickly and spreads fast. And thanks to advanced engineering, Scavenger spreads all kinds of manure—liquid, semi-solid, pen pack (even frozen)—all year 'round. But more importantly, Scavenger's patented moveable square-auger and Variflo discharge combine to let you choose your optimum rate of application—from top dressing to heavy springtime spreading. You get the kind of spreads your crops need—nice and even, without damaging "hotspots". With Scavenger, your crops receive the essential nutrients to produce better yields.

See Scavenger for yourself.
Don't be misled by claims of other manufacturer's spreaders that say they do it all. See Scavenger for yourself and compare actual capabilities. We think you'll find your choice obvious—you'll choose Scavenger®.

For a firsthand look at Scavenger, see your local Hedlund/Martin dealer. Or for more information write: Hedlund/Martin, Inc., A Gehl Company, 741 Kutztown Road, Myerstown, PA 17067. Telephone: 717-933-4151

RCMA Pays 28 Cents For January Premium

BATAVIA, N.Y. — Some dairy farmers in the Northeast may find it tough going these days because of the recent decline in the M-W price of $1.01 per hundred pounds (cwt) of Class II milk, which is used for manufacturing purposes. (The M-W price is the milk price in the Minnesota, Wisconsin region where there is a free market system. This price reflects what is going on in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and while it doesn't reflect the needs of Northeast dairy farmers and consumers, it does govern the price of milk in the Northeast.)

However, the Northeast, is unique in that this area has a shortage of milk for its consumers. In 1988, approximately 3000 dairy farms throughout the country went out of business; 2000 of these were in the Northeast alone! And during that time, New York state lost 681 dairy farm families, from 13,071 in June '87 to 12,390 in June '88.

The Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency (RCMA), with its 22,000 members in 11 Northeastern states, offers hope to today's dairy farmers; it is the only organization in the Northeast that helps dairy farmers get money over the Government-set price.

According to RCMA Executive Director and General Manager, Ed Anna, the 64¢ decline coupled with the 37¢ decline in the previous months means a total of $1.01 that the dairy farmers are losing; and this downward price trend will continue in the future months.

The M-W price decline will have a negative impact on the cash flow of Northeast dairy farmers as they approach spring and summer when this decrease in farm income will make it more difficult to meet planting costs," said Anna. "Many are now making the decision to abandon their way of life and get out of the dairy farming business."

RCMA, in its efforts to combat such negative impacts, has been paying premiums directly to dairy farmers. The most recent premium, paid on January milk, was announced March 21 to be 28¢ per cwt., or 2.5¢ per gallon. As a result, each RCMA member farm will gain an additional $240.00 for the milk from 70 cows; in other words, each member dairy receives nearly 2.5 cents per gallon. Even this small amount of additional income may keep some families on the farm.

"With the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board's drought relief program ending August 31 and the Federal Government's planned price support cuts in January 1990, dairy farmers need a mechanism like RCMA now more than ever to get increased income, and we're doing our best to help," Anna continued.

Starting in April, RCMA is trying to add another 1¼ ¢ per gallon to dairy farm income, but some major foreign-owned dairy cartels are objecting to even this minimal income for farmers. Many farmers and leaders in the dairy industry agree with Anna that RCMA can compensate to some degree for the decline in milk prices, but New York state and the other Northeastern states must do something NOW to help the dairy farmer survive and to keep the Northeast dairy industry alive!

If you have any questions about RCMA or the dairy situation, please call the RCMA office in Batavia at 1-(800)-634-3723. Remember, with RCMA, you can get your money back before it's too late.

USDA Mails Conservation Deadline Notice

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin) — Farmers who do not have the conservation plan they need to stay eligible for U.S. Department of Agriculture benefits will get a personal reminder in the mail this month that the deadline for an approved plan is less than a year away.

The letter going out to these farmers is part of a nationwide direct-mail campaign by USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) to ensure that all producers and landowners subject to the conservation compliance provision of the 1985 Food Security Act are aware of the December 31, 1989 deadline.

Under the law, anyone who farms or rents out highly erodible land must develop a conservation plan — by the December 31, 1989 deadline if they or their operator want to stay eligible for USDA farm program benefits. Those benefits include price supports, Farmers Home Administration Loans, crop insurance and disaster payments. Loss of eligibility affects all the land that a person farms, not just the specific erodible fields.

Along with the letter, these farmers will get a brochure featuring a game board entitled "Make Your Move Now: Stay Eligible for USDA Programs." They'll also get a response sheet addressed to the local SCS office.

John R. Akers, SCS district conservations in Franklin County urges these farmers to send in their response sheet now, or to call the SCS office at 717/264-7013. "If too many folks wait too long," Akers warns, "those at the end of the line may not have their plan by December 31."

"Remember," says Akers, "your plan has to be developed and approved by the dealine. So please don't wait until the last minute. Make your move now. We want to help you comply, if that's your desire, but you have to take the first step . . . and it's got to be a timely one!"

After the plan has been approved, the farmer has until December 31, 1994, to implement it. The conservation plan contains a timetable for implementation.

By January 1, 1989, conservation plans had been approved for 68 percent of the estimated 1.68 million acres of highly erodible land in Pennsylvania subject to conservation compliance.

on the Trail of a deer has surely amazed this writer.

I believe, here a change would be in order.

The majority are not crop producers, they just wish to eat what the minority produce.

Majority rule is a concept which by its very definition implies, That it is justifiable to violate the rights of the minority so long as the majority consent to it.

And the fact is a Commission whom is responsible to no one leads the majority. They call themselves Sportsmen.

John Kutz
Pine Grove

Editor:

I'm writing about my disgust that the farmers are being blamed for a lot of pollution and subjecting them to all kinds of regulations by the EPA and DER and all kinds of zoning laws.

It takes seven acres of land to feed, cloth, house, and heat each person on this world. And seven good acres like in York and Lancaster counties. It takes hundreds of acres like Arizona, Texas, or Asiatic acres to do the same. Our society has to religiously understand that. They've been riding the farmers too much and robbing America of those good lands by putting industry, developments, shopping centers, golf courses, recreational lands, and wildlife lands on those precious lands with utmost carelessness. Most of the non-agricultural society is 95 percent plus agriculturally illiterate. Ninety-five percent are also scientifically illiterate. Those are the findings.

It's time to put an abrupt stop to all this robbing of agricultural land in the eastern U.S. because those precious acres cannot be found anywhere anytime, and the agriculturally favorable weather is not available anywhere anytime either. The industries and developments will have to move to where the grounds and weather are not so favorable for farming like the hot dry areas or the poor and cold areas or mountainous areas where it is not desirable for farming.

Also the EPA, DER, wildlife lovers, Susquehanna Chesapeake Bay regulators, Game Commission and many more of those kinds of bureaucracies will have to cease harassing and freeloading on the farmers and see to it that agriculture comes first and give peace to farmers.

Farmers are a speical breed of people who work with instincts and nature and just can't be found anytime anywhere. And farmers don't have to spend thousands like the regulators wish. They can put $1,000 in certificates of deposits in banks each year with 8 to 10 percent interest yields and watch it grow to $325,000 to $500,000 after 40 years just like anybody else. They don't have to spend all their money farming and be in debts all their lives. It's time society understands this and appreciates the farmers wholeheartedly. That they'll have to understand and make a right-about-face from their ruinous ways of the reckless past of the last three or four decades and start preserving the farmers and protecting them from further encroachment by industry and development. The towns and cities got too big and the farms which are their pantry are in danger, and the supermarkets are not going to fill the food baskets, it takes farmers to do it. The time is here around the corner where it will be questioned—who shall eat and who shall not! China is experiencing this now!

Every farm that is developed into houses requires several townships or counties of farms to provide the food, fiber, clothing, etc., for those people. A farm of 600 condominiums with 3,600 apartments or 20,000 people would require 140,000 acres to find the needs.

Berks County Conservation Banquet

LEESPORT — The Berks County Conservation District along with the Berks County Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service (A.S.C.S.) again will be sponsoring a banquet to honor conservation efforts in Berks County. this year it will be held at the Kutztown Grange Hall on Monday, April 3, at 7:00 p.m.

Harry Haupt, "The Art Smithy" from Center Point in Montgomery County, will entertain with his knowledge of the iron industry and his special brand of humor.

Jack Gounder, a district director and former radio announcer, will act as the Master of Ceremonies and keep the awards and events moving.

Paul Reidenhour Jr. will be honored as the outstanding conservation farmer for 1988. This Windsor Township farmer grows truck crops, hay, and grain. He has utilized grassed waterways, weed control, cover cropping, a crop rotation, terraces, strips, and diversions as conservation measures to keep his soil in place. His farm woodlot is managed with as much care as the open fields with timber as the crop.

Other farmers to be recognized for their conservation efforts are Lloyd and Larry Kehl of Windsor Township; Ralph Stoltzfus of Caernarvon Township; and Carl A. Lobb of Maxatawny Township. They all will receive Berks Conservation District signs for their farms.

The outstanding conservation educator of the year is Donald W. Reinert, the vo-ag instructor at Kutztown High School. Conservation and environmental concerns have been integrated into his Young Farmer and regular classroom instruction. He has been active with the conservation speaking and land judging contests, which the District helps to sponsor each year and has had many winners. The role of conservation in farming has always been incorporated into the program.

The Blue Mountain Eagle Climbing Club will be honored as the outstanding conservation organization of 1988. This group has given more than 2,000 hours of its time to do trail maintenance and clean up along the 64 miles of the Appalachian Trail as it passes through Berks County. The district nominated them for a "Take Pride In Pennsylvaina" Award and they placed second. Governor Robert Casey honored them last fall. Their purpose is to preserve and protect the environment while enjoying it.

The forestry award winner for 1988 is the Topton Lutheran Home. An employee, Duane Moyer, encouraged them to harvest some timber and then worked with the DER service forester to begin a long-range plan to get the best use of this crop. Some of the initial profits were spent to survey their land, and their present plan also will benefit the watershed, which contains the reservoir for the Borough of Topton. The nomination also was judged to be the regional award in the M. K. Goddard Forestry Contest at the state level. They have applied to become a certified Tree Farm.

Claude W. Boas of Reading will be honored as the outstanding conservationist for his 50 plus years of work with the Izaak Walton League. He has been an officer in the Berks Chapter and served as president. He helped to establish and is still running an outstanding bass-rearing pond in Reading. He is presently an associate director with the Conservation District and takes an active part in many of the programs and activities.

The Berks Conservation District College Scholarship Program winners will be honored and introduced at the banquet. Last year Tammy Balthaser and Todd Schappell from the Hamburg Area Schools were the recipients of $1,000 each toward their first year of college. This year there will be three winners.

Ticket deadline is March 27, so call the Berks County Conservation District office at 215 372-4655. No tickets will be sold at the door so reserve your seat now and join us on Monday, April 3rd at the Kutztown Grange Hall for a great meal and a chance to honor these conservationists and have some fun.

Field Calibration Seminars Planned

LITITZ (Lancaster) — Two free field calibration seminars are planned for Thursday, March 30, at 10:15 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The seminars, which will occur simultaneously, are sponsored primarily by Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service.

One seminar will take place in Berks County at the Don Duncan farm, which is near Robesonia on the Brunville/Robesonia Road. The other takes place in Lancaster County at M&R Grains, which is near Salunga on Pleasure Drive.

Lunch will be at noon and is sponsored by American Cyanamid at the Berks County site and by Dow Chemical Co. at the Lancaster County site.

Representatives from Dow Chemical, American Cyanamid, Penn State Extension service, local custom applicators, and BACS staff will contribute to the educational event.

The seminars will include a review of custom applications equipment, pesticide safety, and calibration demonstrations of a farm sprayer and corn planter as well as for seeds, insecticides, and fertilizers.

Four Pesticide Update credits for private applicator licenses will be issued to all in attendance. For more information, call 717/627-0065.

Dairy Digest

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — Your calving pen, maternity area or pasture are important to the health, productivity, and longevity of your herd. Here is where a calf starts life on your farm and it's your first chance to provide a clean healthful environment. Dirty, poorly ventilated maternity pens, calving areas or muddy pastures without adequate shade, water or grass cover, deliver a message (and often poor health) as to how important replacements are to your dairy. Poor calf health and reproductive problems in cows can often be traced to poor calving areas.

A simple way to evaluate your calving facilities is to "Take a nap." If the place where your next cow is going to calve looks like a good place to take a nap on a warm spring day (clean, dry, comfortable, well bedded) then you're in good shape. If you recoil from the thought of laying down in your calving area, even in your old work clothes, it needs some attention, soon! Maternity pens or pastures should be reserved for calving only. It doesn't make sense to keep sick or convalescing cows in the same pen where the new born calf will be the next day. If you must use the same pen be sure its cleaned out, disinfected and allowed to dry before it's used for calving. Don't just sprinkle a little bedding on top of the old mess! Allowing calving to occur in pastures with large numbers of animals increases the chance for disease transmission from other animals to the new born. A convenient paddock with shade and water that "close in cows" can use will make observation easier and provide a better environment for mother and offspring.

A maternity pen should:

1. Be separate from other animals; 2. Be clean and well bedded, preferably with straw; 3. Have a skid resistant floor; 4. Be a minimum of 12 feet by 12 feet in size; 5. Have a stanchion to restrain the animal and a lifting ring; 6. Have drinking water available; 7. Allow access to remove downed animals.

Calving pastures or paddocks should:

1. Be used for calving only (close in cows only); 2. Be grass covered; 3. Have shade and water; 4. Be easily observed (day and night); 5. Have ready access to veterinary vehicle in case of emergencies.

A convenient, easily observed, well maintained calving facility will help your workers (2 legged and 4 legged) make your dairy more profitable and enjoyable.

ANIMAL MODEL

In July, 1989 we'll have a new system for the genetic evaluation of sires and cows. It will be known as the Animal Model. We have had three evaluation systems since the USDA began computing sire summaries in the mid 1930's. These were known as the:

(1) Daughter-dam comparison; (2) Herdmate comparison; (3) Modified contemporary comparison.

Each was more complex than the system it replaced and accounted for more of the variables that affect production records. This will be true of the Animal Model. However, even this procedure is subject to error if some animals receive preferential treatment as compared to their contemporaries.

There is only one defense against the possibility of preferential treatment of daughters of a sire and that is to have each daughter located in a different herd where the herdowners have no personal interest in how good (or bad) the sire's summary will be. Most of the progeny testing programs run by AI units attempt to meet this condition.

The Animal Model is "state of the art" for genetic evaluations and will fine tune our selection procedures in dairy cattle breeding. More information on specific changes with the Animal Model will appear in future issues of the Dairy Digest.

WASHING TEATS IN A STANCHION BARN

In stanchion barns, it is necessary to use a sanitizing solution in a bucket and individual paper towels to prepare udders and teats. Individual paper towels are highly recommended as sponges and cloths frequently increase transmission of mastitis organisms to uninfected quarters and cows.

C.W. HEALD

UPDATE BODYWEIGHT DATA FOR DAIRY COWS

It is important to use good bodyweight information when formulating rations for dairy cattle and in determining forage and concentrate levels for individual animals. There may be a difference of 600 to 800 lbs or more in bodyweight among large breed cows.

DHI records for too many herds list all or most cows at the same bodyweight usually the weight entered when the animal freshened for the first time. These should be updated on the first test day after each calving.

Tape weigh the animal carefully or use an actual scale weight. See that this change in weight is properly entered on the barn sheet. Enter correct weights for each animal soon, if these have not been updated on a regular basis. This can do much to improve feeding recommendations for cows as developed by DHI, feed consultants and others. A new package of feeding programs will be available in the near future for dairymen in DHIA.

Dairy farmers not in DHIA also should determine and record bodyweights on their cows to facilitate feed programming and improve rations in their herds. Dairymen should also keep track of the average bodyweight and the age in months of heifers as they freshen for the first time. These data can be compared with established norms to help in evaluating heifer raising programs.

TIME TO TAKE DRUG INVENTORY

The Food and Drug Administration and the milk marketing coops have set up new directives concerning the proper storage for drugs. These new rules require that only drugs which can be administered to lactating and nonlactating dairy cattle be kept in the dairy barn. Refrigerated and nonrefrigerated medications used for other species of animals cannot be stored with the cattle medication. Drugs should be stored in a closet or office, not in cattle housing areas. Medications specifically for lactating cattle should be stored on labeled shelves and separated from those which are used on nonlactating animals. Those medications stored in the refrigerator again must be separated by use, lactating from nonlactating drugs. They can be stored on different shelves or separated by a barrier and properly labeled.

Now is a good time to take inventory of your drug supplies before planting season begins. Take note of what you have and will need. Throw out any medications which are beyond their expiration date or if the labels are unreadable. It is also best to throw out any medication in cracked tubes or broken containers.

Bucks County Holstein Club Annual Tour

PERKASIE (Berks) — The Bucks County Holstein Club invites members and friends to attend their annual dairy tour to Warren adn Sussex counties, New Jersey on Saturday, April 1, starting at 7:30 a.m.

Those interested should meet at the Bucks County Bank Corporate Center at Cross Keys on routes 611 and 313. This year we will be going in cars. To be fair to the drivers there will be a charge of $5 for adults and $2.50 for children between the ages of 4-12. Riders should pay this directly to the driver.

The first farm is owned by Max Spans. His herdsman is Dan Vosburg. The Spans' have 58 registered Jerseys with a rolling herd average of 13,723 lbs. of milk, and 5.3% fat, 723 lbs. fat. They have 18 excellent and 30 very good cows. They have two contract cows. They do embryo transfer. This is one of the best Jersey herds in the nation. Their barn is three years old. They feed corn silage, haylage, hay, pasture and high moisture corn.

The second farm on tour is owned by Frank Gibbs. He has three dairy farms. The tour will be of farm No. 1. On this farm he has 110 cows with a rolling herd average over 20,000 lbs. milk and 700 lbs. fat. Seventy cows are in a tiestall barn. The remainder of the herd is in loose housing. He feeds haylage, hay and high moisture ear corn. He makes a concentrate from ear corn, soybean meal, urea, and ground hay. He sends his heifers down south to his brother's farm at a few months of age and brings them back before they freshen.

Lunch will be at the Inn at Panther Valley. Those attending will be ordering off the menu and paying for their own meal. Please make reservations for the tour by March 25, Saturday, by calling Ben Landis at (215) 766-8034.

Junior Calf Raffle

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association Calf Raffle reached its climax during the Convention Sales, when the winning ticket was pulled.

Some 6214 Tickets were sold by Junior Holstein Members all across Pennsylvania.

The winner of the calf is Mr. Chester Smith, Shippensburg, PA. The second prize winner, receiving $200.00 is Mr. Brian Snook, Spring Mills, PA. The third prize winner, receiving $100.00 is Mr. Paul Witmer, Columbiana, OH.

The top five ticket sales people were: Anissa Kensinger, Petersburg, PA, 1225 Tickets; James Houser, Spring Mills, PA, 760 Tickets; Diane Glock, Mifflintown, PA, 286 Tickets; Thaddeus Will, Berlin, PA, 257 Tickets; Colleen Kretzing, Loysville, PA, 242 Tickets.

Farm Leaders Seeks Ag Involvement In Third-World Debt Problems

Washington, DC — The president of the National Farmers Union joined with Indiana Congressman James Jontz Thursday in calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to recognize the impact of third-world debt relief measures on agriculture, both in the United States and in debtor nations.

During a Washington news conference, NFU President Leland Swenson told reporters that agriculturre has a stake in the debt problems of underdeveloped countries. "Clearly, many third-world nations are facing a debt crisis, and we applaud Secretary Nicholas Brady's understanding that cooperation from all interested parties is critical," Swenson said. "Our concern is simply that agriculture be included in the process as a very interested party."

Swenson explained that some debtor nations have been forced to make earning foreign capital to service debts a higher priority than commodity production to feed their people. "This is unacceptable both from a social justice point of view and from the perspective of building new markets for the U.S.," he said.

According to Swenson, third-world debt problems should be resolved with an eye toward development goals that could benefit agricultural sectors in both debtor and creditor nations. "This crisis need not result in escalating surpluses and depressed commodity prices.

FARM MANAGEMENT

Protect Against 1989 Crop Losses

ROLAND P. FREUND
Regional Farm Management Agent

Some farms will be forced out of business if they experience another drought this year. Such operations need to protect themselves against catastrophic losses by taking out crop insurance. April 15 is the deadline to sign up for insurance on spring-planted crops.

In a December article in this series "Can You Afford Another Drought", the need for risk protection, particularly for operations with a low equity situation was discussed. Now we need to examine the options which are available, so that we can better understand the crop insurance alternatives.

Multiple peril crop insurance offers protection at three different yield levels and at three different price options. This enables the buyer to choose a level of coverage that gives him his desired protection.

Know how much protection is needed

That depends upon your cost of production, your potential risk, and your equity situation. It is essential that you know your crop production costs - particularly the variable costs for inputs which you finance on your line-of-credit. If there are land rent charges and equipment payments and/or leases which the crop must also cover, these should also be included.

If your worst likely production would be a total crop failure, then you need to protect against that possibility. The higher your "worst case" yield is, the less protection you need.

Establish your Actual Production History Yield

This can be the key to lower crop insurance premiums - the higher your APH yield, the lower will be your premiums, so if your yields are consistently better than county averages, it is to your advantage to prove it. Check your business records, your ASCS office records, or your grain sales slips for the past 10 years. If you have no record for a given year, the ASCS established yield will be used for the year.

Contact your Crop Insurance Salesperson

All crop insurance is sold by private insurance agents. Some agents sell directly on Federal Crop Insurance Corporation paper. Others sell policies which are underwritten by the FCIC. The coverage and the cost to the farmer should be the same in all cases. The agent should be able to quote premiums based on the farm's APH yield and the yield and price options selected. Deal with an agent in whom you have confidence. ASCS can advise you who the agents are who service your county.

Select yield and price options

Yield coverage can be at the 50%, the 65%, or the 75% level. Any crop production less than the level of coverage will be paid for by crop insurance. Example: A corngrower with an APH yield of 100 bushels of corn who selects 65% coverage and gets a 45 bushel crop will collect for the difference between 65 bushels and his yield of 45, so he will collect from crop insurance for 20 bushels.

All crops have three price options. For corn in 1989 these are, A. $1.50, B. $2.00, C. $2.60. Let's look at a York Co., Pa. corn grower with the APH yield of 100 bu. per acre, and see what premiums he might expect to pay for the different coverage options:

Yield Coverage %		50	65	75
		Expected Premium $/Ac.
Price	$1.50	1.73	3.12	5.85
	$2.00	2.30	4.16	7.80
	$2.60	2.99	5.41	10.14

If in 1989 our York County farmer harvests a 60 bushel corn crop, crop insurance would pay him:

Yield Coverage %		50	65	75
		Expected Premium $/Ac.
Price	$1.50	0	7.50	22.50
	$2.00	0	10.00	30.00
	$2.60	0	13.00	39.00

If in 1989 our York County farmer has a complete corn crop failure, crop insurance would pay him:

Yield Coverage %		50	65	75
		Expected Premium $/Ac.
Price	$1.50	75	97.50	112.50
	$2.00	100	130	150
	$2.60	130	169	195

These examples illustrate, under a specific set of circumstances, what the costs and potential benefits of crop insurance might be. If our example farmer has $160 at risk in this crop, it might appear more prudent for him to select the $2.00 and 75% coverage than the $2.60, 65% option. Care should be taken not to use this case as quotations for your particular farm. Each farm should be taken through a similar exercise to assist in making the right decision on crop insurance.

Finally, it must be stressed again and again that crop insurance is not intended to be a money-maker - no insurance is. If you have money at risk in your spring cropping program, and cannot afford another 1988 yield, then check out crop insurance very carefully.

Kindig Elected

had a full-time person which has allowed me to do this work," said Kindig.

In his 14 years of service the biggest step DHIA has taken has been at the state level. When Kindig came to DHIA it was under the direction of the state cooperative extension service and was run by the dairy specialist agent.

That changed as DHIA was financially able to hire a fulltime manager. With the change in management the association was able to devote more time to develop DHIA as a business and members and directors became more involved in their own financial management.

"Since that step we are more in touch and concerned about our income and outgo," said Kindig. "Under the cooperative extension we just did not have a good handle on our financial situation and it's not that it was handled wrong. It's just that it's a whole new ball game now."

The percent of herds has certainly increased over the years, but Kindig is quick to point out that it is not what it should be.

"Our budget was based (1989) on 350,000 cows on test. It has dropped a little below that. By keeping membership up I'm not going to say it will allow us to reduce costs, but it will help us to hold costs," said Kindig.

Also, having more cows on test will give a greater data base.

The project commanding all the attention in the state now is the reorganization of Pennsylvania's DHIA.

"Directors have been working long and hard on this and we are really trying to get total input from membership throughout the state," said Kindig.

The big change from this effort will be that supervisors will no longer be employed by the local organization, but will be employed by the state.

"We realize that some areas of the state are run so well and membership is up that probably little efficiency will be gained by the reorganization. But there are other areas where membership is low in some small counties and there is a low percent of herds on test," explained Kindig. "We feel there's a real possiblity to gain some efficiency and cut some costs and that's what we are looking at."

Pennsylvania DHIA has already improved and expanded their services.

"We've changed the way the whole system works. Records turn-around time has been cut in half. We are getting closer to under four days from the time the sample is pulled from the farm, processed at State College and the result put in the mail to the farmer," said Kindig.

State directors have seen a demand over the years for different types of services and have reacted. One of the first new tests offered was for the somatic cell count. It started out with just a few farmers interested and now, according to Kindig, at least 70 percent use the test. It's growth has been excellent because it is a good tool to produce quality milk.

Another added service has been in response to the increasing use of on-farm computers.

"The opportunity presented itself when more farmers began to see the benefits of using an on-farm computer and the value of computer programs as they were being developed. We now offer ARIS (Agricultural Records Information System).

"We are working now on something called Pro-staph, which will test for Staph. aureus, that fits in well with milk testing and will stand to gain some substantial dollars in return to DHIA," said Kindig.

Kindig has worked as chairman of the Standards Task Force and would like to see the committee's work carried through. He would eventually like to se the liability taken off the backs of the state association and the policing duties taken off the local supervisors.

"You can't ask the supervisor to offer a service and be a cop too," said Kindig. "I see DHIA as a service organization. We've been in involved in some battles in the northeast for a year and a half. I want to see us get out from under some lawsuits which are costing DHIA members thousands of dollars."

Characteristic of the northeast is the large percentage of registered cattle which demands more rule enforcement.

Kindig and his wife Roberta farm 117 acres in Conestoga and milk 56 registered Holsteins. Roberta is a medical technician and is employed by the Lancaster Cardiovascular Associates.

Pennsylvania Milk Production Registers Increase

HARRISBURG — Milk production in Pennsylvania during February totaled 852 million pounds, an increase of 3 percent over the same month of 1988, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service.

The number of milk cows in the state during the month averaged 710,000 head, down 5,000 from January and 10,000 less than February 1988.

Milk production per cow averaged 1,200 pounds, down 40 pounds from January but 50 pounds more per cow than February 1988.

For the 21 states surveyed, February milk production totaled 9.83 billion pounds, virtually the same as a year earlier. Milk cows in those states averaged 8.56 million head, down 1 percent from a year earlier. Production per cow averaged 1,148 pounds, 72 pounds less than the preceding month but 13 pounds more than February 1988.

During the October-December 1988 period, the 21 selected states produced 85.1 percent of U.S. milk production. If producers in the remaining states followed the same production pattern as those surveyed on March 1, then U.S. milk production would be 11.5 billion pounds in February.

Neutral detergent fiber:	42.1%	34.4%	62.3%

Without testing, would it be possible for the farmer to determine the differences among these three loads by sight, touch, and smell? Probably not, sellers were charged $3 per load for the nutritive testing, although the actual cost is between $10 and $14, according to Jim Rogers, a member of the organization and owner of Plum Bottom Farm.

Hay sales of this type have been successful in several western states. Since this was a first effort in Pennsylvania to promote hay in this manner, Rogers feels that the auction holds promise for the future: "Our objective was to demonstrate what hay was like and what nutritive value was, and we did that, no question." He does believe that the council needs to further inform farmers as to the value of nutritive testing, and certain responsibilities need to be established. For instance, should the buyer or seller be charged for the testing? It would seem that both benefit, Rogers pointed out. Also, who should be held responsible for the test results?

Nutritive testing must certainly be a step in the right direction for the sellers and purchasers of Pennsylvania hay. Testing would enable producers to be paid fairly for their product, while buyers would be able to tailor their purchases toward their intended uses. The Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council began this educational process on March 20, but as Rogers was quick to conclude, "You only eat an elephant one bite at a time, and we took the first bite!"

Stout Retires From Atlantic

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks) — William M. Stout, Coopersburg, retired from Atlantic Dairy Cooperative March 1, following 37 years of service to the dairy industry.

The special projects manager at Atlantic, Stout held a variety of leadership positions within the industry during his career. Chief among these was seven years as executive vice president and general manager of Lehigh Valley Farmers.

In this position, Stout managed the daily business affairs of the cooperative, which represented 1,200 dairy farmer members. He also was instrumental in the 1987 merger of Lehigh Valley Farmers and Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative into Atlantic.

"The merger probably was Bill Stout's biggest accomplishment," said Dr. Paul E. Hand, Atlantic's general manager. "It might not have happened without his seeing the wisdom of it, and exerting the leadership to bring it about."

Following the merger, Stout's number one assignment was to oversee the consolidation of the two former cooperatives' programs. This included the reorganization of Atlantic's milk hauling routes and the restructuring of the cooperative's membership districts.

Stout began his dairy career in 1952, after graduating from Penn State University with two degrees, one in animal husbandry, the other in entomology. He attended Penn State following service in Korea with a U.S. Army armored tank division.

His long career at Lehigh Valley Farmers was interrupted with a five-year stint at Sealtest Foods, where he was manager of field service for the East Coast Division.

When asked about the major changes he has seen in the industry over the years, Stout said: "The consolidation. Not only have farms disappeared, but so have most of the small milk dealers."

According to Stout, the smaller-scale dealers have either gone out of business or have "been swallowed up by conglomerates." The result has been added pressure on cooperative to match the professionalism of big business.

"Cooperatives have had to become more sophisticated," he said. "Their managers cna no longer be good old boys whose only duties are to dispatch tank trucks. They must be able to respond to the complex needs of modern marketing."

Stout plans to spend the first few months of retirement completing chores on his 22-acre farm.

USDA Withdraws "Bill-Back" Rule After Hearing Industry Concerns

WASHINGTON, DC — After hearing comments from the National Pork Producers Council and others in the meat industry, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has withdrawn its "bill-back" proposal. The plan would have allowed meat packers to bill back the cost of carcasses that are condemned because of sulfa or anitbiotic drug residues.

"NPPC is pleased this proposal was withdrawn because pork producers are already making gains in eliminating drug residues without adding more government regulations," said Mike Wheler, chairman of the NPPC Quality Assurance Committee. "For example, producers are developing a quality-assurance program through their own initiative. And producers already support identification of hogs at the first point of concentration."

The USDA Packers and Stockyards Administration had the proposal published in the "Federal Register" on May 24, 1988. They requested comments on the proposed rule to prevent drug and sulfa residue violations found in carcasses of swine and young calves and cull dairy cows.

Of the 258 comments received on the proposal, 87 percent opposed the concept. NPPC also worked with more than 40 congressmen in expressing concerns about this proposal.

The producer organization maintained individuals should be held accountable for causing residue violations. However, NPPC feared the proposal would unfairly place blame on innocent people. NPPC said current technology could not always trace the residue to the actual violator. Hogs might become contaminated in the present system of handling and regrouping animals going for sale.

Another concern was that existing residue tests are sometimes inaccurate, so numerous producers could be unfairly penalized.

Packers and Stockyards Administrator Bill Jones said withdrawal of the proposal does not alter USDA's commitment to assure a meat supply that is free of drug residues.

New Pennsylvania Budget Promotes Food Safety, State Products

HARRISBURG — Governor Robert P. Casey's proposed state budget provides substantial new support for food safety and for promotion of Pennsylvania products, state Agriculture Secretary, Boyd E. Wolff, said today.

"This is a comprehensive plan to improve our efforts to protect consumers and producers, and to promote Pennsylvania's leading industry," said Wolff.

The 1989-90 budget would provide the Department of Agriculture with $5.2 million in additional funding, an increase of 8.6 percent over the current year.

"This budget provides $390,000 for a marketing development effort that relies on promoting our products at home and abroad," Wolff said. "Our state's central location in the giant northeast market and the Port of Philadelphia offer our producers opportunities that exist in no other state."

Wolff pointed out the new budget adds $200,000 for a program to test laying flocks for Salmonella enteritidis.

The budget also would add $250,000 for increased food inspections. The Department of Agriculture inspects licensed food stores, processing plants, warehouses, transportation facilities, bakeries, bottling plants, nurseries, seed dealers and certain restaurants and concession stands.

"Food inspections are the foundation upon which we have constructed the highest consumer confidence in the world," Wolff said. "Our producers share our interest in food inspections because consumer confidence is the foundation upon which they build markets for their products."

Needlework Magic Fashioned Inside "Doll House"

By Sharon Schuster
Md. Correspondent

Nestled amongst the grand Victorian homes of New Windsor is a diminutive version of its stately neighbors. The structures around it tower over the fifteen feet wide 'doll house', as it is affectionately referred to by some. This cozy little cottage has been home to Doris Crawmer for the past twenty years. And she works magic in there.

The nimble fingers of this senior citizen are perpetually busy, fashioning dolls from scraps of material, pillows from remnants and rugs from bits of yarn. "I don't buy much. I'm economical," she explained. "I don't want to throw it away."

The eight rooms of her neat little home showcase her talents. The multi-colored afghan draped on the sofa was made on a 'daisy loom'. Doris constructed the throw pillows from various remnants and adorned the fronts with either fine embroidery work or latch hook designs.

"I just learned latch hook in September," recalled Doris. She sorted through leftover partial skeins of yarn, measured them into exact length pieces and made bundles with which to work. In that six-month period, she has made enough latch hook rugs to cover the floors of her bathroom and sitting room. She refers to some of her creations as "a hodgepodge."

Doris enjoys doing finer needlework as well. Samples of her beautiful crochet are decorative and functional. Doris regularly treats her family to "country style meals" on the big round dining room table which is draped with one of her crocheted tablecloths.

"I do my fancywork in the afternoons," explained Doris. And how did she get so good? "I made my living doing custom sewing for people. I've made suits and clothes. I can make anything." Doris also made all of her children's clothes as they went through school. Her daughter, Edna, was noted as 'the best dressed girl in school', in her senior class high school yearbook.

Perhaps the most popular of her creations are the fanciful dolls and toys that she makes lovingly, usually with a specific young child in mind. "As soon as I get something made, somebody wants it," she added.

There is no telling how many Raggedy Anns that Doris has made in her lifetime. A life-size Raggedy Ann occupies the rocker in the dining room. The doll with the famed smiling face adored by so many children for generations involved many hours to create. "It took eight hours to put the hair in - one strand at a time," she said. "She wears size two dress."

Her little egg people are a favorite with many. "My Humpty Dumptys are scattered all over the world," she said with a chuckle. She got the idea for the cute little toy with the endearing face from a picture in a newspaper - fifty years ago. Doris said that there are eight pieces to the Humpty Dumpty which are sown together on the machine. She adds a personal touch to each egg with a hand embroidered face. "The hardest part is stuffing the bent little legs," she explained. "It takes several hours to make one."

The machine that Doris has used during her lifetime of sewing was bought second-hand. "It was old when I got it," said Doris of her Singer model. "It's the one that came out of Noah's Ark."

Doris cares for her home as she does for her equipment. When a hole in the roof of the little horse barn behind her home developed, she climbed up the ladder and patched the hole herself. "I scramble up on the roof to clean the gutters." She keeps her yard neat, tending to the flower gardens that line the brick walk, mows the grass, and she is always the first to shovel the snow from the sidewalk along the street. How old is she? "Well, let's just say I'll never see seventy again."

Life hasn't been one smooth journey for Doris. Cataracts severely impaired her vision, to the point that she could not read or do the needlework she so dearly loved. In June, 1987, she underwent a cataract operation and implant procedure. It was a hold-your-breath kind of situation with the outcome uncertain. Incapacitated until September, Doris regained her sight. "I could see through the little holes in the patch before they took it off," she said. "Then I got my glasses and I could see. It was a long, hard haul. I feel like I'm out of jail." She said that her handcrafts are like "therapy - I've got something on the go all the time."

During her ordeal, Doris remained an active participant in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, of which she has been a member for forty-five years. Doris prays fervently, and she is often the first to put others in need on the prayer-chain at church. Active in the community, she volunters her time to help raise money for S.O.S. (Senior Overland Service), the Lioness Club of New Windsor, and other service organizations. Until her sight was impaired, Doris is also helped to prepare meals for Meals On Wheels for five and one-half years.

No stranger to hard work, ("Pappy said hard work never hurt anyone"), Doris continues to live the country lifestyle that she has known since childhood. She worked hard then and she continues to work hard now. She enjoys putting up vegetables in the summer and making her own dough for noodles in the winter. "I don't cook by recipe," she explained. "I just toss it in and it comes out good."

Doris Crawmer is well known for her dolls, hand puppets, rugs and fine needlework. But she never sells her creations. "It's a hobby," she said. "I just like to do it." Most of the items she makes are gifts for friends and family. "I would have to build a piece on to this house if I kept it all." And she would!

Doris does her "fancy work" in the afternoons. Here she works on a piece that she made by looking at a picture. She crocheted the dining room tablecloth.

Doris Crawmer works "magic" in her little doll house, in New Windsor. Creating handcrafts from remnants and bits & pieces of thread.

Doris poses with some of the fanciful dolls and toys she made. "My Humpty Dumptys' are scattered all over the world," she said. The life-sized Raggedy Ann is 36 inches high and wears a size two dress. It took eight hours just to put in the hair.

Buy Easter Eggs Now

Many of you will turn artist this weekend as you lend the Easter Bunny a helping hand getting all those eggs ready.

Whether you "hard boil" it or "hard cook" it, an egg still has to be peeled for easy eating. Several factors can lead to trouble in peeling hard cooked eggs. For one thing, they may be too fresh. For easy peeling an egg should be on the alkaline side. Over time, there is an exchange of gases which causes the albumen to become alkaline. If you plan on helping the Easter Bunny with coloring eggs, consider buying your eggs early. Keepthem covered and cold.

If you cook the eggs at too high a temperature or for too long a time you could also run into peeling problems. More likely you will get discolored yolks. A natural chemical reaction takes place when you cook eggs; the iron from the yolk combines with the sulphur from the white. This reaction is accelerated by heat. Eggs cooked at too high a temperature may end up with grayish yolks, a greenish ring in the white next to the yolk, and a tough, rubbery white.

A preferred method for hard cooking eggs is to start them in cold water, bring them to a rolling boil, turn off the heat, cover, leave eggs in the hot water for about 20 minutes, then cool them promptly in running cold water to stop further cooking.

If you have trouble with the shells cracking during cooking, try pricking a tiny hole in the large end of the eggs before cooking.

Supplies will be more than adequate for Easter this year and prices will be favorable.

In Pennsylvania, egg sizes and grades must be marked on the carton. The grades for quality are AA, A, and B. From the consumer's viewpoint, the higher the grade, the better the appearance of the cooked egg. The highest quality eggs have a large proportion of thick white which stands up well around a firm, high yolk.

Size is not related to quality grades. The sizes of eggs are determined by the minimum weight per dozen. Large eggs weigh at least 24 ounces, and medium eggs at least 21 ounces. There is a 3-ounce difference between sizes. Extra large eggs weigh at least 27 ounces, and small eggs at least 18 ounces. The smallest eggs (pee wees) are one-half the weight of the largest (jumbos).

Under normal conditions, a farmer collecting eggs will find that 23 percent are extra large, 46 percent are large, 26 percent are medium, 3 percent are jumbo and small, and about 5 percent are undergrade and cracked.

Egg prices are usually quoted on the basis of Grade A Large eggs. Extra large and jumbo eggs have premium prices, while medium and small eggs have lower prices. At present Grade A Large eggs are selling for 69 cents a dozen, it would take a nine-cent differential for the various sizes to be of equal value. This may change closer to Easter. In addition, you will want to watch for coupons, minimum purchases and specials for egg purchases.

Hard cooked eggs will keep up to one month when stored in your refrigerator. If you use decorated eggs for centerpieces and they are at room temperature for more than two hours, please don't eat them. They could make you ill. Be safe - not sorry!

Search Begins For 1989 Dairy Princess

HAMBURG (Berks) — All single young women who are between the ages of 16 and 24 and are from a dairy farm background are eligible to compete for the title of the 1989 Berks Co. Dairy Princess. The contest is open to all of Berks County.

The Berks County Dairy Princess Pageant will be held on Saturday, May 6, at the Berks County Agricultural Center at 7:00 PM. The winner will be eligible to vie in the state contest for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess. Tammy Balthaser, Berks County's 1988 Dairy Princess, served as the first Alternate Pa. State Dairy Princess this past year.

Any single woman who has completed her junior year in high school; is not over 24 years of age; never married, never had children, and will not marry during her reign; is a daughter of a dairy farmer, a dairy farm manager or herdsman within the last 4 years, or herself is a fulltime employee on an operating Dairy farm, or the owner of as least two dairy animals in a bona fide 4-H or FFA project prior to May 1, 1989; and have her parents' or guardians' consent may compete for the title.

The winner of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant receives a $500 Cash award. The first and second runner-up will receive a $300 and $200 cash award respectively. The state title is honorary and there would be no interruption of school or regular employment plans. The State Pageant is coordinated through the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services Inc.

The Berks County Committee is also looking for little girls, ages 4-6 years old, whose parents are involved in dairy farming in Berks County to vie for the title of Li'l Miss Berks County Dairy Princess. A winner will be chosen during the Berks County Dairy Princess Pageant on May 6th. The little girl will also be asked to make several promotional appearances with the County Dairy Princess during the coming year.

Young women and little girls who are interested in entering the contests should contact Clarinda Leatherman at R.D.#2, Box 2770, Hamburg, Pa 19522. Telephone: 215-562-4161. Application deadline is April 1, 1989.

Disposal Of Hazardous Waste

ITHACA, NY — What are you going to do with those flashlight batteries that no longer work? How will you dispose of leftover paint, stain or varnish? You're moving and you have many almost-empty cans of polish, disinfectants and other household chemicals. What can you do instead of pouring them down the drain?

The authors of a new Cornell Cooperative Extension Fact Sheet, "Disposal of Household Hazardous Waste," tell you how to dispose of the chemicals you use daily without harming the environment. Their guidelines tell you what you can safely pour down a drain and what you must not discard but recycle or send to a special collection instead.

The information was prepared by Linda Wagenet, Ann Lemley and Judy Stewart. Wagenet is an extension associate and Lemley is an associate professor in the Department of Textiles and Apparel of the New York State College of Human Ecology, and Stewart is an editor in the Department of Media Services at Cornell University.

The authors provide information on chemical products for personal care, home care and maintenance, automobile and motor care and lawn and garden care. They give a bibliography and references for nontoxic alternatives.

"Disposal of Household Hazardous Waste" (329FSHHW) is available for 75 cents which covers shipping and handling. Requests should be sent to: Cornell University Distribution, 7 Research Park, Ithaca, N.Y. 14850. Cornell Cooperative Extension offices in counties in New York State also may have copies of this resource.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Basket in hand, the search begins.

Behind the couch? No. Behind the chair? Not there, either. Upstairs, in the college student's temporarily empty closet? Nothing.

Under the youngest's bed? Only a box of clay shooting targets and a bicycle helmet there. Back down two flights of stairs to the basement. Behind the old easy chair sits the folding cattle show table and a toolbox. Not what this search is about. Nothing in the laundry area either, save the usual pile of manure and grease-spattered flannel shirts and jeans.

Ahhh, maybe the attic? Back up three flights of stairs.

But a first, and than a second. quick trip around the attic turns up not the faintest clue to the "nest" intended for the basket in my hand.

By this time, my search helper is growing more bewildered by the moment. She paces and pleads.

"Well, where did you put them?" I growl in frustration at the small, wide-eyed face.

Just the day before, a sort of homesickness had washed over me. Our days of Easter season hunts through the house with excited little ones are history. I felt a few pangs of nostalgia for years past, for bright baskets filled with colored eggs and foil-wrapped chocolate. For repeated pleadings to hide, hunt, find and fill the baskets in the annual Easter hide-n-seeks.

Now, less than 24 hours later, this hunt to fill the wicker basket has commenced. And the contents intended for the basket are nowhere to be found.

"Where did you put your kittens?" I demanded of the anxious, whining mother of four chubby — and vanished — balls of fur.

This was not at all the sort of Easter hunt I'd felt a motherly longing for this spring holiday season.

Independent spirit that she is, the cat had sneaked into the eldest's bedroom to deliver her latest litter. A box lined with soft fabric, waiting in the basement for this purpose, had simply been ignored.

Later, I'd moved the proud feline and her family into the box in the basement. She promptly lugged one back upstairs to the braided rug under the kitchen table.

This is a re-run of similar action a year ago. A compromise was negotiated and the kittens — like last year — were settled down behind the living room couch for a temporary stay. She is at least a fastidious cat, keeping her kittens and their "nest" impeccably clean and odor free.

Then came this new glitch, apparent memory loss of the cat, who prowls the couch with plaintive calls. Sure, she might be clean, but what sort of mother mislays four children?

Easter is, after all, about the miracle of life. Now, the four tiny new lives in the house can't even be found.

Two more trips up the attic stairs, the cat still whining and pacing, turns up nothing. And, the cheerful chirping of birds in the branches overhanging the roof sends her into greater tail-twitching frustration.

I finally abandon the hunt with the basket. Let the cat search awhile for her own nest.

After all, other new life must be tended to. Baby calves wait for their bottles, and tiny seedlings need watering against the bright sunshine beyond the glass.

High in the very top of one of the old maple trees, the first robin to return to the backyard sings at the top of his voice. He, too, signifies the new beginnings of the Easter season. Let's just hope he knows more about parenting babies than does this confounded cat.

Later, with no sign of either cat or kittens, I trot back upstairs to the second floor. A familiar whine answers my call. There, under a dresser in the hallway, is the missing "nest," busy having breakfast.

Our basketful of new life has again been filled. Maybe I'll celebrate the successful completion of this Easter search with a chocolate bunny.

With all that running up and down stairs, I figure I've earned it.

Happy Easter!

1 pound confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
3 tablespoons milk
3 tablespoons butter
8 ounces peanut butter
½ pound rolled graham crackers
1 egg
2 teaspoons vanilla

Mix thoroughly and form into eggs. Lay on waxed paper until set or dry on the outer edges (about 1 hour). Dip in chocolate.

Dipping Chocolate:
6 ounces chocolate chips
1 box parafin wax
2 tablespoons margarine
1 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt in double boiler. Dip peanut butter eggs in chocolate. Set on waxed paper until chocolate is hardened.

GERMAN EASTER BRAID

16 ounces yeast hot roll mix
½ cup golden raisins
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons butter, softened
¼ teaspoon almond or anise extract
1 egg

Topping:
⅓ cup honey
⅓ cup butter, softened
2 tablespoons sliced almonds
Colored hard-cooked eggs, if desired

In large bowl, combine yeast from foil packet with flour mixture; mix well. Add raisins, lemon peel, water, 2 tablespoons butter, almond extract and egg; stir until dough pulls cleanly away from sides of bowl. Turn dough onto floured surface. With greased or floured hands, shape dough into ball. Knead dough for 5 minutes until smooth. Cover dough with large bowl; let rest 5 minutes. Grease large cookie sheet.

Divide dough into three equal parts. On lightly floured surface, shape each into 22-inch rope. Braid ropes loosely from center to each end, overlapping every other rope. Place on prepared cookie sheet and shape into circle; pinch ends together to seal. Cover completely with towel. Heat oven to 375 degrees. On countertop, let dough rise 30 minutes on cookie sheet set over large pan to which very hot water has been added. Uncover dough. Bake at 375 degrees, for 14 to 18 minutes or until light golden brown.

In small bowl, combine honey and one-third cup butter; brush 2 tablespoons over braid immediately after removing from oven and bake an additional 5 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet; cool on wire rack. Serve remaining honey-butter mixture as accompaniment to bread. Garnish center of braid with colored hard-cooked eggs. (Store eggs in refrigerator). 1 loaf.

EASTER CHEESE

Add:
2 dozen eggs
1¼ cups sugar
¼ cup white raisins

Stir constantly until it separates. Take off stove immediately and add 2 teaspoons vanilla. Pour into cheese cloth. Tie and hang overnight in a cool place. Next day bake in 375 degree oven until golden brown. Cool before serving.

½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar

Blend in:
1 unbeaten egg
⅓ cup peanut butter
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt

Stir in:
1 cup flour
1 cup oatmeal

Spread in 13x9-inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven. Sprinkle one package of chocolate chips over the top; let set for 5 minutes. Spread evenly over the top.

Combine the following and drizzle over chocolate:
½ cup confectioners' sugar
¼ cup peanut butter
4 tablespoons canned milk

HONEY GLAZED HAM

3 to 4-pound boneless, fully cooked, smoked ham half
¼ cup packed light brown sugar
1 tablespoon honey
¼ teaspoon ground allspice

Place ham on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in 325 degree oven until thermometer registers 325 to 340 degrees. Allow approximately 18 to 25 minutes per pound. Meanhwhile combine brown sugar, honey and allspice with fork; mixture will be dry and crumbly. Carefully spread mixture over ham 15 minutes before end of cooking time.

Featured Recipe

The traditional Easter egg inspired this Chocolate-Glazed Ice Cream Egg, easily molded in a melon mold or bowl. A delicious mixture of flaked coconut, chopped pecans and chocolate ice cream covers a layer of strawberry ice cream. All is frozen and later covered with a semi-sweet chocolate glaze. Finally, show your creative hand by making decorations with Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting.

Chocolate-Glazed Ice Cream Egg

½ cup Baker's Angel Flake coconut
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped pecans
1 pint strawberry ice cream, softened
1 pint chocolate ice cream, softened
Semi-Sweet Glaze
Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting*
*Or use commercial decorating icing.

Combine coconut, butter and pecans in skillet. Cook and stir until golden brown. Cool.

Spoon strawberry ice cream into 4-cup melon mold or bowl. Fold coconut mixture into chocolate ice cream and spoon over strawberry ice cream. Freeze until firm, at least 4 hours or overnight. Dip mold briefly into warm water and unmold onto waxed paper. Return to freezer. Spread Semi-Sweet Glaze over mold to cover completely. Decorate with Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting, tinted if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Semi-Sweet Glaze—Place 3 squares Baker's semi-sweet chocolate, 3 tablespoons water and 1 tablespoon butter in a saucepan. Stir constantly over low heat, until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. Combine 1 cup sifted confectioners sugar and dash of salt in small bowl. Gradually blend in chocolate mixture and ½ teaspoon vanilla. For thinner glaze, add a small amount of water. Makes about ¾ cup glaze.

Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting

6 tablespoons butter of margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pound (about 4 cups) sifted confectioners sugar
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 tablespoon (about) milk

Cream butter with salt and vanilla. Add sugar alternately with egg whites, beating well after each addition. Add milk and beat until smooth and of spreading consistency. Makes 2-½ cups frosting.

QUESTION — A Myerstown reader requests a recipe for mustard eggs.

QUESTION — Mrs. Preston Gantz of Seven Valleys would like a recipe for sweet potato ice cream.

ANSWER — Belinda Myers of Dallastown wanted a recipe for marble cake made from scratch. Thanks to Helen F. Engle of Berlin, Anna Martin of Reinholds, Anna Fisher of Gordonville, Ruth E. Getz of Mechanicsburg, Mrs. Preston Gantz of Seven Valleys, and Janet Hartman of Chambersburg for sharing their recipes.

Marble Cake

3 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 egg whites, beaten to form stiff peaks
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
4 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup boiling water
2½ teaspoon baking soda

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add flour with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat until smooth. Add vanilla; fold in egg whites. To melted chocolate, add sugar and boiling water. Add baking soda and stir. Cool. Divid batter into two parts. To one part add chocolate mixture. Put by tablespoon into a greased 10x10x2-inch pan, alternating light and dark mixtures. Bake in 350-degree oven for 55 minutes. Spread with your favorite white or chocolate frosting.

Marble Brownie Cake

1 stick margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Cream margarine and sugar; add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Sift flour over nuts, add to creamed mixture with vanilla. Pour batter into 9x9x2-inch greased, flour pan. Drop chocolate by spoonfuls over batter. Bake in 400-degree oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 325 degrees. Bake for 15 minutes longer. Remove from oven; cool on rack. Ice with fudge frosting if desired.

QUESTION — Theresa Pettitt of Troy wanted the recipe for pudding pops made with instant pudding that appeared in Lancaster Farming previously. Apparently there were a few different recipes that ran at various times. Thanks to Alta M. Hoshour of Bowmansville, Betty Evans of Pequea, Lana Stoner of Greencastle, Marla Stauffer of Ephrata, and Alpha Kaufman of Somerset for sending in the recipes.

Chocolate Pudding Pops

1 small package chocolate pudding
3½ cups milk
½ cup sugar

Mix well and cook as directed for chocolate pudding. This mixtures will be thinnre than regular pudding. Pour into molds and freeze overnight. Makes 18-20.

Chocolate Pudding Pops

1 package instant chocolate pudding mix
2 cups milk
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ cup sugar

Add milk to pudding mix and stir thoroughly. Add sugar and evaporated milk; pour into containers and freeze.

Pudding Bars

1 small package instant chocolate pudding mix
½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar

Prepare pudding as directed on package. Add milk and sugar. Pour into ice pop molds and freeze.

Gelatin frozen bar

1 package powdered drink mix
3 ounces flavored gelatin
¾ cup sugar
2 cups hot water
2 cups cold water

Add boiling water to gelatin, sugar, and drink mix. Stir until dissolved. Add cold water and pour into individual containers. Freeze.

ANSWER — Doris Tressler of Gettysburg wanted a recipe for pickled whole green tomatoes. Thanks to Naomi Glick of Smoketown and Bonnie Hogg of West Grove for sending in theirs.

Dill Green Tomatoes

Medium-sized green tomatoes
Cold water
Garlic
Dill
Whole, mixed pickle spices
Vinegar
Salt

Wash tomatoes and let stand overnight in cold water. Wash jars, put a grape leaf in the bottom of jars. Add tomatoes. To each jar add garlic clove, 1 stem of dill, 1 teaspoon pickle spice and top with grape leaf. Fill jars with hot salt water and seal. Make hot salt water increasing or decreasing proportions based on this formula: 3 quarts water, 1 pint vinegar, 1 cup salt.

Set jars on newspaper; they will get cloudy and ferment. When clear, clean outside of jars and store in cool place.

EASTER BREAD

Dough:
1 cup warm milk
2 packages dry yeast
1 cup butter, softened
½ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cardamom
5 to 5½ cups flour

Filling:
1 cup prepared apricot filling
½ cup chopped dates
Confectioners sugar glaze
Whole strawberries (optional)

For dough, place warm milk in warmed, large mixer bowl; dissolve yeast in milk. Stir in butter, sugar, eggs, salt, cardamom and 2 cups of the flour. Beat until smooth. Mix in enough of the remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Turn dough out on lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and satiny, about 10 minutes. Place in buttered bowl, turning buttered side up. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1½ hours. Meanwhile, for filling, combine apricot filling and dates; set aside. Punch dough down; divide into 3 equal parts. Roll each in a 12x10-inch rectangle. Spoon one third of the filling down center third of dough. Fold sides over so they meet at center of filling; seal. Place dough seam side down on buttered baking sheet. Snip strips 1-inch wide almost to center on both sides of coffeecake. Turn each strip on its side. Reapeat with remaining dough and filling. Cover; let rise until double, about 30 minutes. Preheat over to 375 degrees. Bake until golden, about 18 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Drizzle glaze, overall. Garnish with whole strawberries.

YUMMY CRUNCH BARS

½ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon baking powder
2½ cup marshmallows
¾ cup flour
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts, optional

Cream butter and sugar. Beat in eggs, vanilla, baking powder and flour. Stir in nuts. Spread mixture into large greased pan. Bake 15 to 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove from oven and evenly place marshmallows over top and return to oven for two minutes. Allow to cool 30 minutes. Sprea with topping.

Topping:
1 cup chocolate chips
1 cup peanut butter
1½ cup rice crispies

Pickled Whole Green Tomatoes*

4 teaspoons mustard seed
4 teaspoons pickling spice
6 garlic cloves, chopped
6 sprigs fresh dill
1 teaspoon peppercorns
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon all spice
Hot peppers, to taste, optional
4 cups water

*Recipe is for one gallon.

ANSWER — Linda Mguyen, Millinpton, N.J., requested a recipe for diet ricotta cheese cake. Thanks to Anna Martin of Reinholds for sending in her recipe, which uses cottage cheese instead of ricotta.

Low Calorie Cheesecake

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup reconstituted nonfat dry milk
4 eggs, separated
Artificial sweetener equivalent to 1¼ cups sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
3 cups creamed cottage cheese
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
⅓ cup graham cracker crumbs
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
1½ teaspoons nutmeg

Sprinkle gelatin over milk in top of double boiler; add egg yolks. Stir until thoroughly blended. Place over hot water; stir constantly for about 5 minutes or until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly. Remove from heat; stir in sweetener, salt, peels, lemon juice, vanilla, and almond flavoring. Beat cottage cheese at high speed with mixer for at least four minutes or until smooth. Stir into gelatin mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until stiff peaks form; fold into gelatin mixture. Combine curmbs, cinnamon, and nutmeg, mixing well.

Sprinkle about half of the crumb mixture on the bottom of a 8- or 9-inch springform pan. Pour gelatin mixture into pan; sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture. Chill until firm. Remove from pan to large plate for serving. Serves 12.

Celebrate The Family Symposium

WILLIAMSPORT, PA — "Celebrate the Family" will be the theme of the Fifth Eastern Symposium on Building Family Strengths. Sponsored by Penn State Cooperative Extension, the symposium will be conducted at the Penn State Campus March 28-31.

The sessions will concentrate on strengthening the family by focusing on the collective family members as well as on the particular problems and needs of the individual members.

"Fostering Effective Parent - Teen Communication," "Shoulds, Wants, and Wills in Educating for Wellness," "Especially for Dads: Having Fun With Your Children," are examples of the diverse workshops that will be presented.

Highlighting the first day of the symposium program will be the keynote address, "The Family As A Safe Place," by Hedda Bluestone Sharapan, Associate Producer of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood."

"Personal Effectiveness: The Human Factors," will be discussed by Dr. Ron Daly, national program leader in Human Development and Family Relations, Extension Service, U.S.A., Washington, D.C.

Dr. James E. VanHorn, Associate Professor of Family Sociology at Penn State, is coordinating the symposium. VanHorn has written and spoken extensively on fortifying American families, and is the author of the Associated Press's feature column "Family Focus."

Also, available at the symposium will be post-symposium courses and workshops, a book exhibit and connection corner, which is a special place for symposium participants to meet and share program ideas and successes.

Pre-registration is required. Lycoming County Cooperative Extension office has Brochures and Registration Forms. For such information, call 327-2350.

Berks County Record Books

On February 1 record books were judged by Berks County Vocational Agriculture teachers. These books were done by students from Twin Valley, Tulpehocken and Kutztown High Schools. The record books include things such as the students animal projects and work experience records. Twin Valley students placed in the following order — first place in the horticulture division was Eric Marshall, third in dairy division was Chuck Stolzfus. In sheep breeding, first went to Bunny Hicks, second to Doug Shantz. In rabbit production first was Pam Harrison. First in swine production was Jill Burkhart. In horse production first went to Marybeth Hassler, second to Kathy Snyder, and third to Chris Duncan. For wildlife, in first was Steve Pavlesich, second was Dave Rost. For two-enterprises records, fourth was Keith Mcgowan. In the work experience category, 0 to 500 hours, second went to Jim Schmale, third to Kim Hubert; 500 to 1000 hours, second to Eric Marshall, third to Missy Fanning, and fourth to Lisa Hopps; 1000 to 1500 hours, first to Lisa Kimball, second to Dan Nonnemaker, third to Kris Keturakis; 1500 to 2000 hours, second to Denny Charron, and third to Brian Beam.

The overall total for first place books are: Tulpehocken 5, Twin Valley 7, and Kutztown 3. All first and second place students received a check for their excellent job in keeping these record books for the 1987-88 school year.

Easter Bonnets On Parade

Kid's Korner

BY LOU ANN GOOD

FLEETWOOD (Berks) — Easter festivies occupied many children this week.

At Richmond Elementary School in Fleetwood, elementary students found several different ways to celebrate.

First graders had a homework assignment: Have their families help them make an Easter Bonnet.

On Tuesday the students modeled them before other classes. The students creations showed great talent for ideas and design. One wore a birds nest with artificial baby chicks hatching from their eggs. Another used an upside down bucket decorated like a chicken. Several had stuffed animals attached to their hats.

Two had sunbonnets, one with floppy bunny ears and a fuzzy tail on the back, another with spring flowers.

One boy had an Amish hat with colored eggs and straw on top.

There were no two decorated alike. All were fabulous.

Students find Easter bunny

Second graders at Richmond Elementary had an Easter Egg Hunt. Their mothers hid eggs on the school grounds. Then the students scampered about hunting for them.

While the students stashed eggs in their bags and baskets, surprise! They found baby rabbits hiding in a nest. Do you think it was the real Easter Bunny?

If you can't find a delightful Easter bonnet to suit your taste, make your own. That's what these students at Richmond Elementary School did. Chicks, eggs and bunnies nestled in the students hats. One wore an Abe Lincoln top hat decorated in true Easter style. Purple was the in color. But as you can see, anything goes.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Reducing the fat, calories and sodium in an Easter dinner or any other big festive dinner is easy. Choose turkey or a lower-salt lean ham for the meat. Choose a low-calorie vegetable, such as broccoli or asparagus, rather than peas or corn. For dessert, a scoop of frozen yogurt and a simple sugar cookie can replace a large slice or rich dessert.

For a really large group, cook turkey or ham in your conventional oven and save your microwave for reheating potatoes and for cooking vegetables. For smaller groups, you may want to micro-cook potatoes and vegetables warm, cook them in a microwave-safe glass serving dish (no Metal trim); when done, place foil over the cooking cover and cover with a dish towel.

Potatoes and salad for your festive dinner could be made from today's light recipes (below). The original recipes, from my "Microwave Family Favorites" cookbook, make rich-tasting old-fashioned foods. These new versions are still delicious and rich-tasting, but contain only a third to half of the calories, fat and sodium.

The first recipe is a fruit salad with a light dressing. The cooked dressing contains no rich high-fat ingredients, no salt, no marshmallows and minimal sugar. The fruit salad is still refreshingly sweet and wonderful-tasting. Most of the canned fruit was replaced with fresh fruit; eggs were replaced with cornstarch.

The dressing cooks with no trouble in your microwave. Combine the liquid, sugar and cornstarch. Microwave until thick and bubbly, stirring just a couple of times to prevent lumping. Add fruit to the cooled dressing; and, that's it. Make it several days ahead and keep refrigerated until serving time.

The second recipe is for a wonderful-tasting au gratin potato casserole. The original uses frozen hash browns, a can of cream of mushroom soup, lots of Cheddar cheese, and lots of sour cream. The light version is a little more work, because you start with fresh potatoes and make your own low-fat, low-sodium version of cream of mushroom soup. Only half of the cheese and sour cream called for in the original is used in the light version. For a colorful and tasty topping, a light sprinkling of cornflake crumbs and paprika replaces the large amount of cornflake crumbs and butter in the original.

Micro-bake potatoes, then peel and cube them. (One word about potatoes: for this recipe, red or "boiling" potatoes are best. These give a firmer texture, and potato-cubes hold their shape better than with white or "baking" potatoes.) Cook the homemade low-fat, low-sodium mushroom soup in a couple of minutes. Add the warm potatoes, along with sour cream and cheese; microwave 5 to 7 minutes to heat. Surprisingly, total cooking time is only about 10 minutes more than when using frozen hash browns. However, because you are preparing all fresh ingredients, your time in the kitchen is longer.

Light Au Gratin Potatoes

5 large red potatoes (about 3¼ pounds, scrubbed
¾ cup chopped fresh mushrooms
½ cup finely chopped onion
1¼ cups water
½ cup non-fat dry milk powder
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ teaspoons low-sodium chicken bouillon granules
¼ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
¼ teaspoon white or black pepper
1 cup light dairy sour cream
1 cup shredded light sharp or medium Cheddar cheese
Salt and pepper (optional0
¼ cup fine cornflake crumbs
Paprika

Pierce each potato in two spots. Arrange in microwave in a circle with the center open. Microwave (High) 20 to 25 minutes, turning potatoes over halfway through cooking, or until almost done. Let stand until easy to handle; then peel and cut in cubes. Set aside.

Place mushrooms and onion in microwave-safe 3-quart casserole; cover with lid or plastic wrap. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2½ minutes or until tender. Stir in water; gradually stir in dry milk powder and cornstarch until smooth; stir in bouillon granules, thyme and pepper. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes, stirring after each 1½ minutes, or until thick and bubbly. Gently stir in warm cubed potatoes, sour cream and cheese. Cover with lid or waxed paper; microwave (High) 5 to 7 minutes, stirring after three minutes, or until mixture is hot. If desired, season to taste with salt and pepper. Sprinkle cornflake crumbs over potatoes; sprinkle lightly with paprika. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

To make ahead: Micro-bake potatoes; peel and cube. Tightly cover and refrigerate. Make mushroom soup mixture; cover and refrigerate. About 20 minutes before serving, warm soup mixture in microwave-safe 3-quart casserole by microwaving (High) 1½ to 2½ minutes. Gently stir in potato cubes. Cover with lid or waxed paper; microwave (High) 6 to 8 minutes, stirring once, or until hot. Gently stir in sour cream and cheese. Re-cover and microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes more, stirring once or until cheese melts. Sprinkle with topping, as above.

Each ½ -cup serving: 133 calories, 6g protein, 3g fat, 20g carbohydrate, 123mg sodium, 14mg cholesterol.

Prescription For Busy Parents

I vividly recall March of 1987, just two years ago as I was delving into my research for my master's degree. My research topic: Role strain of dual-provider families. My interest was more than just a professional one, as I was also five months pregnant with a research project to complete and a commitment to return to my job following my sabbatical.

This particular March I was attending a conference on work and family in Washington, D.C. One of the highlights was a video with information by Dr. T. Berry Brazelton, the Dr. Spock of the 1980s. I had studied Brazelton in my undergraduate days and found his research and child development philosophies relavant and helpful and have used them through the years.

However, that March morning, little was I prepared for Brazelton's strong statement regarding when women should return to work following the birth of a child. His report at that time was that the woman's role is in the home, and both mother and child will suffer is she is not. And indeed, I returned to the workplace without the "blessing" of Brazelton.

Now, two years later, Brazelton continues to be concerned about parent-child relationships and suggests that the research does not necessarily indicate a loss for both parent and child. He does, however, provide a practical prescription for juggling work and family life. Below is a summarization of the doctor's advice to ease the strain on harried parents as they were printed in a recent "Newsweek" article. I think this advice is good advice for all parents in all types of situations.

•Learn to compartmentalize—when you work, be there, and when you are at home, be at home.

•Prepare yourself for separating each day. Then prepare the child. Accompany your child to the caregiver.

•Allow yourself to grieve about leaving your baby—it will help you find the best substitute care, and you'll leave the child with a passionate parting.

•Let yourself feel a degree of guilt. It is a real feeling and a powerful force for finding solutions and alternatives that you can live with.

•Find others to share your stress—peer or family members will do.

•Include your spouse in the work of the family.

•Face the reality of working and caring. Discard of supermom, superdad or superbaby fantasies.

•Learn to save up energy in the day to be ready for homecoming. Concentrate on getting close to children as soon as you walk in the door, then everything that follows becomes family time, be it working, playing or talking.

•Investigate all the options availabe at your workplace such as on-site or nearby day care, shared job options, flexible time arrangements, and sick leave.

•Plan for children to fall apart when you arrive home after work. They've saved up all their strongest feelings all day.

•Take children along as you do chores. Teach them to help with the housework, and give them approval when they do.

•Have a special time alone with each child every day if possible.

•Don't let yourself be overwhelmed by stress. Instead, enjoy the pleasures of solving problems together. You can establish a pattern of working as a team.

Balancing work and family is an issue for single- and dual-provider families. In my opinion, it's time to stop arguing what is right or wrong for other families and individuals and get on with the business of supporting them in whatever role they have chosen. Hopefully, there's something in the above prescription that will be helpful in supporting you in your role as parent.

Bob Wiker of Ronks, PA says his AgTec "retired" his Brand X Sprayer

"The other sprayer would not penetrate sweet corn and I had to save the crop. I talked to a neighbor about my problem and he said the AgTec was the only sprayer to use in sweet corn. So I bought the AgTec and it gave me what I needed in the field — penetration. I got the coverage I needed and I had clean corn."

"Then I tried it on my other crops — tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli and brussel sprouts. Now I spray all 77 acres with Ag-Tec."

"I can't afford to use the other sprayer on my vegetables. The AgTec cuts the cost of chemical application and saves me time in the field which I can use elsewhere. That's a deal I'll take anytime."

York County Farmer's Association celebrated National Ag Day by providing more than 300 hot meals of locally-grown York County commodities at Our Daily Bread soup kitchen.

York Farmers Feed The Hungry

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK — In celebration of National Ag Day, York farmers did what America's farmers have always done: feed the hungry.

York County Farmers' Association manned Our Daily Bread soup kitchen in downtown York on Monday, March 20, providing more than 300 hot noontime meals of homegrown York County foods.

Laden with several hundred pounds of locally-produced, donated commodities, Association members provided the manpower to prepare, serve and clean up the dinner designed to share the county's bounty with the less fortunate.

On the menu were 35 pounds each of roast pork and beef, 150 pounds of parsley potatoes, 80 pounds of corn, 15 gallons of ice cream, 6 gallons of milk and 300 apples.

Keeney's Produce, growing under irrigation last summer, contributed the drought-scarce potatoes. Ice cream was courtesy of Rutter's Dairy, milk from Perrydell Dairy Farm, with apples provided by Brown's Orchards. Numerous other members assisted with contributions, preparations, and cooking food at home.

Support for the feeding program got an additional boost with a monetary collection taken at the Association's recent spring dinner meeting. Those contributions enabled the farmers' group to further donate $150 to Our Daily Bread, beyond the Ag Day meal provisions.

York's state director to PFA, Ellis Crowl, stirred kettles of corn in Our Daily Bread's kitchen, and observed that the Ag Day event was a positive one, countering the "bad press" farmers have suffered recently on food contamination issues.

"This was one of the best projects I've ever been part of," was the enthusiastic opinion of Deb Rohrbaugh, chairman of the York Farmer's Association's women's committee. "We had to turn down members who wanted to help. It was a good experience; we'll probably try to make it an annual event."

She credits the idea to member Pat Sueck, who assists her church group once each month at Our Daily Bread. Sharing an Ag Day meal with the locally hungry is the first such effort for York's Farmers Association. For several years past, the group's project was presenting commodity baskets to families of the first babies born at local hospitals on Ag Day.

Jack and Sandy Dehoff added ice cream and fresh apples to trays, while Alma Taylor right, offered bread and butter.

York Farmers

"We felt we could reach more people in this manner," emphasized Pat Sueck, trying to talk with local media representatives between dishing up servings of beef from a steaming roasting pan.

Our Daily Bread opened in September 1983, serving 12 guests in the basement of downtown York's Cristo Salvador Church. Within three months, more than one hundred meals were being served daily, and 30 area churches supplying food and labor to help staff the soup kitchen one day per month.

On March 28, 1988, Our Daily Bread moved to its present location at 331 South George Street. Local churches and civic groups continue their support with finances, food and labor, feeding an average of 300 daily.

Smiles were in abundance on both sides of Our Daily Bread's serving line, with guests expressing appreciation to the farmers, and farmers enthusiastic about lending a hand.

Stacking used trays and glasses, member Phyllis Gross observed that the Ag Day observance, for her, struck a thoughtful note: "Sometimes we get so involved in our own problems that we forget the problems of others."

And, a smiling Alma Taylor, adding slices of bread and butter pats to trays on the serving line, seemed to sum up the feelings of farmers who spent their Ag Day at Our Daily Bread.

"I wouldn't have missed this for the world."

Are Oats The Magic Ingredient To Controlling Cholesterol?

SCRANTON (Lackawanna) — It seems everybody is aware that oat products lower cholesterol levels. Studies have shown that the soluble fiber in oats can lower blood cholesterol levels, particularly Low Density Lipoprotein (LDL) cholesterol, the "bad" cholesterol, and may help lower the risk of heart disease.

Over 20 years ago, Dutch scientists began studying the effects of eating rolled oats on cholesterol levels of men with unrestricted diets. They found that after three weeks their average total blood cholesterol level dropped; however, when they stopped eating the oats, their cholesterol levels rose within two weeks.

More recent studies have indicated that diets which included rolled oats reduced specifically the LDL cholesterol. Levels of High Density Lipoprotein (HDL) cholesterol, the "good" cholesterol, and triglycerides did not change very much.

Oats contain several types of fiber, one of which is oat gum. Oat gum appears to be the major reason why oat products lower blood cholesterol. Oat bran is richer in oat gum than regular rolled oats. Noting this difference, research began on the effects of eating oat bran.

Data from this research suggested that:

1. The soluble fiber in oats can lower LDL cholesterol without changing the HDL cholesterol levels in adults. This was especially true for those with high total blood cholesterol.

2. Oat bran is more effective than oatmeal since it contains more oat gum, the soluble fiber responsible for lowering blood cholesterol.

3. With no other changes in your diet, one would need to eat about 3½ -4 ounces of oat bran to see a maximum 15-20% reduction in cholesterol. It appears that a person would have to eat twice the amount of oatmeal to achieve the same lowering of blood cholesterol.

4. The effects of oat fiber are not permanent. A person must keep eating it to maintain the lowered level of blood cholesterol.

5. Eating oat products while lowering saturated fats and cholesterol in one's diet has a greater effect in lowering blood lipids (fat).

Based on these studies, it is suggested that oatmeal and oat bran be included in your daily diet. However, be careful when choosing your oat products. Plain oatmeal or oat bran are good choices, but be cautious about prepared oat cereals and products. Read the labels since many of these products also contain coconut oil, a saturated fat that will raise your blood cholesterol, sodium, which raises blood pressure, and sugar.

Oats are not the magic formula for control of your blood cholesterol. Eating a well-balanced diet low in fat and cholesterol plays a major part in fighting the cholesterol war.

Follow the American Heart Association's recommendations for selecting and preparing food for a healthy diet.

* Adjust total calories to achieve and maintain ideal body weight.

* The total fat in the diet should comprise no more than 30-35% of the total daily calories.

* Reduce dietary cholesterol to less than 300 mgs. per day.

* Increase consumption of complex carbohydrates, primarily whole grains, fruits and vegetables.

* Avoid excess sodium.

If you would like to learn more about how you and your family can eat properly to be in good health, then reserve Thursday, April 27, for "family health awareness day." Over 15 agencies, organizations and businesses are cooperating to sponsor this free event at Allied Health Services on the Morgan Highway in Scranton.

"Family health awareness day" will be held from 10:00 a.m. - 8:00 p.m. It will include lectures, cooking demonstrations, health screenings and a children's nutrition fair. More details regarding the event will be published as the date nears.

The greenhouse offers 26,000 tulips, for Easter customers.

The Story Behind A Blooming Easter

BY LOU ANN GOOD

MOHNTON (Berks) — Those fragrant, colorful blooms that usher in the Easter season require months of hard work and careful monitoring to bring them to maturity at the right moment.

Ray Good, manager of Good's Greenhouse, Mohnton, ought to know. "For the last few weeks I've been up with the tulips and hyacinths and only averaging four to five hours of sleep per night, he said.

He and his staff of 12 full-time and 14 part-time employees began this season's floral preparation last April. Despite careful planning, an early Easter presents difficulties in getting plants to bloom in time. "Scheduling of crops is an art. We're sweating out some lilies," Good said.

The greenhouse, which heats 34,000 square feet and has an additional 65,000 square feet of undercover plants, offers customers 2,000 Easter lilies, 15,000 hyacinths, 26,000 tulips and thousands of other plants and flower arrangements to brighten the Easter season.

Good explained that lily bulbs need to be dug up in the summer, replanted 120 days before Easter, put in cold storage and conditioned by cooling at a series of temperatures until mature.

Bulbs are treated for fungus, insects and aphids and receive an application of liquid growth regulator. As growth emerges, a growth retardant is applied so that the plant blooms at Easter time instead of before. But it must be gvien carefully as too much will stunt growth.

When the growth is approximately four inches in height, Good takes samples on about two percent of the plants by cutting them off at the base. With a magnifying glass, he counts the leaves and buds to determine the average time needed for maturity.

Conditioning may create an extra bud, but Good explained that the leaf and bud count is determined by the bulb in the growing field.

Plants are graded according to height and buds. Ideally, every plant should be blooming by Good Friday. Ordinarily, 85 percent are ready.

"Having an Easter lily after Easter is like trying to sell a pointsetta after Christmas," Good said.

In addition to blooms, profits depend upon the economy and the weather. Good purchases tulip bulbs directly from Holland. Since the dollar fluctuates and orders are placed a year in advance, he said, "Buyers can lose their necks. Bulbs can cost as much as 50 percent more, but customers aren't willing to pay that high of an increase."

Weather plays a direct role in profit making. Good recalls that several years ago, a snow storm hit the area during Easter. "We advertised heavily and sold two and three plants for the price of one. We got rid of the plants, but we did not make a profit," he said.

Good is the fifth generation to carry on the greenhouse operation. His ancestors settled in the Alleghenny Valley in the 1600s. Stories passed from generation to generation recount that his great-great grandmother traveled weekly to Reading on horseback, saddlebags stuffed with produce to sell to city dwellers.

Ray's dad, Arthur, who continues as secretary of the greenhouse corporation, was the first in the family to plant bedding and foliage.

"At one time," Ray recalls, "there were seven greenhouses within one mile of their present location. Six of those were owned by relatives. Today ours is the only one active."

Ray remarked that the business has changed a lot during his tenure. He said, "When I was a boy, bedding flats weighted 35 to 40 pounds. Today the soil mix is scientifically compiled and a planted flat only weights 10 pounds."

The switch from clay pots to plastic also resulted in easier handling.

Ray admits as a boy, he did not enjoy the heavy lifting and balancing required in the greenhouse. "Today we use monorails and carts to transport plants. We can carry on a bag wagon what previously required a three-fourth ton truck."

In addition to being born into the greenhouse vocation, Ray has gleaned horticulture expertise from participating in short courses at Penn State, seminars, working with county extension agents, friendships with curators of places such as Longwood Gardens, and in studying hundreds of books and magazines devoted to the subject.

Good's Greenhouse is a family-operated business that has its roots since the 1600s. From left: Ray, Harriet, Daniel, Arthur and Esther Good.

In addition to holiday plants, the greenhouse also specializes in green plants, a separate department with one of the county's widest varieties of perennials and dwarf shrubbery, shrubbery, herbs, fresh and silk flowers, arrangements and florist supplies, fertilizers, insecticides, and domestic and imported containers.

"We cater to retail marketing," Good remarked. Although the greenhouse does wholesale business, Good is careful to keep enough stock for their retailing business.

Marketing trends show that customers are leaning toward higher-priced items and top quality. "Today we deal with educated clientel who often know what they want," Good said.

For those who do have questions, Good, who spends 50 percent of his time in research and development, is available. The two-way radio he wears makes him readily accessible.

During the Easter season, flower stands seen to sprout up almost everywhere. Good commented, "These places generally do not do justice to either the customer or the plant." He explained that often customers do not get quality in the open-air stands, for vendors usually sell left-over stock from reputable greenhouses. Plants, in these places, often are not properly watered and if exposed to wind and cold can become damaged. Buying from greenhouses is advantageous to customers because the plants and quality offered are tops.

Ray, his wife, Harriet, and their six children are involved in the greenhouse business. Harriet is in charge of transplanting.

"The business has allowed us to put our children through parochial school. We encourage them to work one year with the family operation and then pursue whatever profession they desire," Ray said.

To date, most of his family prefer to remain with the business. Son Calvin is in charge of maintenance and growing, while his wife, Roxanne, is in charge of the floral department and the designing. Carol Ann, who retired this month to become a full-time housewife, managed quality control and personnel; her husband, Rich, is in charge of soil mixes. Cathleen is currently serving a mission term in Arkansas working with handicapped children. Cheryl is a senior who works part-time at the cash register and in the greenhouse. Six-year-old Clinton and Conrad, 7, get involved by cleaning up and helping wherever needed.

Ray's brother Daniel is controller. His mother, Esther, and father, Arthur, are in charge of the large herb department and of seeding.

"It's a family business," Ray remarked, "but if it wasn't for loyal employees, we wouldn't be where we are today. Some have been with us for more than 35 years."

house. The biggest season is yet to come: Mother's Day. The greenhouse has 25,000 cultured index geranimums and almost any other plant customers desire for the season.

The greenhouse, located on Bowmansville Road between Routes 272 and 625, is open in the spring Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday to 5 p.m., and closed every Sunday. After June, hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 14

Lancaster Society of Farm Women #14 met March 8 at the home of Ellen Newswanger, Strasburg.

Devotions were led by Ethel Landis. Each member gave her middle name for roll call.

This is my life was given by Eleanor Drennon.

Safety tips were presented by Martha Herr.

Lancaster Society 25

Lancaster Society of Farm Women #25 met March 11 at the home of Mary Roland, Lancaster. There were 18 members and one guest present.

After delicious refreshments the meeting was called to order by Miriam Byers, president.

Mrs. Barbara Rowan of Hospice gave a most interesting and information talk on the origin of Hospice in Lancaster. Hospice was originally begun by a nurse Saunders in London, England in 1978. It began as a small hospital where terminally ill patients were treated and could have their families with them.

Through the influence of the late Dr. Donald Wilson, hospice was started in 1980 in Lancaster.

It is a Lancaster County Organization with a staff of 27 full time and part time workers. In 1988 they treated 292 persons.

They act under the knowledge that "Facing our dying improves the quality of our living."

April 8, Society #25 will entertain #26 at the Farm and Home Center.

Proceeds from the sale, March 11, at the Millersville Fire Hall will be given to the Joseph Martin Lund.

Society #25 will hold a food sale at John Herr Store in Millersville April 22.

The next meeting will be April 8 at Farm and Home Center, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster.

Lancaster Society 18

Farm Women Society 18 met March 1, and enjoyed a tour of Self Help, Akron and the Tea Room of the Self Help Store in Ephrata.

Refreshments were served with Rhoda Herr as Hostess.

The business meeting was conducted by Mildred Greidec, president. Members will sew at the General Hospital March 20.

A bus trip was planned to Washington D.C. for May 23.

Members will entertain guests at Conestoga View on April 20.

Dorothy Russo, preserving precious memories, will be the feature of the April 15 meeting.

Lancaster Society 34

Lancaster Farm Women #34 met at the home of Marian Lefever on February 20. Mrs. Lefever gave a candy making demonstration. All members were treated to delicious home made candy. Denise Young and Diane Herr were hostesses for the night. Denise Young won the chance off. Our next meeting will be at Buck Home Furnishing where we will be given home decorating hints.

Lancaster Society 5

Lancaster Society of Farm Women #5 met at Clearview Diner for their February meeting with 23 members present.

After a luncheon the program was conducted by Eileen Bruckhart, president. Jean Zurin led with a reading on Lincoln. Members answered roll call by naming their first boyfriend.

Members voted for Water Street Mission as a project.

An 80-year pin was given to Kathryn Eichelberger.

By-laws were reviewed, and our secret sisters revealed, and new ones picked for this year.

Next meeting March 18, at the home of Matora Hostetter, East Petersburg. John Yocum will be the speaker.

Berks Society 1

The Berks Society of Farm Women held their monthly meeting at the home of Naomi Howard.

Esther Berndt, president, conducted the business meeting with 15 members answering to roll call.

Helen Howard was welcomed into the Group and installed by Ellen Snyder.

Plans were finalized for entertaining Group 6 on April 10 in St. Pauls' Lutheran Church.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Donna Hetrich on April 12, Oley. The topic will be "Youth."

Berks Society 3

The Berks County Society of Farm Women, Group 3, held its February meeting at the home of Mayetta Shane, Boyertown R.D. 4. Ten members and one guest were in attendance.

Group 3 will serve refreshments at the Mathias auction on Saturday, April 1. Members will assist at bingo at Berks Heim on April 6.

Group 3 received on invitation to a night of entertainment from Group 7 to be held on March 29 at Conrad Weiser High School.

Members were reminded of the annual Spring Rally which will be held on June 8 at Seven Springs Resort in Champion, Pa.

Donations were made to the March of Dimes and the American Heart Association.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Dora Pollock, Boyertown R.D. 3. A spring craft will highlight the meeting.

Berks Society 6

The Berks Society of Farm Women Group #6 met in the home of Linda Snyder. Marian Pounder from the American Cancer Society, showed a video on Taking Control and spoke on steps to a healthier life and reduced cancer risk.

New officers were elected: Margie Fisher, president, Linda Snyder, vice president; Naomi Mest, corresponding secretary.

The March 21st meeting will be at 8:00 in the home of Pearl Hoffman.

Berks Society 5

The Berks County Society Of Farm Women. Group 5 held their February 14, meeting at the home of Sandy Rauenzahn, president. Ten members responded to roll call by wearing something red.

Linda Eck, nutrition educator for Dairy Council, was our guest speaker for the evening. Her presentation included a food group record sheet that was filled out by the members present. This allowed a self-evaluation of our food intake for the day. Some members had nutritious, well-balanced diets, while others realized what food group needed to be improved upon.

President Sandy Rauenzahn conducted the business meeting. A ham on roll sale is scheduled for April 15. Members were reminded to make plans early if they want to attend the Spring Rally in Seven Springs on June 8.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 21, at the home of Betsy Sattazahn. Our program for the evening will be a presentation by members, Mrs. Betsy Sattazahn and Mrs. Frieda Keppley, on their travels to Australia.

Berks Society 9

Berks County Society of Farm Women, Group Nine, met on Thursday, March 2, at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Amityville. Nine members were present for a presentation by Martha Sitler about the church pipe organ. In addition to seeing examples of the actual pipes and learning how each type works, we were treated to several musical selections on the organ.

The next meeting will be held at the Yellow House Hotel on Wednesday, April 5. Members will celebrate everybody's birthday with dinner and an exchange of gifts between Secret Pals.

Add a spring pick-up to the brown bagger's fare. Pop a brightly colored Easter egg into the bag (if you're lucky enough to have one left)! Pencil on a quick "I love you" for an extra surprise.

When the fun of coloring, hiding and hunting hard-cooked Easter eggs is over, there's still more in store -- eating and enjoying all those eggs. Just eat'em out of hand with just a sprinkle of pepper.

By themselves or as an "extender" for other protein foods, hard-cooked eggs lend both color and nutrition as they increase the number of servings in your main dish. And hard-cooked egg slices or wedges make attractive, edible garnishes, too.

To take the edge off the mid-morning blahs, cut one of your hard-cooked Easter eggs in half lengthwise. Then, add a dollop of plain yogurt and a sprinkle of your favorite herb. This almost-instant egg salad is lots of good eating for few calories!

Overworked? NEVER.

You can depend on it.

ADADC "Turns It Up" In Area High Schools

WILLIAMSPORT — The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council is "Turning It Up" in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania during March with a milk promotion designed to target approximately 2,500 school lunch programs. The package includes colorful and upbeat milk display materials, as well as nutrition and milk storage information for the benefit of school food service personnel.

Junior and senior high school students are being turned on to the milk family that includes whole milk, lowfat milk and chocolate milk. According to Michele Martens, consumer promotions manager for ADADC, "We chose this audience because at this age, students are making more personal beverage selections."

This is the fourth year for the "Turn It Up" campaign that has evoked widespread interest. The special poster targeted specifically towards chocolate milk is actually the result of a photo contest sponsored in conjunction with the 1988 promotion. This year's poster displays students from Nutley, New Jersey, enjoying delicious and nutritious chocolate milk. These students contributed a winning entry for last year's poster contest, enabling them to be models for this year's program.

The promotion is supplemented with a display contest and the Milk Flavor Saver Video Cassette. The video highlights the importance of proper milk storage and maintenance. Martens noted that research has shown that students would drink more milk if it's kept cold and fresh. With the aid of the cassette and other helpful information, ADADC hopes to increase milk quality and usage.

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council is a dairy promotion association funded by dairy farmers from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

ADADC is targeting high school students with display materials developed for school cafeterias.

York County Lamb

The York County 4-H Lamb Club met on March 1st at George and Susie Dutrey's home. They showed the kids many different methods of docking, castrating, giving shots and ear tagging. The kids were given a chance to do any of these methods to the Dutrey's sheep.

The next meeting will be held on April 4 at Ed Keeney's home and the children will be showed how to select their market lamb(s).

The York County 4-H Lamb Club will have the food stand at the Sheep and Wool Festival to be held on April 15. The Festival will be held at the Jack Myers farm.

Lancaster County Dairy Products Judging

The Penn Manor FFA team of dairy products judges captured first place in the recent Lancaster County contest. The team members were Crystal Shoff, Brian Shoff, Keith Eshleman, and Scott Heffley. The Solanco FFA team was second while the team from Eastern Lancaster County was third.

Thirty individuals from seven Lancaster County FFA chapters participated in the contest. Brian Shoff, Penn Manor, was first in the individual competition. Mike Craig of Solanco was second and Keith Eshleman of Penn Manor was third. Dan Horning of Ephrata placed fourth while Kevin Nolt of Eastern Lancaster County was the fifth place in individual competition. The top 10 individuals were awarded ribbons.

Dan Hamilton from Penn Dairies worked closely with the FFA contest to prepare the milk samples and served as the official judge in several areas.

The contest is designed to test the knowledge of the participant in several areas of dairy products quality. Ten samples of milk are judged for off-flavor and given a numerical score on quality. Sediment pads and milker units also are scored. Ten samples of hard cheese must be identified. Using the California Mastitis Test, participants must score samples of fresh milk. Ten samples of real and imitation dairy products also are identified during the contest as well as a written exam on general knowledge of the dairy industry and dairy products.

Franklin County

The February meeting of the Franklin County 4-H Shepherds was called to order by President Kelby Mowery. Jimmy Bixel led the club pledge.

Mrs. Keener discussed Certificates of Deposits. The club decided to withdraw their money from their checking account and put it in their savings account. The club discussed hosting people from the Maine Exchange and Capital Days, April 3 and 4, in Harrisburg. The Doublin Gap Retreat will be April 15-17. The first- and second-year members learned about different breeds of sheep -- their size, growing rate, feed efficiency. The older members had a quiz on the knowledge they have acquired as 4-H'ers. The next meeting will be March 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the 4-H Center.

Lebanon, PA 17024
(717) 273-8090

Dear Walking Horse Friend,

I am very pleased to announce that due to a new partnership with Roger and Valerie Grimes, we will be able to offer many more services for our Plantation Walking Horse clients.

We are completing construction on a brand new 53 stall barn with inside riding arena and many other features.

We hope you can come celebrate with us at open house April 1, 1989 12:00 - 5:00 P.M. The schedule of events will be as follows:

12:00 Tour of facility - enjoy snacks and music with your friends

12:45 History and Development of the Tennessee Walking Horse- Dr. Bob Womack, author of the Echo of Hoofbeats.

1:30 Parade of yearlings sired by Queens Black Allen.

2:00 Exhibition of 20-25 quality trail and show plantation horses - some spotted and palominos

3:00 Drawing for yearling and stud service to be given away.

Be sure to visit our tack store and take advantage of our special open house discounts. For those coming a distance, the following motels are available: Four Seasons (717) 272-8402; Quality Inn (717) 273-6771.

See you at the party.

Best Regards,

Les Weber

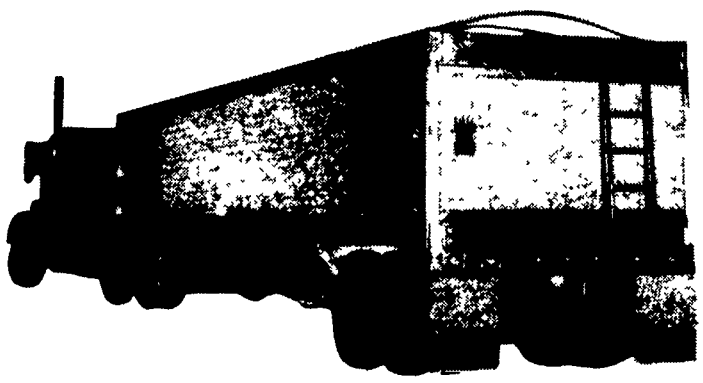
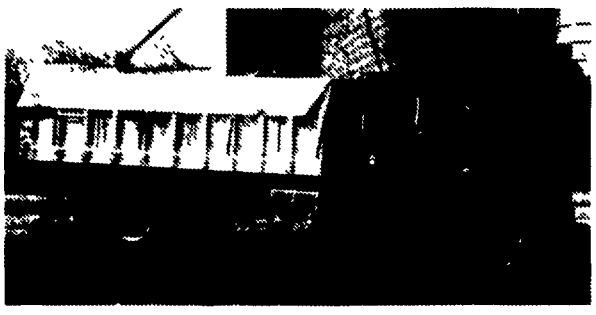
REDESIGNED 1989 TIMPTE GRAIN HOPPER

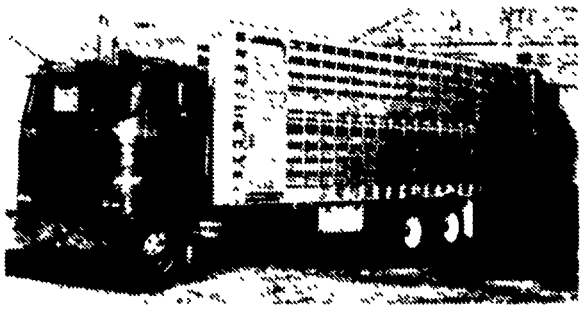


Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

M.H. EBY, INC.
Box 127, Blue Ball, PA 17506 (717) 354-4971

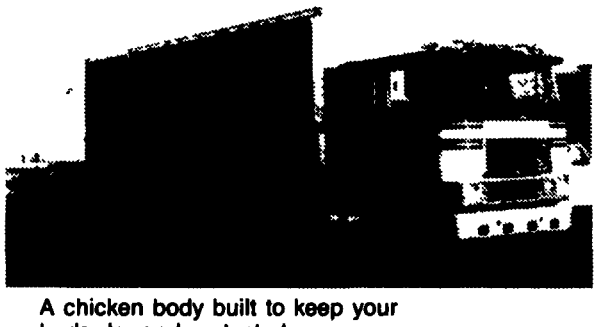


An Eby grain body is surprisingly affordable and built for the long haul.

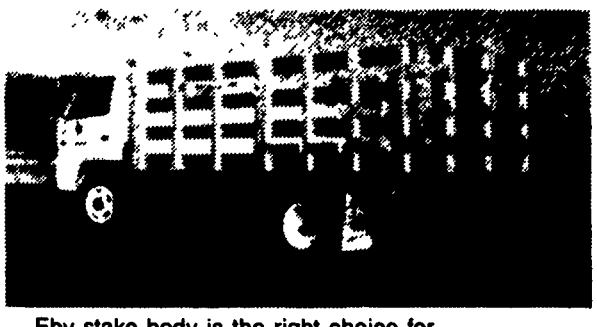


Reliable Eby livestock bodies are now aerodynamically designed.

Eby's bolt-on extends the usefulness of your pickup for minimal investment.



A chicken body built to keep your birds dry and protected.



Eby stake body is the right choice for farm or commercial use.

Consider an Eby bulk body for reliability and ease of use.

Aluminum Bodies for the Agri-Industry

Back in 1938, when Menno Eby Sr. began making wagons and cattle trucks, he was determined to give farmers strong, wooden truck bodies at a competitive price.

Some things change. Others stay the same.

Today, M. H. Eby, Inc. produces a wide variety of sturdy and reliable truck bodies for agri-business. Everything from livestock bodies through stake bodies to grain and bulk bodies. All at competitive prices.

But now every Eby body is all-aluminum. Consider some of the advantages you get over traditional wood and steel construction:

- As much as 50% lighter — allows for increased payloads.
- It will never rust through or rot.
- No need to paint.
- Overall maintenance costs are greatly reduced.
- Just an occasional power washing keeps aluminum bodies looking new for years.
- They have much better resale value.

What's more, you can always tell Eby what you want on your body. Everything we make is custom-built. A long list of options available for every body style allows you to design the body you need for your operation.

Give us a call, or write, to find out more about the lightweight alternative.

Agrichemical Retail Dealers Address Environmental Issues

LAS VEGAS, NV — Members of the National AgriChemical Retailers Association (NARA) met recently for their first annual meeting here. During the meeting, retail dealers voted on five critical environmental and agricultural issues, as outlined in resolutions by NARA board members. The resolutions addressed container disposal, endangered species, groundwater safety, applicator certification and farm-worker protection. Each resolution passed.

NARA is a year-old association composed of nearly 1,600 retail-agricultural dealers from throughout the United States. Dan Frieberg, immediate-past president of NARA, notes that retailers laid a strong foundation for the organization in 1988.

"We were successful last year because we were able to motivate and organize retailers to effectively represent themselves in Washington, D.C., and in their hometowns," he contends. "Our future success rests on how we continue — from the grassroots level — those same efforts."

During the annual meeting, retail dealers reviewed their progress and set the direction and priorities for NARA in 1989.

"We will continue working toward the goals we established this past year," notes Russ Brown, newly elected president. "They haven't changed."

NARA has two broad, general goals. One is to put agrichemical retailers into the regulatory and legislative processes. The second mission is to educate the public, including dealers and farmers, on how to benefit from the use of agrichemicals and still be environmentally and use safe.

During the annual meeting, the governing 35-member NARA board of directors elected new officers for 1988-89. They include: Russ Brown, Grand Forks, N.D.; John Hester, Nichols, Iowa, vice president; Jake Redmon, Bonaire, Ga., treasurer; Herb Woolsey, Vandalia, Ill., vice president, central region; John Taylor, Yazoo City, Miss., vice president southern region; Jerry Johnston, Robstown, Texas, vice president western region; Peter Vail, Niverville, N.Y., vice president, northeast region and Jack Dixon, Beemer, Neb., vice president midwest region.

Other aspects of the convention included keynote addresses by futurist Lowell Catlett, professor of agricultural economics and business at New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, and Susan Wayland, deputy director for the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Search Out Slugs Now In No-Till Fields

NEWARK, DE — No-till corn producers should begin scouting their fields for slugs, according to Dean Belt, University of Delaware Extension agent.

"Slugs thrive in damp, humid conditions," notes Belt. "No-till fields contain the ideal environment. Fields with heavy corn stalks — especially piles of debris left by the harvester, blown against a snow fence or washed in by water — are most likely to harbor an outbreak."

Belt cautions farmers to look for eggs as well as small slugs. The eggs will be in small clusters, are very round, and look like a cloudy drop of water about 1/16 to 1/8 inch in diameter.

If eggs are widespread over a field, you may want to consider tilling as an option, Belt says. If the slugs and eggs are concentrated in the pilles of debris, use a mower or a disc to break up and distribute the piles.

Planting technique can have a major impact on future slug damage. Don't plant in wet soil and be sure to close the slot with the press wheels. Slugs will live in open seed slots often two to three weeks longer than in fields with closed slots.

Belt says corn can tolerate a considerable amount of leaf feeding from slugs, but it's important to scout no-till fields to be forewarned of a potential problem. He adds that wet fields are most likely to be trouble spots.

Belt says the steps to follow are:

* Identify a slug problem.
* Determine if the field needs minimum tillage or just dispersal of trash.
* Adjust the planter to close the slot at planting.
* Check fields often, especially if the weather is cool. Cloudy and wet nights and early mornings are the best time to check fields.

"The only current treatment is nitrogen," the agent says. "Results have been fairly good, with success based on how many slugs are feeding on the plant at the time the spray is applied."

For best results, spray late at night after slugs have moved out from the cover to the plants. Spray from spike to the second true leaf stage with liquid nitrogen, (30 percent) 20 gal/A and Pounce 3.2 EC oz/A.

Weather Expert Optimistic On 1989 Crop Prospects

NASHVILLE, TN — The nation's breadbasket baked in 1988, while a desert in the western United States flowered like a garden as it received two inches of rain daily, and rarely experienced temperatures above 80 degrees.

Dr. Elwynn Taylor of Iowa State University told a receptive audience of the nation's corn growers that ths economically devastating weather phenomenon is not expected to be repeated in 1989.

Farmers wishing to hedge their bets may still want to refrain from signing up in the federal farm program until April 1, to get a clearer picture of what Mother Nature might dish up this spring, Taylor told corn growers at the Corn Classic.

Waiting until April 1 to commit to a particular crop production level will still allow plenty of time to meet the April 15 deadline for program sign-up and allows the luxury of personally assisting field moisture conditions and the general weather outlook just prior to taking to the field to plant.

"Looking at just weather statistics it does not appear we will have a widespread drought this summer," he said, noting that there has never been a Midwestern drought that did not follow the climatic oddity known as El Nino.

The warm Pacific Ocean currents and tropic air masses that seem to herald El Nino are not expected to return until 1991, so based on historical weather data 1991 appears to be the next candidate for a widespread drought, he said.

In short term it looks like crops will get off to a good start this spring and get well established before moving into summer, which is more difficult to predict because it is still too distant, he said. Based on well documented 18 to 19 year weather cycles that generally culminate in a major drought, Taylor said he is optimistic about 1989 crop prospects. There have never been two years of consecutive widespread drought as long as weather records have been kept, he pointed out.

Current weather patterns affecting North America are "sluggish," he said, but a wet pattern bringing moisture to several southern states is migrating toward the Midwest.

"It should arrive in the Midwest (soon) and bring greater than average moisture this spring," he said, which should help correct lingering subsoil moisture problems from last growing season. Although this is good short term news for crops, it will not be enough to replenish groundwater levels. It will take above average moisture for the next two to three years in some Midwestern areas to correct this groundwater deficit.

Although Taylor poked fun at the current level of meteorological knowledge and expertise, he pointed out progress is being made and scientists are getting a better understanding of how things like arctic air masses, the subtropical jetstream, the earth's rotation and even lunar cycles which are all related and seem to affect weather.

Bulletin Offered On Field Crop Pest Control

NEWARK, DE. — The Cooperative Extension systems of the universities of Delaware and Maryland have produced a bulletin, "Pest Control Recommendations For Field Crops."

The bulletin, which includes an introduction on how to use pesticides safely and accurately, is divided into major sections on the control of diseases, nematodes, insects and weeds for field crops. Each of these sections is further divided into crop-specific information.

The bulletin also contains a section on integrated pest management guidelines for stored grain.

Copies of the bulletin cost $4 each and may be purchased at any Delaware county Extension office. To order by mail, an additional $2 will be charged to cover postage. Send checks for $6, payable to the University of Delaware, to one of the following:

New Castle County Extension Office, 032A Townsend Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19717-1303.

Kent County Extension Office, 4601 S. DuPont Highway, Lochmeath Plaza, Dover, DE 19901.

Sussex County Extension Office, University of Delaware, Research and Education Center, R.D. #2, Box 48, Georgetown, DE 19947.

Honey Producers To Present Colony To County Youth

LANCASTER — The Lancaster County Honey Producer's Association wants to share its excitement of honeybees with the youth of Lancaster County. At their meeting on April 11, at 6:30 p.m., the honey producers will present a colony of honeybees to an individual. The individual must not own any bees at present and be willing to care for the bees. He or she does not need to be a member to participate. This would be a great project for any youth. An association member will assist the winner for one year.

The prize will include a three-pound package of bees with a queen bee, a new hive, and the bees will be installed in their new hive by Bob Hughes of Rainbow Apiaries. This will be a most interesting meeting. Everyone is welcome to attend. In addition, members of the Association are available to assist novice beekeepers get started in beekeeping.

For more information call Richard Patterson at 717/768-3606 or Loren Sadler at 215/267-5860.

LET KUBOTA GENERATE SOLUTIONS TO YOUR CONSTRUCTION NEEDS.

From on-site electricity to earth-moving, Kubota has the solution for your job site construction needs.

Kubota's hard-working excavators, wheel loaders, tractors, and 4-pole diesel generators are designed to solve problems.

For on-site power, Kubota's new 4-pole series generators work quietly and efficiently at only 1800 RPM. Built-in safety shut-offs assure long operating economy.

Kubota compact excavators will work in restricted areas, but with full-sized performance.

Meanwhile, Kubota's rugged R400 wheel loader can lift more than a ton, and dump into a dump truck in less than a second.

L-Series tractors are extra smooth on any kind of construction job, with 26 to 50 HP and a choice of mechanical or hydraulic shuttle-shift.

When you need tough, dependable equipment, Kubota generates a solution for your construction needs.

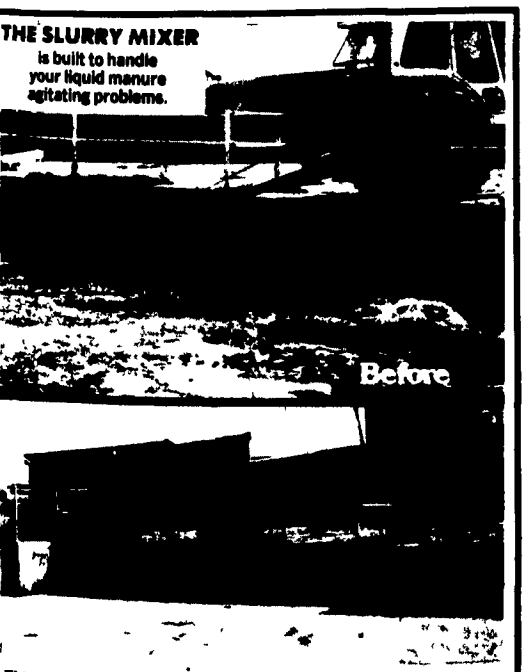
THE SLURRY MIXER is built to handle your liquid manure agitating problems.



This 3 point hitch Slurry Mixer's large 22" propellor produces a strong undercurrent that moves liquids, floating chunks of crust, weeds, bedding and dried manure into the propellor that chops, mixes and blends your manure into an even liquid slurry.

Priced at $2,285

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

Over the past 8 years, we have sold thousands of T.A.'s to satisfied customers across the U.S. Some of our best customers are I.H. Dealers.

We do complete job or center housing while you wait or will sell you the parts.

Our prices on T.A.'s with the Dana Sprag, are now $645.00 with a 2 year warranty.

We also have units and parts available to rebuild old style T.A.'s, including Ramp & carrier sets for $300.00

Clutches, Pressure Plates PTO Drives & Water Pumps

We have clutches available for most all IH tractors; including many heavier than original. We also have clutches for many other brands.

- Compare Our Prices -

All clutches & T.A.'s will ship U.P.S. and are sold on an exchange basis. Core charges Apply.

COMPARE THESE FEATURES AND OPTIONS

Simple hydraulics allows one valve to operate the lift and stabilizer cylinders. Center plumbing means less hose length and easier coupling.

The basic box is heavy duty steel welded seams and reinforced for even more strength.

Standard offset hitch adjusts in 5 inch steps to lengths from 6' 3" to 7' 11". To allow for different row crop spacings you can offset either right or left 5", 7", 10" or 12" inches.

Rub rails offer more protection to vehicles when approaching during dumping cycle and when departing.

Stabilizer cylinders hydraulically lock on to axle to hold wagon rigid during dump cycle.

Galvanized roof features vent insert for straight through air flow.

DO YOU FARM HILLS? WE HAVE ONE UNIT IN STOCK WITH BRAKES READY TO GO!

The model 700 dump wagon is designed for years of trouble free service. The hydraulic system with a cable assist is designed to unload large loads of up to 20,000 lbs. quickly and efficiently even if the load is not distributed evenly.

RICHARDTON

Make your operation safer • Use year round • Variety of crops • All field conditions • Operate in wet and muddy

Only Gehl Offers Total Density Control - In Stock Now At Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc. At Pre-Season Prices For The Early Bird Buyer!

Model 1465 builds bales that are 5 feet in diameter and 45" wide - a simple "Airdraulics" system gives you total density control which works great!

Round bale silage. The concept of baled silage, or balage, is rapidly growing as an alternative to regular baling. It's ideal when weather conditions are unfavorable for quality haymaking. Gehl balers, with their ability to make bales of various sizes in addition to nearly infinite densities, are perfect balers for making balage.

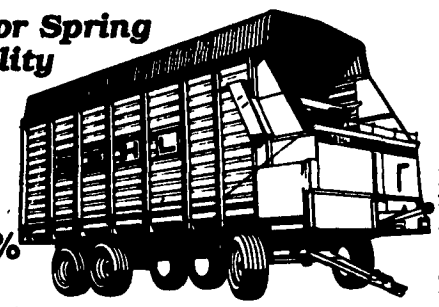
GEHL

UP TO 20% FASTER UNLOADING



GEHL 970- 6x16 w/3 Beaters & Roof

More speed. Greater capacity. And a price you can't beat anywhere. Good reasons to invest in a new Gehl 970 Series self-unloading forage box. Look at all you get: a 10-year warranty on sides, endgate, stakes and platform; new Even-Flow third beater, wide 23½-inch cross conveyor, and two-speed worm gear drive.

IF YOU LIKE QUALITY-DON'T MISS THESE HIGH PERFORMERS!
Proven Performance Features And Economical Price Makes Gehl Your Box Spreader Choice

Full 10-year warranty on floor and sides

Heavy-duty gear boxes
Two heavy-duty gear boxes, one a 90 degree beater drive, the other a two-speed worm box with bronze gear and steel worm; provide efficient power transmissions, smoother operation and long life.

Gehl-Tuff floor
In cold weather, the slick Gehl-Tuff surface reduces the force needed to break a frozen apron loose from the floor. So your whole load glides out with little resistance. And less apron pull means less wear and tear on drives and apron chains.

The competition left out the most important part!

But look inside, and you see they left out the most important part The rotary threshing and separating system

The Case IH Axial-Flow® combine is designed to hold onto more of your crop than a conventional machine like theirs Much more The patented multi-pass threshing and separating system sees to that It moves your harvest from header to grain tank with unmatched efficiency And at minimal loss

The Axial-Flow system is easier on your crops, too thanks to the simple, repetitive action of the Axial-Flow single rotor And that gets you top dollar for every bushel

So why invest in a combine that gives you some of the advantages of Case IH Axial-Flow—without the most important one? This is the time to take a closer look at an Axial-Flow combine. See us today

MISTBLOWER (COMBI HY)
Mistblowing is quality work
A mistblower ensures that the crop will benefit from the best possible growing conditions. Air pressure targets growth and crop protection ingredients by opening dense foliage and at the same time minimizes waste. There is a mistblower suitable for your specific application: fruit trees, vegetables, nursery crops, etc. Just see it!

300 GAL. TL SPRAYER It's tough in your field... but easy on your budget.

...performance

All the features you want

- Unique diaphragm pump
- Snapfit nozzle bodies
- ¾ " plumping
- Self leveling boom
- 300 or 500 gal. single axle, or 500 tandem axle models

The sprayer with a built-in future; add special features when you're ready.

170 GAL. 3 PT. HITCH SPRAYER with Hydraulic Boom Kit

From your tractor seat, you'll be able to fold, unfold, raise boom wings individually or together — almost every boom function you can imagine is possible.
Spraying both vertically and horizontally is possible. Think of the different applications — vineyards, raspberries, small orchards — to mention a few.

If You Know Sprayers, Chances Are You've Always Wanted A HARDI!

Specify Harley

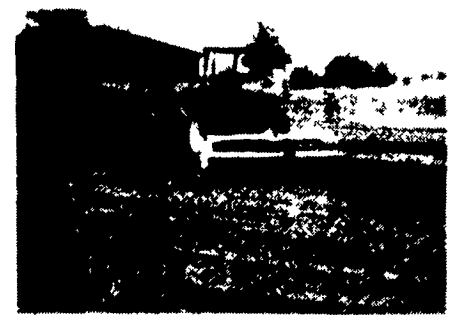
The solution to site development problems.



The Unique Tool.
There is nothing like a Harley!

Glenmac

Perfectly screened seedbeds with a Harley. Renovates and rejuvenates existing grounds with fast thatching, conditioning, and overseeding. Removes ½" rocks and roots for new athletic fields and playgrounds. A Harley rakes and grooves in one operation for overseeding. Levels and pulverizes a perfect seedbed, whether constructing or rebuilding. For professional turfgrass ... put a Harley to work for you.

NEW IDEA CORN PLANTERS BEAN PLANTERS

New Idea Gives You Accurate Seed Placement And A Choice Of Design

THE 9000 SERIES
SINGLE FRAME, II PLUS AND MOUNTED PLANTERS

New Idea has designed the 9000 Series Planters in three models to fit all your planting needs.

9200 Single Frame- for versatility, conservation planting capabilities and ridge-till features.

9300 II Plus- features two 5"x7" toolbar frame members and has conservation and inter-planting capabilities.
9100 Mounted- for unmatched maneuverability.

Watever planter you choose, New Idea has the features for you.

Accurate seed metering
Two plateless seed meters allow precision planting. For corn, a mechanical finger pickup meter.

Plateless Finger Pickup
singulates each seed and lets you plant at optimum field speeds. Cup-type metering units gently regulate the flow of sybeans to eliminate seed damage.

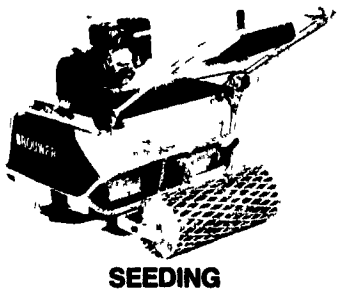
- Powered blades with adjustable depth seed slits at 2½ in. spacing
- Offset wheels to cover seed
- Calibrated seed flow through stainless steel slides
- 5 hp engine and H.D. drive
- Adjustable fold-away operator handle for easy transport and storage

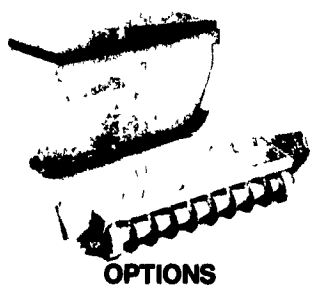


SEEDING

The exact placement of seed, in the right quantity, gives you the perfect seed bed for better germination and finer quality lawns.

OVERSEED

Better results because the seed flow is carefully calibrated, the grooves cut and the seed covered.



OPTIONS

The choice is yours. The seeder can be bought with or without the overseeder unit or the fertilizer box. These can be added afterwards when needed.

and for those larger areas...

The Lawnmaker 67 seeder, is a larger capacity seeder/fertilizer ruggedly built...to last. It has adjustable teeth for loosening up hard soil and a levelling bar for uneven areas. There are stainless steel hopper bottoms and control slides, free floating suspension on two open mesh rollers, easy to reach controls, and it can seed up to 2 acres (0.8 ha.) per hour. Designed to give outstanding performance.

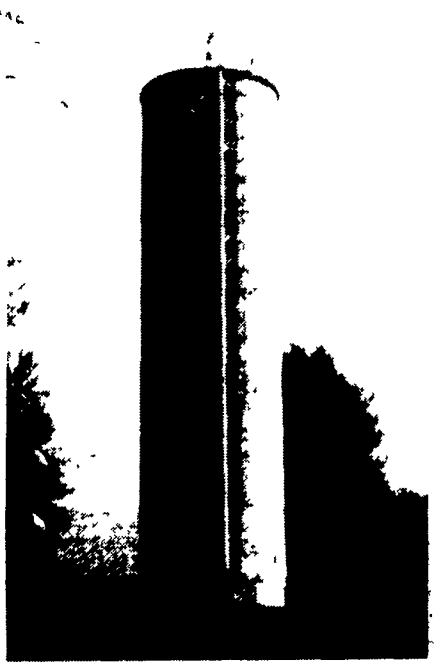
"Consider The Concrete Advantages"



The summer of 1988 will be remembered for the many hot, dry, days. These high temperatures damaged a lot of stored corn and forage in structures that have a thin wall and do not reflect heat. You can avoid this heat damage with a poured concrete SOLLENBERGER SILO.
FOR BOTTOM UNLOADING:
* LAIDIG 43 - Ideal unloader for high moisture ground ear corn or high moisture shelled corn.
* LAIDIG 98 or 198 - The bottom unloader for all forages.
* "LAIDIG GAVE BOTTOM UNLOADING A GOOD NAME."

POLY SILO LINERS

for Upright Silos

If Your Silo Needs New Life...

Try Our Poly Silo Liners

- THE ADVANTAGE OF A POLY LINER -

- Spoilage is reduced around doors.
- Feed is exposed to less oxygen - better fermentation.
- Allows storage of high mositure grains or dry grains in a conventional silo.
- Delays repair or replacement of corroded silos.
- Prevents corrosive acids from contacting silo wall - extends silo life.
- Quick installation.
- Effectively seals silo from air and weather.

Ruff-Tuff Poly Silo Liners Come In Standard Lengths Of 40, 50, 60 and 70 Feet. The Liners Are Manufactured To Fit Most Standard Diameter Silos.

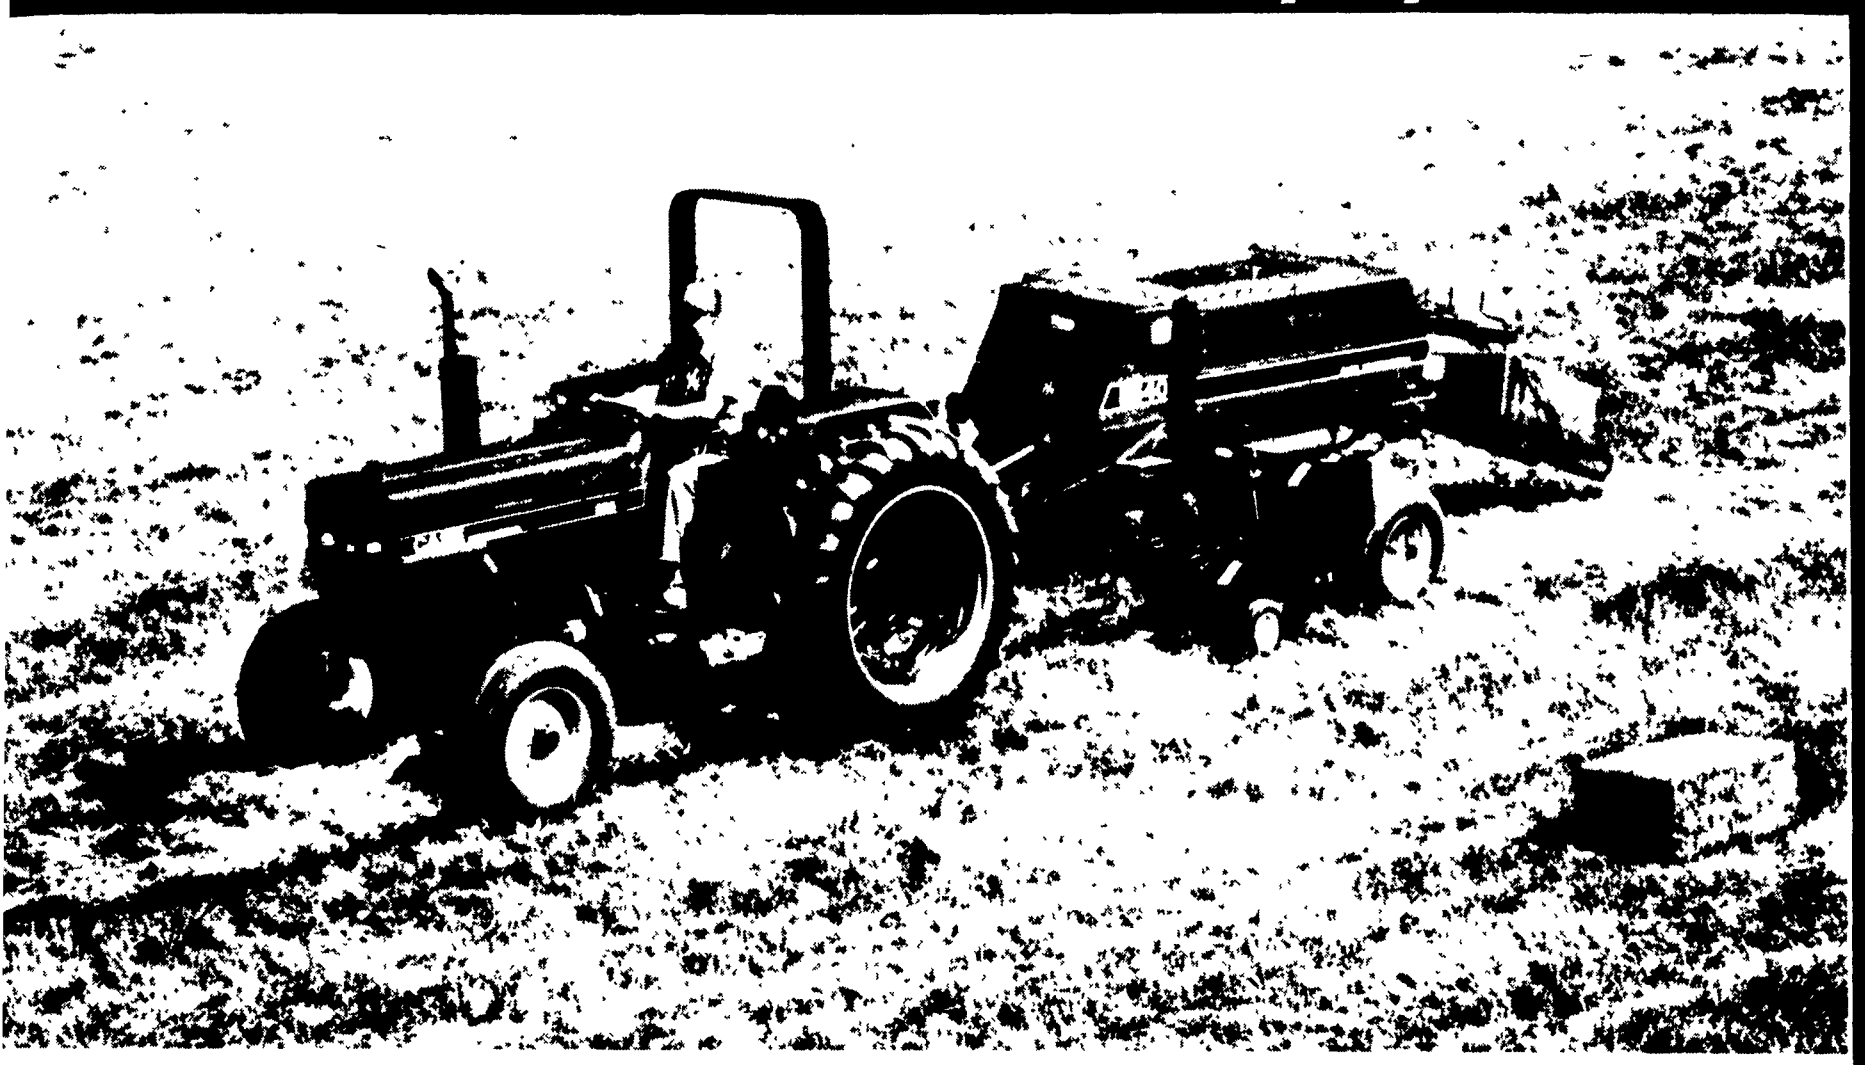
Best Values In New Equipment



With Case IH rectangular balers, a straight line is shortest and best!

Case IH 8500 Series rectangular balers have center line design. Hay moves in a straight line from the time it's picked up until it leaves the baler as a tight, uniform bale.

With center line design there are no corners to turn to get the crop into the bale chamber as with conventional designs. Nutritious leaves go into the bale, not on the ground. And with the baler directly behind the tractor, transport through narrow bridges and gates is simplified.

Case IH 8500 Series rectangular balers also give you:

- Wide, low-profile pickup collects full, heavy windrows with leaf-saving gentleness because the crop is not lifted as high.
- Prepacker chamber compresses hay into uniform flakes.
- Flake size, density and bale size are more uniform.
- High-speed, short-stroke plunger packs bales tighter.
- Optional hydraulic density control (standard on model 8550) regulates chamber pressure for tight, square-shouldered bales that stack easily.

There's a Case IH baler with capacity for nearly every grower. See them at your nearby Case IH dealer.

New Extension Guide Offers Farrowing Advice

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre) — "If a sow weans a small litter, chances are it is your fault, not hers," writes Penn State assistant professor of animal science Dr. Ken Kephart in "Farrowing Management," a new extension circular available free from all county extension offices.

According to Kephart, only 10 percent of a sow's mothering ability can be attributed to genetics -- the other 90 percent of her performance in the farrowing house depends on the environment. A sow needs the best possible conditions during farrowing to deliver the healthiest possible litter.

"Farrowing Management," extension circular 358, features advice on aspects of farrowing from feeding pregnant sows to weaning piglets off milk. It discusses the sow's needs from the beginning to the end of her pregnancy and suggests methods for meeting those needs.

Proper management practices include treating the pregnant sow for lice and mange 45 days before farrowing. A dirty sow contaminated with bacteria will infect her baby pigs, so cleanliness is essential. Five to ten days before delivery, the clean, healthy sow should be moved into the farrowing house.

Keeping the farrowing house between 65 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit will help prevent three potential problems: mastitis, an inflammation of the mammary glands; metritis, an inflammation of the uterus; and agalacita, a loss or partial loss of milk.

The circular also includes information on easing difficult births, diagnosing health problems in both sow and piglets and rearing piglets artificially. Copies of "Farrowing Management" are available free from all county extension offices -- ask for extension circular 358.

Wye Angus Sale Set For April 3

COLLEGE PARK, MD. — Wye Angus beef cattle will go to the auction block for the 11th time at noon April 3 at the Wye Research & Education Center.

The University of Maryland's Agricultural Experiment Station is offering 45 yearling bulls, one proven herd sire, four cows with calves at side and eight yearling heifers at this year's annual auction, said Wye Angus Program Manager Dwight Riggleman.

"The 1988 sale brought $106,610 for 38 yearling bulls, four cows with calves, eight yearling heifers and 2 herd sires," Riggleman said. Buyers came from 9 states, with the most - 17 - coming from Maryland.

The Wye Angus herd was donated to the University of Maryland Foundation in 1978 by Mr. Arthur Houghton. Begun by Houghton with 18 heifers and one bull calf in 1938, the herd has been closed to outside genetic influence since 1959. More than 40 years of meticulous records afford potential buyers a complete review of herd breeding performance.

Named for Houghton's Wye Plantation, the herd is managed by the Agricultural Experiment Station at the Wye Research and Education Center in Queen Anne's County. The Center is located 7 miles southeast of Queenstown on Maryland's Eastern Shore, or 3 1/2 miles south of U.S. Highway 50, on Carmichael-Wye Neck Road.

New Facility Ideas

As any hog producer knows, facilities and equipment ideas change faster than any part of the swine industry. Here's a summary of some recent progress.

Cooling systems, floor types for sows

Lots of studies show that plastic-coated expanded-metal flooring in farrowing houses improves weaning weight, survival rates, and foot injuries as compared to concrete or solid flooring. Experiments also show that lower air temperatures and the use of snout coolers increases feed intake in sows. But until a recent study by researchers at Texas Tech University, no one has looked at the combined effects of these environmental changes.

The Texas Tech experiments looked at the effect of floor type (concrete or plastic-coated expanded metal), temperature (64, 77, and 86 degrees), and drip and snout coolers. Here's what they found:

•Sows on plastic-coated expanded metal ate more feed and weaned heavier pigs than those on concrete. The effect was more dramatic at 64 degrees, and gilts showed a bigger response than sows. The number weaned was the same for both types of flooring.

•Snout coolers increased sow feed intake by two pounds per day, but only at the high temperature of 86 degrees.

•Lactating sows were most efficient at 64 degrees and least efficient at 88 degrees. At current feed costs and pig prices, sows housed in the cooler temperatures provided $20 additional profit per litter than those in the high-temperature group.

•When housed at 84 degrees or higher, drip coolers increased sow feed intake by three to four pounds per day. Snout coolers increased feed intake by one to two pounds per day. Drip coolers did a better job at keeping sows from "panting."

•Drip coolers for sows on plastic-coated expanded metal increased pigs weaned by one pig per litter and weaning weight by about 30 pounds per litter.

•Drip coolers for sows on concrete decreased pigs weaned by 1/2 pig per litter and decreased weaning weight by about six pounds per litter.

Conclusions:

1. Plastic-coated expanded metal in this study did not improve the number weaned compared to concrete slats, but it did improve weaning weights by nearly 17 pounds per litter.

2. Snout coolers appear to improve feed intake but only at high temperatures.

3. Drip coolers are more effective at improving sow comfort and productivity than snout coolers. Drip coolers may depress pig survival and performance when housed on concrete slats.

4. Farrowing house temperature plays an important role in sow performance. Through the winter months, sows eat more and wean heavier litters when temperature is 64 degrees. Producers should keep temperatures under 70 degrees if it does not affect pig survival.

Nursery flooring

For young pigs, the merits of one floor over another seem to vary, depending on where and when the research is conducted. For example, in studies at Texas Tech 10 years ago, about the only conclusion they reached on flooring was aluminum slats seemed to reduce gains and feed efficiency.

They weren't able to demonstrate any differences in pig performance between concrete, wood, plastic-coated woven wire, galvanized woven wire plastic, or expanded metal floors.

At about the same time, Virginia Tech tested woven wire, expanded metal, oil-tempered wire cloth and plastic-coated expanded metal. They found no differences among any of the materials.

But since that time, new floor-

1989 Spring-Summer Show Schedule For Junior Angus Members

ST. JOSEPH, MO — Young Angus enthusiasts will have an opportunity to participate in the following major junior Angus shows scheduled for the 1989 spring and summer show season throughout the United States.

The junior shows are as follows:

April 29-30 - Western Regional Junior Angus Show, Nevada State Fairgrounds, Reno - Judge: Jim Reeves, Keller, Texas.

May 27 - Atlantic National Angus Futurity Junior Show, Maryland State Fairgrounds, Timonium - Judge: Mark Richardson, Milton, Indiana.

June 16-17 - South Central Regional Preview Junior Angus Show, Louisiana State Fairgrounds, Shreveport - Judge: Dick DeMuth, Senatoba, Mississippi.

June 21-23 - Northwest Regional Preview Junior Angus Show, Washington County Fairgrounds, Hillsboro, Oregon - Judge: To be Announced.

June 23-25 - Eastern Regional Junior Angus Show, Pennsylvania State University, State College - Judge: Bill Rishel, North Platte, Nebraska.

July 16-20 - 21st National Junior Angus Show and Showmanship Contest, Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center, Louisville - Breeding Cattle Judge: Jim Gillooly, Washington, Indiana; Steer Judge: Scott Schaake, Lexington, Kentucky; Showmanship Judges: Brian Fitzgerald, Kennett Square, Pennsylvania; Craig Wallace, Knob Noster, Missouri; and Mallory Mort, Ghent, New York.

Shorthorn Steer Tops Houston Livestock Show

HOUSTON, TX — For the second time in as many months, a Shorthorn steer has topped the field at a major livestock show. Davon Taylor of Ropesville, Tx., exhibited the grand champion over 1,196 steer entries at the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo. The 1,276-pound entry named "Viper" had earlier been named champion Shorthorn and was described as an extremely well-balanced and complete steer, being lean up front, well muscled in the hind quarters and clean over the top.

In January, Quentin Harper, son of Tony and Lee Harper of Gruver, Tx., exhibited the overall grand champion, also a Shorthorn, at the National Western Livestock Show in Denver, Co. That feat marked the second time in four years that a Shorthorn had topped that field. These wins by purebred entries are significant in the beef industry where steer competition has been dominated this decade almost entirely by crossbred animals.

The Houston Champion sold for $97,000 in the Championship Auction to Houston furniture dealer, Jim McIngvale and his wife, Linda. Miss Taylor, 16, daughter of Don and Linda Taylor, expects to use the earnings for Texas Tech University at Lubbock.

Horse Nutrition Workshop Set

WILKES-BARRE (Luzerne) — Donna Grey, Luzerne County Extension agent, has arranged for a horse nutrition workshop to be held for all interested horse owners on Wednesday, March 29. The workshop will be held at the Holiday Inn, 800 Kidder St., Wilkes-Barre beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. James Gallagher, animal science specialist with Penn State University, will be the guest speaker discussing the nutritional needs and requirements of various types and classes of horses, and how these requirements can be met through a practical feeding program. The workshop will provide plenty of time for questions so if you are having a problem, this would be the perfect time to get some answers.

Cost is $4 per person which includes a beverage and dessert break. Registration is required by March 27. For more information and/or a registration form contact Donna Grey, Courthouse Annex, 5 Water St., Wilkes-Barre, PA 18711 or phone 825-1701 or 459-0736 Ext. 701.

Mercer County Sheep, Wool Growers To Meet

MERCER — The annual meeting of the Mercer County Sheep & wool Growers will be held on Tuesday, April 4, at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p.m.

Roast lamb will be served at the dinner, which is $4 for adults and $2 for children 12 years and under. Following the meal the business portion of the meeting will be conducted including the election of three directors. Dr. Sid Bosworth, Penn State Extension agronomist will speak on pasture and forage systems for sheep production.

Reservations for the dinner must be made by March 27 by calling 814/662-3141.

National Charolais Group Elects Officers, Directors

HOUSTON, TX — Officers and directors for the American-International Charolais Association (AICA) 1989-90 Board of Directors were seated at the annual membership meeting last month in Houston, Texas. Charlie Smith of Houston, Texas, assumed the AICA presidency. He succeeded Dr. Fred Scroggin of Corinth, Ky.

Rounding out the national Charolais executive committee are A.W. "Buck" Compton of Nanafalia, Ala., vice president; Ronald Johnson of Hartford, S.D., secretary; and Billy Thomas of Raymondville, Texas, treasurer.

Other AICA directors are Charles Stipe of Charlo, Mont.; O.C. Ferrell of San Juan Bautista, Calif.; Stew Retherford of Scottsdale, Ariz.; Delton Hubert of Monument, Kan.; Walter Woody of Azle, Texas; O.D. Butler of College Station, Texas; Harlin Hecht of Paynesville, Minn.; Charles Crabtree of Searcy, Ark.; Duane Smith of Allendale, Ill.; Keith Jeffries of New Castle, Ky.; Lee Duckett of Annandale, Va.; John Giles of Morganton, N.C.; and Scott Carey of Madison, Ga.

ing has been developed. Gerry Shurson at Ohio State University has demonstrated some merits of a few of these. He looked at Tri-Bar metal flooring, vinyl coated welded wire, three-gauge woven wire, and a new plastic slat called Poly-Grate. Pigs grew faster and more efficiently on vinyl-coated wire and Tri-Bar than the woven wire and Poly-Grate. Woven wire continues to be popular among swine producers since it's only a third of the cost of vinyl-coated wire. But under the conditions of this experiment the vinyl-coated material would pay for itself in less than two years.

Gestation housing

The March issue of "Pork 89" reports on sow performance in crates, tethers, crates or open pens. Farrowing rates were best in crates, worst in tethers, with open pens and pasture falling somewhere in between. The Pig Improvement Company conducted their own studies looking at the same systems under commercial conditions. And they reached the same conclusions. While the farrowing rates reported are perhaps not surprising, I'd be curious if there aren't some management differences tangled up in these studies. Sows housed in crates are normally in operations that are managed closely. And because the overhead cost associated with sows on pasture is low, breeding management there is often less intense. So we might not be able to blame all of the difference in farrowing rates on the housing system.

Costs of pneumonia, rhinitis

Three slaughter checks on 21 farrow-to-finish producers in Iowa recently showed that the cost of atrophic rhinitis averages $.95 per pig. Losses from pneumonia average $1.09 per hog. So under "typical" conditions, respiratory problems are costing us more than $2 per hog.

Air quality in swine buildings

Extension agents in Ohio recently monitored air quality in 75 swine facilities over a four-day period. The survey was run during cold weather, when air quality is normally at its worst.

Ammonia levels were over 15 parts per million (ppm) in a third of the facilities and more than 20 ppm in 20 percent of the buildings. In other studies, people in hog confinement buildings have reported respiratory symptoms with ammonia levels as little as 7 ppm. Levels for pigs should not exceed 20 to 25 ppm.

Carbon monoxide levels exceeded 25 ppm in 21 percent of the facilities. While the normal level for this gas is 10 ppm, problems don't occur until levels approach 50 ppm. Carbon monoxide, which can lead to stillborn pigs, is only a factor when gas heaters or brooders are used.

Carbon dioxide levels exceeded 5,000 ppm in nearly half of the facilities. Fresh air contains about 1,500 pm. In swine facilities carbon dioxide levels should be at 3,500 ppm or lower. At 5,000 ppm, feed intake may drop, and some researchers report that tail biting may occur.

The bottom line to this survey is that air quality is a problem in swine facilities during the winter months. The solution, of course, is to move more air. How much more we can move without burning too much propane is still an unanswered problem.

All-in all-out

More studies, more producers, more veterinarians and more feed companies are finding that the all-in all-out concept is paying off. We've known this for years in the farrowing house and nursery. But now we're beginning to accept it for the grower-finisher as well.

Summary

•Cooling systems and flooring for sows: Drippers work better than snout coolers. Keep the farrowing house under 70 degrees during winter if possible.

•Pneumonia and Air Quality: We still have lot's of problems, and unanswered questions—both of which are costing us a lot of money.

•Housing for gestation: Nothing wrong with crates, but with tethers, the days are probably numbered.

Legislation Introduced To Control Dangerous Dogs

HARRISBURG — The recent attack by a dog on a Lancaster woman could have been prevented under legislation recently introduced by Representative Kenneth E. Brandt.

House Bill 820, sponsored by Brandt with the support of 23 members of the House, calls for registration, proper confinement, and other restrictions for dangerous dogs. The bill would identify dangerous dogs not according to breed, but by behavior.

A dog would be defined as dangerous if it did any of the following: inflict severe injury such as broken bones or disfigurement on a person without provocation on any property; kill or inflict serious injury on a domestic animal away from its owner's property; attack a person without provocation away from its owner's property; or used in the commission of a crime.

Farm dogs that stay on farms properly posted with dog signs would be exempt from the bill.

"Similar to legislation introduced by former Representative June Honaman last year, my legislation was drafted prior to the March 10 attack on Kathleen Antol in Lancaster, but that event illustrates the drastic need for this legislation," said Brandt.

Brandt, who is the Republican chairman of the House Agiculture Committee to which HB 820 has been referred, said the attack on Antol could have been prevented under his bill because the dog would have been identified as dangerous, due to police reports of it having attacked another dog, and confined to a proper enclosure or properly muzzled.

Brandt said owners of dangerous dogs who fail to register their animal, obtain a special liability insurance policy for $50,000, or properly confine their dogs would be guilty of a third-degree misdemeanor, which is punishable by fines of up to $2.500 and a year in prison.

In the event a dangerous dog attacks a person or another animal, the owner could face fines of up to $5,000 and a jail term of two years. In such cases, the dog would be confiscated and destroyed. If such an attack were to result in the death of a person, the owner could face up to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Under HB 820, parents would be responsible for dogs owned by their minor children.

The legislation would prevent discrimination against any individual breed of dog, instead making determinations of an individual dog's status according to its behavior.

Brandt's bill is co-sponsored by the Democrat chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Egleston Bull Tops In Pennsylvania Bull Test

STATE COLLEGE (Centre) — Mike Egleston, owner of Eglestons Polled Herefords in Elkland, captured the top Polled Hereford award at the Pennsylvania Bull Test with EPH General Bil. The 112-day feed test was held at Penn State University and was completed February 21.

Egleston's top-indexing bull is a January 1988 Klondike Banner 469L son. He posted a 4.31-pound daily gain, which was the third-highest over all breeds. He also had a 1,328-pound yearling weight and a 3.62 pound weight-per-day-of-age (WDA). Thi bull, which is out of a Vindicator dam, is a three-fourths brother to the bull that won the same test for Egleston four years ago.

Falklands Farm of Schellsburg, Pa., filled the second-place Polled Hereford slot with a JR P183 Wallstreet T56 son, FLF Wallbanger 8041. He had a 4.27-pound daily gain, a 1,3111-pound yearling weight, and a 3.47 pound WDA.

Pork Industry Leaders Set Sights On Future

CHICAGO — Getting a head start for 1990 and beyond was the focus of the Pork Industry Group's Winter Meeting held here last month.

"We are here to look into the future and determine what type of programs the Pork Industry Group needs to develop to help create a more profitable atmosphere for producers," said Don Benson, a pork producer from Hurley, S.D., and chairman of the Pork Industry Group. Four areas of work were scrutinized during the meeting; nutrition research, product development research, consumer information and education.

Recognizing that the issue of fat in the human diet will be a major nutritional concern in the years to come, the Nutrition Research Subcommittee established this as a top priority for funding. A $50,000 grant was recently approved to fund research in the area of fat.

The Product Development Subcommittee pinpointed food safety and improving pork quality as two areas of priority. Research proposals now are being solicited from the scientific community.

The projects deemed most worthy of funding will be presented to the Naitonal Pork Board for their consideration. Currently, the Pork Industry Group has $213,435 invested in product development research projects for 1989.

Reaching physicians with correct nutritional information about pork emerged as the first priority from the Information Committee. This committee also chose to continue programs targeting dietitians, including the Meat Board's dietitians seminars, "A Change of Plate," and the fresh pork dietitians advertising campaign.

A new undertaking for the Education Subcommittee is a pork cookery video, to be released by early 1990, if not sooner. This is the first pork cookery video produced for home economic classes. The Consumer Information Subcommittee, recognizing the increasing concern about food safety, will investigate the need for an industry-wide plan of action for food safety concerns.

Sheep Shearing Schools Planned

MERCER — Sheep shearing schools have been scheduled for anyone who is interested in learngin how to shear sheep or improve their shearing techniques. Two schools have been scheduled: one for Monday and Tuesday, April 3 to 4, at the Carl Gadsby Farm near Grove City, and one for Wednesday and Thursday, April 5 to 6, at the Whiting Farm near Pulaski. Both schools will start at 9:00 a.m.

The courses will feature the Australian method of shearing and participants are expected to attend and shear on both days of the school. All equipment will be furnished. Students need only bring lunch, wear work clothing, and bring a pair of canvas gloves.

The schools will cost $10, which will defray some of the operating expenses. Enrollment is on a first-come, first serve basis. To make reservations call the Mercer County Extension office at 814/662-3141.

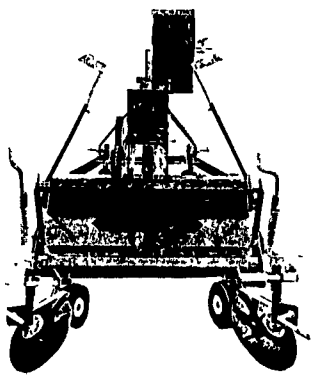
BIG YIELDER MODEL 2500 RAISED BED PLASTIC MULCH LAYER

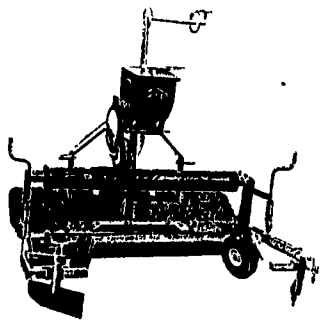


Not all mulch layers look and work the same, it's how the mulch is layed that really counts.

Featuring

- Independent, spring loaded cover arms with 6 way disk hillers. No wrench needed for adjustment. Convenient cranks for more or less coverage.
- Independent presswheels that "float" with angle adjustment, no wrench needed.
- Fast reloading! Full open back of machine (no bars to step over). Machine will carry two 48" x 4000' rolls of plastic mulch.
- Plastic mulch goes under "floating" roller (in back of machine) thus giving a tightly stretched mulch and pressed bed.
- Beds are 4" to 6" high (depending on adjustment). Machine has adjustable row markers.
- Insecticide applicator (optional) by "GANDY", is driven off roll of film plastic. Thus, application rates are uniform regardless of speed mulch layer is driven.
- Drip irrigation attachment (optional) is adjustable side to side and up and down, will handle large or small drip line spools.

ECONOMICAL MODEL 560 FLAT BED PLASTIC MULCH LAYER

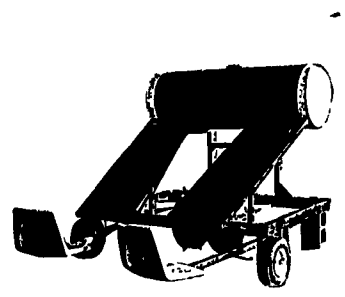


When it comes to mulch laying, take a close up look at the Model 560. Mulch laying is prior to planting your baby plants, and is more than just rolling out your plastic mulch. Uniform beds and tightly layed plastic mulch is a must for a higher bottom line.

Featuring

- Very uniform beds, the Model 560 eliminates pot holes in seed bed. Heavy ½" steel pan will press bed. Has furrow openers on bottom.
- Independent spring loaded cover arms with convenient cranks for more or less coverage. For maximum control of coverage, this machine has scrapers instead of disk covers.
- Fast reloading! Full open back of machine (no bars to step over).
- Plastic mulch goes under "floating" roller for maximum tightness. Independent press wheels also "float" with angle adjustment, no wrench needed.
- With minor adjustment, machine will lay 4' or 5' plastic. (Adaptor optional.) Carries two 4000' rolls of plastic mulch.
- Insecticide applicator (optional) by "GANDY" is driven off roll of film plastic. Thus, application rates are uniform regardless of speed mulch layer is driven.

WATER WHEEL PLANT SETTER



Featuring

Planter will plant through plastic mulch with constant depth control for the plants. Plants 1 or 2 rows on one bed. Simple operation, will water as you plant, has water flow control. Also, water off/on controlled by planters or tractor operator. Machine has four tray carrying racks, two are "self feeding" right to the planter seats.

Comes with category 2, 3-point hook up. Economically priced.

Full line of drip irrigation, plastic mulches, and supplies in stock.
We ship UPS same day orders are received.

New Northrup King Presents Awards

The New Northrup King presented a check and plaque to Pennsylvanians Gerald and Scott Shoop who placed second on the state level in the National Corn Yield Contest. Using S7751, Gerald was second in the Class A Minimum-Till category with a yield of 188 bushels per acre. Scott used S7705 to harvest 161 bushels per acre for second place in the Class A No-Till division. From left are Steve Shipman of Northrup, Scott Shoop, Gerald Shoop, and Dave West, salesman with Ag-Center Inc.

The new John Deere "5" series round balers feature a new net wrap option for the 435 and 535 models. The net material holds the bale tight to maintain hay quality for longer periods of time. As with twine, the net wrap is automatic to size, and the operator can switch between twine and net within seconds.

Deere Presents Four Round Balers

MOLINE, IL — John Deere has introduced four new round balers with new features to increase productivity, improve reliability, and add to the ease of operation.

The four balers are the 335, up to 750-pound bales; the 375, up to 1,000-pound bales; the 435, up to 1,500-pound bales; and the 535, up to 2,000-pound bales.

A new surface wrap option for the 435 and 535 balers improves the quality of the hay and the productivity of the machine. The mesh material clings to itself, holding the bale tight while maintaining the quality of the hay for longer periods of time. The operator can switch from twine to net or back to twine in a matter of seconds.

Productivity is increased by reducing wrap time to 1½ to 2 turns of the bale and reducing ejection time from approximately 15 seconds to approximately five seconds.

Wrap time is decreased by using two twine arms moving from a single pivot point. Twine arm spacing is adjustable and the return speed is variable to match twine spacing requirements. The double twine arms are standard on the 435 and 535 and optional on the 335 and 375 models.

A new additional twine box, standard on the 435 and 535, doubles twine storage capacity to six balls.

Bale-tensioning system

The 435 and 535 models feature a new adjustable hydraulic bale-tensioning system to apply greater force to the tension arms for increased bale density and weight. The adjustable-density valve relief pressure has been increased to 400 psi on the 535 and to 3500 psi on the 435.

By increasing the density in each bale, tight, well-formed bales stand up in storage, reduce ground contact and shrinkage, and retain higher food value by reducing exposure to adverse weather conditions.

A new bale push-bar is optional on the 435 and 535, minimizing the need to back up when ejecting the bale. The bar operates mechanically with the rear gate and uses shock absorbers to cushion the loads.

The push-bar arms remain extended until the gate is closed to prevent the bale from rolling back into the gate. The arms can be locked out if not needed.

Optional bale ramps for bale ejection on the 335 and 375 allow the bale to roll away from the baler when the rear gate is opened.

Additional features

An audible signal on the new Bale-Trak™ monitor sounds and fades notifying the operator of the twine or surface wrap starting at a preset bale size. The alarm sounds a second time when wrap is complete. The monitor lights may be dimmed for night operation.

A new right-hand gauge wheel improves pickup flotation when operating on terraces or rough fields.

Reliability has been improved in several ways: higher quality steel improves roll strength on the 535 by 40 percent side sheeds have increased strength through the use of a new support member, larger diameter tension cylinder mounting pins are welded to heavier support locations to increase strength, and new triple-lip seals improve bearing life of eight dead-shaft rolls on all balers.

Goodyear Holds National Awards Program

SALT LAKE CITY, UT. — Accomplishments of the nation's soil and water conservation districts will be recognized for the 43rd consecutive year by the Goodyear Conservation Awards Program.

The announcement was made by L.B. "Terry" Elms, director of the program, at a reunion of past grand award winners attending the 43rd annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

The program, sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company in cooperation with NACD, provides recognition for outstanding achievements in resource management by conservation districts, their officials and cooperating landowners and land-ussers.

Grand awards are expenses-paid, vacation-study trips for representatives of winning districts selected by independent judging committees in the 50 states, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, District of Columbia, Guam and the Marianas.

Maryland Farmer Wins Massey-Ferguson Tractor

George Fleming, left, a farmer from Hamstead, Md., recieved a big Christmas present last year: a 1010 16-PTO Massey-Ferguson tractor and 1014 front-end loader. The tractor was the prize in a national drawing sponsored by Massey-Ferguson. A tractor was awarded in the United States and in Canada. Fleming received the keys to his prize last month from Massey-Ferguson dealer Karl Reichlin, owner of Reichlins Inc. in Westminister, Md., and Gary L. Strong, regional parts sales manager for Massey-Ferguson.

Eby Opens Ohio Office

BLUE BALL (Lancaster) — M. H. Eby, Inc. announced the opening of a sales office in West Jefferson, Ohio.

Founded in 1938, Eby manufactures aluminum livestock trailers and agricultural truck bodies. They also distribute Timpte grain hoppers and refrigerated trailers from American Trailer.

Located 12 miles west of Columbus, just north of Interstate 70 on State Rt. 29, the sales office is housed in a temporary structure. Permanent quarters, to include both sales and service facilities, is scheduled for completion on the site by August 1989.

For more information, contact Doug Deaver, Ohio representative, at (614) 879-6901.

Yoder Named District Salesman

REEDSVILLE (Mifflin) — Landmark Genetics has named Darvin Yoder the district salesman for central and northeastern Pennsylvania. His responsibilities include selling and delivering semen, nitrogen, and supplies to customers on a regular basis. Yoder will supervise and assist distributors and conduct artificial insemination schools.

Since 1975 Yoder has owned and operated Yoder A.I. Service. He was a distributor for Landmark Genetics and American Breeders Service.

Born and raised on a dairy farm, Darvin was an FFA'er, received the DeKalb Agriculture Award, the Carnation Farms Superior Achievement Award, and the Keystone Farmer Degree. Darvin and His wife, Joan, and son, Christopher, live near Reedsville.

Providing an inexpensive alternative to tungsten-carbide shoes, the Channel Horseshoe features a steel frame with replaceable rubber pads that reduce shock to the horse's legs and abrasion to road surfaces.

Pennsylvania Corn Champion Nearly Topples 200 Bushel Mark

MT. JOY (Lancaster) — The state's champion 5-Acre corn grower nearly passed the 200 bushel mark -- almost 90 bushels more per acre than the state's average.

Furman Farms of Union County produced 199.4 bushels an acre using Pioneer® brand hybrid 3295. There were 145 entries in this year's contest. The average yield was 125 bushels per acre.

The contest is supported by the Pennsylvania Master Corn Grower Association, the Pennsylvania Seedsmen Association and commercial seed companies within the state.

In the ear corn class Sandy Ridge Farm of Clarion County earned champion honors with a yield of 190.6 bushels an acre, using Pioneer 3475. D. Richard Snyder of Lycoming County produced 184.4 bushels an acre with Pioneer 3343 to capture champion rights among shelled grain producers that harvested less than three acres.

There are four classes and two categories in each class of the contest so that growers are recognized for top yields each year and also for consistently producing an average top yield.

Winners in the three year categories are:

Shelled grain class (regular harvest size) -- first, Larry Walters, Lawrence County, 181.4 bushel average; second place, Wagner Farms, Northampton County, 168.5 bushel average; and third, Curtis Newhard, Lehigh County, 160 bushel average.

Shelled grain class (3 acre plus) -- first, French Farm, Bradford County, 173.5 bushels average; second, Larry Breech, Columbia County, 159.8 bushel average; third, Michel Wilcox, Mercer County, 157.3 bushel average.

Ear corn class (regular harvest) -- first, Roger Nordemeyer, Monroe County, 191.8 bushel average; second, David Schantz, Berks County, 178.4 bushel average; third, Burd Schantz, Berks County, 175.9 bushel average.

The primary purpose of the contest is to encourage producers to find and improve their corn management skills, says John Weidman, area sales manager for Pioneer.

"The fact that the champion reached nearly 200 bushels an acre this year is quite an accomplishment. Everyone has to be pleased with the results that farmers throughout the state have produced this year," he said.

Other top winners in the 1988 contest:

Third place shelled grain class -- Haz-Wald Farms, Luzerne COunty, 178.8 bushels with Pioneer 3475; third place ear corn class, Traver's Dairy, Wyoming County, 173.7 bushels with Pioneer 3475; third place three acre + harvest size, Earl G. Martin, Lancaster County, 157.7 bushels, Pioneer 3358.

A complete listing of the winners and more information about the 1989 contest is available from county extension agents.

Channel Horseshoe Protects Horse, Roads

KUNKLETOWN (Monroe) — The Channel Horseshoe, made by 3/Mi. Manufacturing, provides an inexpensive alternative to tungsten-carbide, plastic, rubber, and urethane horseshoes. The shoe offers the longevity between hoof trimmings that steel shoes do, absorbs shocks that damage the horse's hooves and legs, and doesn't abrade road surfaces.

Available in two models, the shoe comprises a steel frame that is resettable and holds a replaceable rubber pad. The pad is held in place by four steel screw and four locking nuts.

The pad is made of a base polymer that is impact-, abrasion-, and tear-resistant. It withstands temperature extremes and resists deterioration from urine or manure.

The Channel Horseshoe can reduce fatigue and stress on saddle and draft horses stabled on concrete or other hard surfaces. It also reduces injuries to people who are stepped on or kicked.

For more information, contact 3/Mi. Mfg., Box 199, Kunkletown, PA 18333.

Brillion

AG MODEL SURE-STAND GRASS SEEDER

When you seed with a Brillion "Sure-Stand", you not only get thick, more uniform stands, but you also realize seed savings of up to 50%. That's why Brillion seeders are recognized the world over as the best seeding method of planting grasses and legumes.

NEW FEATURES

- IMPROVED DEFLECTORS & SEED BOXES
- EASIER, SMOOTHER CLUTCH OPERATION
- OPTIONAL HYDRAULIC TRANSPORT KITS
- RETRACTABLE WHEEL TRACK LEVERS AND BOLT-ON DRAWBAR JACK

The good stand that you get is the result of many exclusive features on the Brillion seeder. The front rollers firm the seedbed. Precision seeding devices meter out the seed and the rear rollers gently firm the soil around the tiny seeds. As a result, the seeds are tucked to bed in the top half inch of the soil where they will germinate quickly and grow.

Farmland Preservation Discussed At Lancaster Mennonite High School

LANCASTER — Seventy Lancaster Mennonite High School students recently heard Alan Musselman and Don Ranck discuss farmland preservation during a Future Agriculturalists of America (FAA) club meeting.

Musselman, executive director of Lancaster Farmland Trust, was previously director of the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board. He holds numerous degrees, including a master's in urban and regional planning from the University of Northern Colorado. Ranck, a Paradise farmer, graduated from Penn State with a degree in agricultural education. He has served in Brazil in an agricultural development program under Mennonite Central Committee.

The debate was a follow-up to the club having heard each speaker's individual position on farmland preservation earlier.

Ag science and technology teacher Lehman Metzler said the purpose of the forum was "to have students become aware of the issues that surround the whole farmland preservation movement and the implications for anyone living in Lancaster County, whether rural or urban."

Both Ranck and Musselman agree that farmland is a resource to be preserved. Musselman's position calls for control of development rights, while Ranck favors tax incentives that encourage farmers to keep land in farming.

In his opening remarks Ranck questioned the value of the $100 million bond issue which, though designated to preserve farmland by the state buying development rights, can only purchase one percent of the farmland in the state. He also questioned the accuracy of claims made by the Farmland Preservation Board that it had preserved 80,000 acres of farmland and that one-third of Lancaster County was in threat of development. According to Ranck, much of the 80,000 acres was not farmland, and the "threatened areas" simply indicated there were several houses nearby.

Musselman later pointed out that 7,000 acres a year are being taken out of agriculture. Ranck questioned this decrease, saying Lancaster County actually has more farmland acreage today than 10 or 20 years ago.

Concerning rapid growth in Lancaster County, Musselman pointed out that residents on the average are using more than one acre per family, whereas towns earlier were much more compact. Reasons to save the farmland, he said, include: (1) Lancaster County has ideal farmland, while only a small portion of the world is so fortunate; (2) Food production here is among the best in the country; (3) The benefits of preserved farmland - open spaces and fresh food - increase our quality of life; (4) Land development means no more productivity from the land and a possible drain on resources such as transportation, sewer systems and support systems; (5) Our cultural heritage is unique; and (6) Aesthetics are important to everyone.

Musselman also informed the students about tools currently being used to preserve farmland, including tax incentives, right-to-farm laws, transferrable development rights, family commitment, the sale or donation of development rights on a temporary or permanent basis, and effective agricultural zoning, which is not easily circumvented by variances.

Ranck, concerned about farmers losing their rights, asked, "Is it democratic when a group of people can control the rights to land that they don't own?"

Musselman replied that zoning ordinances are a way of life in all townships, but they simply have become more resource protective.

Questions raised by the FAA students during the brief discussion following the input of the two guests include: (1) If an acute industrial need develops for farmland under deed restriction, what are the alternatives? and (2) Why should the farmer be required to pay an inflated value for the development rights if he chooses to buy the rights back after 25 years, while he is never compensated for any change in the value of development rights should the farm remain under deed restriction?

Questions such as this last one indicate that LMH students, too, are concerned about the farmers' rights, in many cases their own parents' rights. The students, however, are also very concerned about the disappearing farmland in Lancaster County. In a separate interview one student, in response to the increased selling of farmland to developers, said, "It's a good way to get money, but I think it's selfish."

Bolus Provides Fly Control

WAYNE, NJ — Vigilante insecticide, a controlled-release larvicidal compound from American Cyanamid, is now available in a new single-bolus per cow formulation. This unique dose vehicle makes effective, long-lasting fly control easier than ever.

In the past, Vigilante has been available only in a two-bolus formulation. The new single bolus makes Vigilante an ideal partner in a total fly-control program. Used in this way, Vigilante aids in the control of flies in beef and dairy cattle for up to 150 days.

Vigilante contains the newest active ingredient in larvicidal fly control—diflubenzuron. Because it is chemically different than pyrethroids, organophosphates or other larvicides on the market, it controls even the most resistant strains of flies. Vigilante is well-suited for integrated pest management programs where two or more insecticides, such as ear tags, sprays, pour-ons, and back rubbers are employed during different stages of the life cycle.

Vigilante is the only larvicide in bolus form that provides the convenience of long-lasting, broad-spectrum control with one treatment. One dose of Vigilante insecticide controls horn and face flies and aids in the control of house and stable flies. Once cattle are dosed with the bolus, the active ingredient is slowly released into the animal's digestive tract and eventually into the manure. Here, Vigilante attacks fly larvae. The result is a dramatic reduction in fly population.

Vigilante is designed for use with any standard balling gun. Cattle between 300 and 550 pounds require one-half bolus, and cattle more than 550 pounds can be treated with one bolus. Do not treat cattle under 300 pounds, and never administer more than one bolus per animal.

Obtain the new Vigilante single-bolus formulation from local animal health suppliers. For additional information, write American Cyanamid Co., Animal Nutrition and Health Dept., One Cyanamid Plaza, Wayne, NJ 07470.

Vigilante insecticide now is available in a single-bolus formulation, which makes is more effective than the two-bolus fomulation.

Producers, Agribusiness Predict Slight Rise In 1989 Production

PHOENIX, AZ — An informal survey of U.S. feed grain producers and agribusiness representatives projects a slight rise in feed grains and soybean acreage and production in 1989. Respondents to the survey were attending the recent U.S. Feed Grains Council Board of Directors meeting.

Survey participants were asked to predict the percentage increase or decrease in U.S. production and estimate the total U.S. acreage for corn, sorghum, barley, oats, and soybeans.

The survey projects U.S. corn acreage at 74.8 million acres in 1989, with an 8.8 percent increase in total U.S. corn production over 1988. Estimates of total corn acreage ranged from 69 to 81 million acres. U.S. corn production estimates ranged from a 10 percent decrease to a 20 percent increase over 1988.

U.S. sorghum acreage is projected to be 11.3 million acres with an increase in total U.S. sorghum production of 4.8 percent. Production estimates ranged from a decrease of 40 percent to an increase of 20 percent.

Barley production for 1989 is estimated to be up 4.4 percent from last year on 10 million acres. Survey participants projected U.S. oat production to increase 10 percent. Planted oat acreage was estimated at 15 million acres. U.S. production of soybeans was projected in increase 6.5 percent on 62 millin acres.

The U.S. Feed Grains Coucil conducts an informal commodity production survey at each Board of Directors and membership meeting.

The Council is a private, non-profit organization that develops and expands export markets for U.S.-produced feed grains and co-products through a network of 13 international offices. The Council has staff in Latin America, Europe, the Middle East, Africa, and Asia. Support for the Council comes from barley, corn, and sorghum producers in Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, North Carolina, Virginia, Texas, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Idaho, and Louisiana. The Counil also receives support from leading agribusiness firms across the United States.

Grazing Fees On Federal Lands Increases

Cattle grazing fees on federal lands are going up by about 20 percent, a move supported by livestock producers.

According to the U.S. Forest Service, the grazing fee in 1989 will be $1.86 per animal unit month (AUM), compared with $1.54 per AUM last year. On national grasslands, the fee will rise to $2.29 per AUM.

The increase is based on a formula provided by the Public Lands Council. The formula is based on beef prices, private lease rates, and production costs.

Some 27,000 livestock producers pay to graze livestock on public lands in the west. Overall, 20 percent of calves going to the nation's feedlots come from public lands states.

Bedford County Extension Holds Annual Banquet

BY LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

Knowledge of water, its cleanliness and source was the main topic at the annual meeting of the Bedford County Extension held on Thursday evening, February 23, at the Everett Church of the Brethren.

Dave Gordon, water quality agent from Jefferson County, was the main speaker for the evening. Gordon indicated that private water supplies are those that supply 15 households or less.

"Who looks after your water?", Gordon asked. He suggested that all those present should have their water checked on a regular basis, particularly if they were getting water from a private source.

Gordon noted that 67 percent of the people in Bedford County get their water from a private water source. He presented some alarming statistics indicating that 42 percent of those who have their water tested find a high bacteria county.

On one recent Penn State test, more than 75 percent of the springs tested were contaminated.

Gordon indicated that by reducing our use of water, we also reduce the chance of contamination. "We have to do something with our waste water," he said.

Gordon stated that everyone with a private water supply should be concerned about the giardycyst, a virus found in water that causes flu like symptoms that return on a regular basis.

Also of interesting note to the Bedford County farmers present at the annual meeting is the fact that a cow drinks 35 gallons of water a day.

Officers elected for the Bedford County Extension for the coming year included: Kenneth Corle, president; Dottie Bromley, vice president; Joan Mann, secretary; and Bonnie Foor, treasurer.

Harold Ott, central region director made a few brief remarks.

Truck Operators Need New Decal By April 15

HARRISBURG — Acting Revenue Secretary Karl M. Ross today reminded truck operators with 1988 decals that April 15 is the deadline for displaying the 1989 $5 door decal required by the Pennsylvania Motor Carriers Road Tax law.

The new decal must be purchased and displayed by operators of all licensed motor carrier vehicles and combinations weighing more than 17,000 pounds, including trucks operating solely in Pennsylvania, Ross said.

Truck operators with no 1988 decal should purchase and display the 1989 decal immediately. Trucks with a 1988 decal have until April 15 to display the new decal.

Ross said that an increased department road check enforcement effort will begin April 3.

"Our intent is to make sure that all eligible truck operators are aware of their tax responsibilities and the procedures to comply with the law," he said.

Truckers who have not yet purchased their 1989 decals should contact the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue, Bureau of Motor Fuel Taxes, Dept. 280646, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania 17128 717/787-5355 for decal applications.

Trucks with farm registration plates and most emergency vehicles, school buses, and municipal-government-owned vehicles are exempt from the law.

Temporary permits for up to five days also may be purchased from various truck stops nationwide, Ross said.

For Yield... W-L alfalfa stacks up.

FOURTH YEAR

W-L	Competitors
W-L Alfalfa varities are strong producers throughout the life of your stand. You can't afford to settle for less.	If your alfalfa doesn't make it to the fourth year, you've reduced the overall profitability of your crop.

In test after test by public and private researchers, W-L alfalfa yields stack up for profits. For more than 25 years, W-L alfalfa varities have been bred for long stand persistence, quick recovery after cutting, multiple pest resistance and extra leafy, fine-stemmed forage. With proper crop management, you'll have strong fourth-year yields that stack up for a profitable crop.

THE SIMPLE ANSWER TO THE COMPLEX OF CORN PESTS

USE COUNTER®. BECAUSE YOU CAN'T AFFORD A PERFORMANCE GAP IN INSECT CONTROL.

Every season, a complex of insect pests is waiting to attack your corn crop. So you need the best protection you can get with COUNTER® systemic insecticide-nematicide.

NO PERFORMANCE GAP

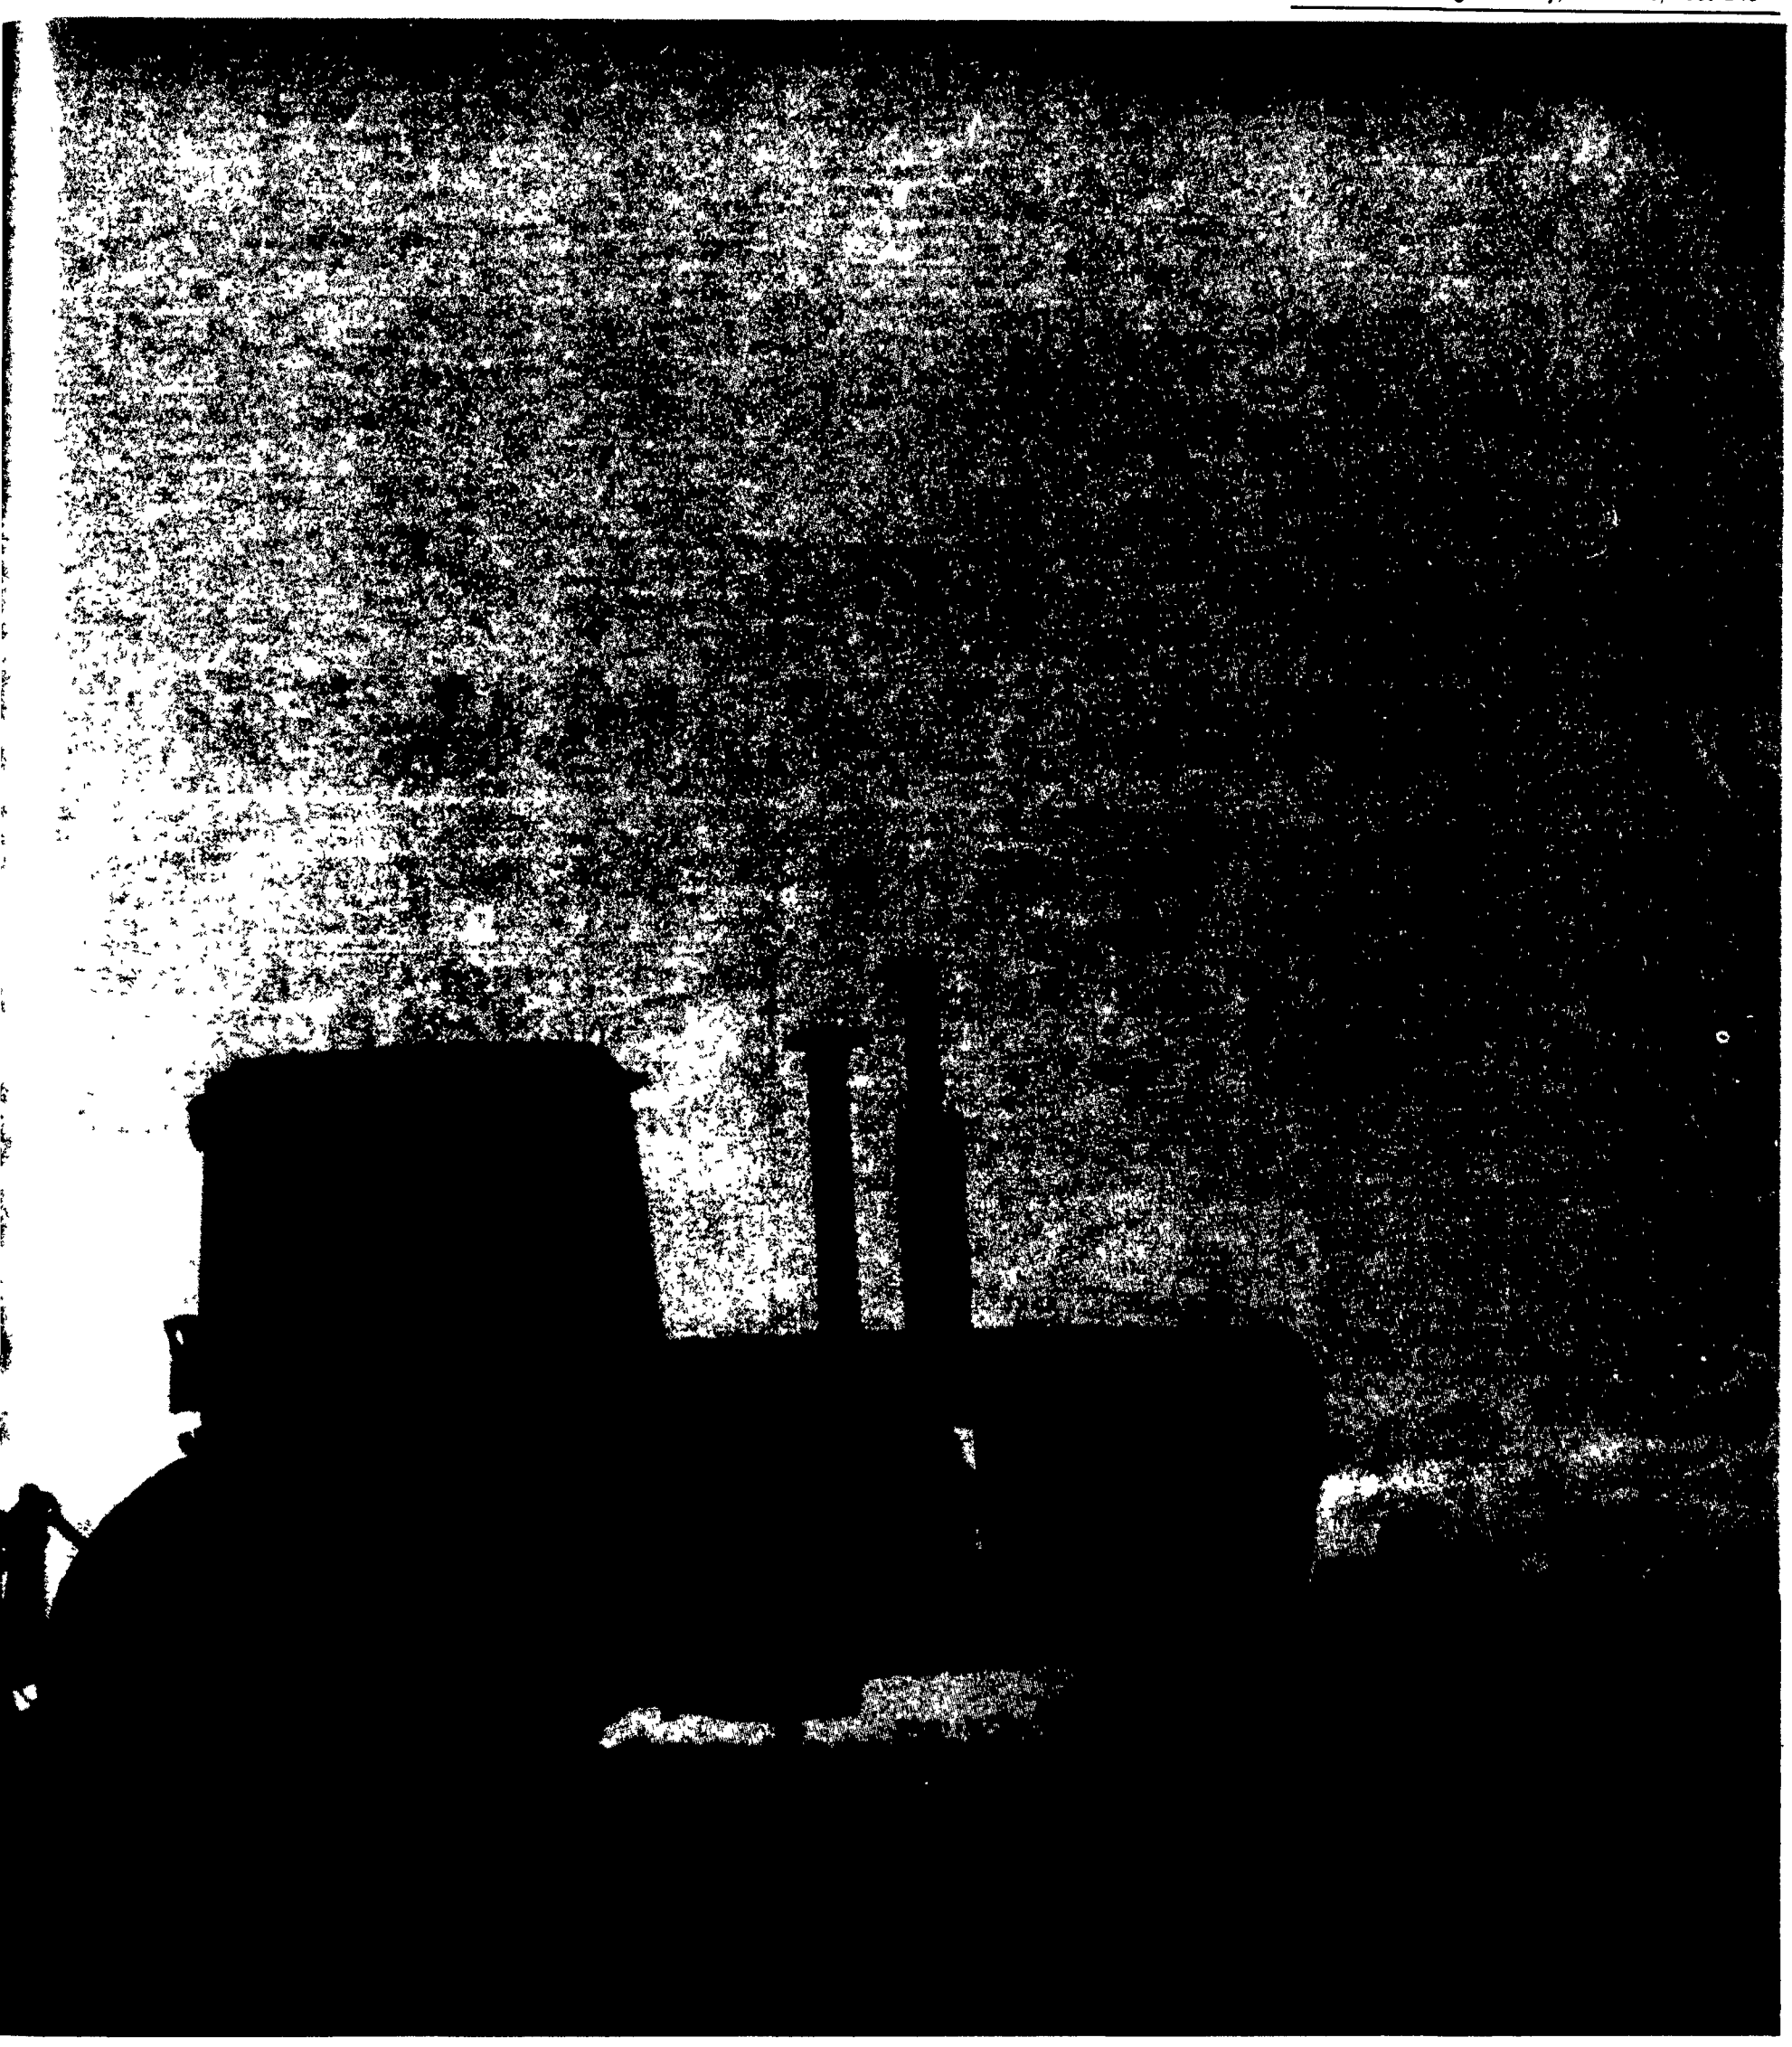
COUNTER consistently controls more major corn pests than any other product. And you can't afford to risk a performance gap in your insect control. (See chart.)

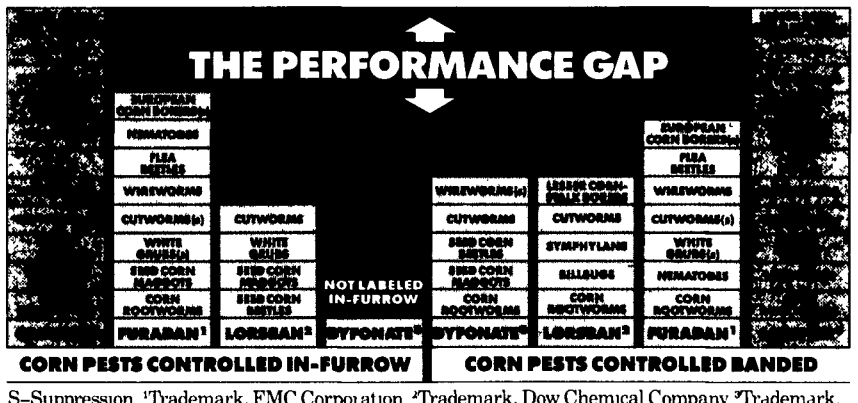
COUNTER controls a broad spectrum of pests, including corn rootworms, wireworms, white grubs, nematodes and other insects that can attack your crop and reduce yields. And COUNTER gives you guaranteed cutworm protection. See your local Cyanamid AgriCenter™ dealer for details on this product guarantee.

#1 Corn Root Rating #5

CONSISTENT PERFORMANCE

Banded or in-furrow, year after year COUNTER





S–Suppression ¹Trademark, FMC Corporation ²Trademark, Dow Chemical Company ³Trademark, ICI Americas Inc. Based on available published labels as of 9/1/87 Based on 8 oz per 1,000 feet of row (15 G) and 6 oz per 1,000 feet of row (20 G) insecticide consistently outperforms all other corn soil insecticides by a wide margin.

So when you use COUNTER, there's no need to periodically take chances with less reliable products.

There's one simple answer to the complex of corn pests that can attack your crop. Use COUNTER.® Because you can't afford to risk a performance gap.

1989 BARN PAINTING
Latest Developments

1. PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb. pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
   a Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost
   b By yourself with your own or rented equipment
   c Or other more conventional methods
2. APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage.
3. SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed.

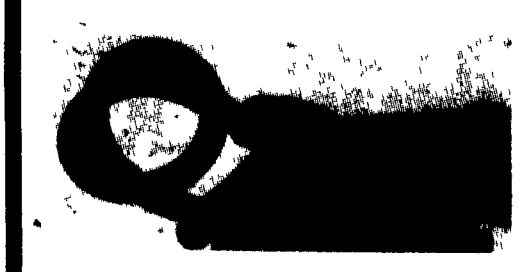
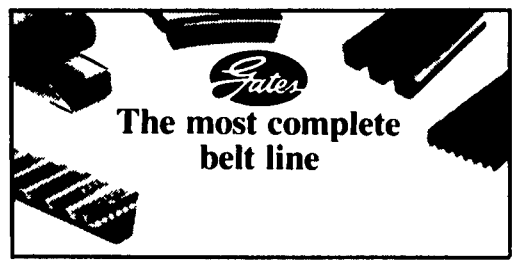
FLEXIBILITY YOU NEED TO SEE TO BELIEVE

If you've ever had trouble with stiff, clumsy hydraulic hose, this definitely is the hose for you. Because MEGAFLEX is so pliable it handles with ease which makes installation much more convenient.

With photographs, we can show you the revolutionary bend radius of MEGAFLEX, but the flexibility of the hose is something you need to actually feel. We strongly urge you to compare MEGAFLEX with the hydraulic hose you are now using. The difference between the two will astound you.





It's easy to crimp permanent hydraulic assemblies in minutes using Gates Power Crimp Machines!

NEW

PURINA CALF STARTENA WITH DECCOX!

This medication option should be used if you have problems with calf scours or slow growth due to Coccidiosis.

Calf Startena is a highly palatable calf starter which stimulates rumen development, and increases average daily gains, while improving feed conversions.

We now have two medication options to offer you; either Calf Startena Coarse with Deccox, or Calf Startena Coarse with Terramycin.

PROMOTION

NOW through April 15th, we will be offering free product with your Purina Calf Startena purchases. See your local Purina Dealer for details, and get your calves off to a great start.
